NORTH MONTGOMERY HIGH SCHOOL CHARGER FLASHBACK VOLUME V 1975-1976

A GLIMPSE OF YESTERDAY

Nearly eight years ago when the idea of consolidation was first conceived in the communities of North Montgomery, there were doubts in the minds of many. Would there still be that same feeling of school pride that existed in our smaller schools? Would the people still be thought of as individuals or would they merely become indiscriminate faces in the crowd? Would the students be able to successfuly unite and form a strong student body?

Perhaps doubts similar to these were in the minds of people during the time that the United States was being formed. Would the States be able to unite to form one strong and successful government? Would the people be willing to transfer their allegiance to the newly organized government?

As the United States celebrates its two hundredth birthday, North Montgomery High School observes the fifth year of its existence—each proving to be A GREAT IDEA!

Madison Township, one of the most prosperous areas in the county today, was handicapped in the frontier period by the fact that Lye Creek was poorly drained swampland and during the Spring rains about one-half the area was classifed as "drowned land". Marsh lands promoted ague and malaria and some of the early inhabitants in bitter humor named their part of the county "Quinine Township". The Smith, Jones, and the Vance families settled the region during the period of 1812 to 1832.

Sugar Creek Township was originally part prairrie and part woodland, and the first permanent settlers came in 1828. One on them, John Clouser, built a gristmill on the banks of Sugar Creek.

Education went through a similar evolution as that in other neighboring townships with the first school being organized in 1831. This school was held in a private home until the first school building was erected in 1832. Here George M. Kendall presided at the impressive salary of nine dollars per month!

In the pioneer period the area produced wheat and corn in large quantities. The production of so much corn encouraged the establishment of a distillery. But, alas, the growth of the temperance movement of the day soon squelched the notion.

This is a sketch of one of Montgomery County's oldest landmarks, the Cherry Grove elevator. Residents of the area recall its completion in 1910. It now stands in the shadows of the newer facility just down the road and serves as a constant reminder of days gone by.

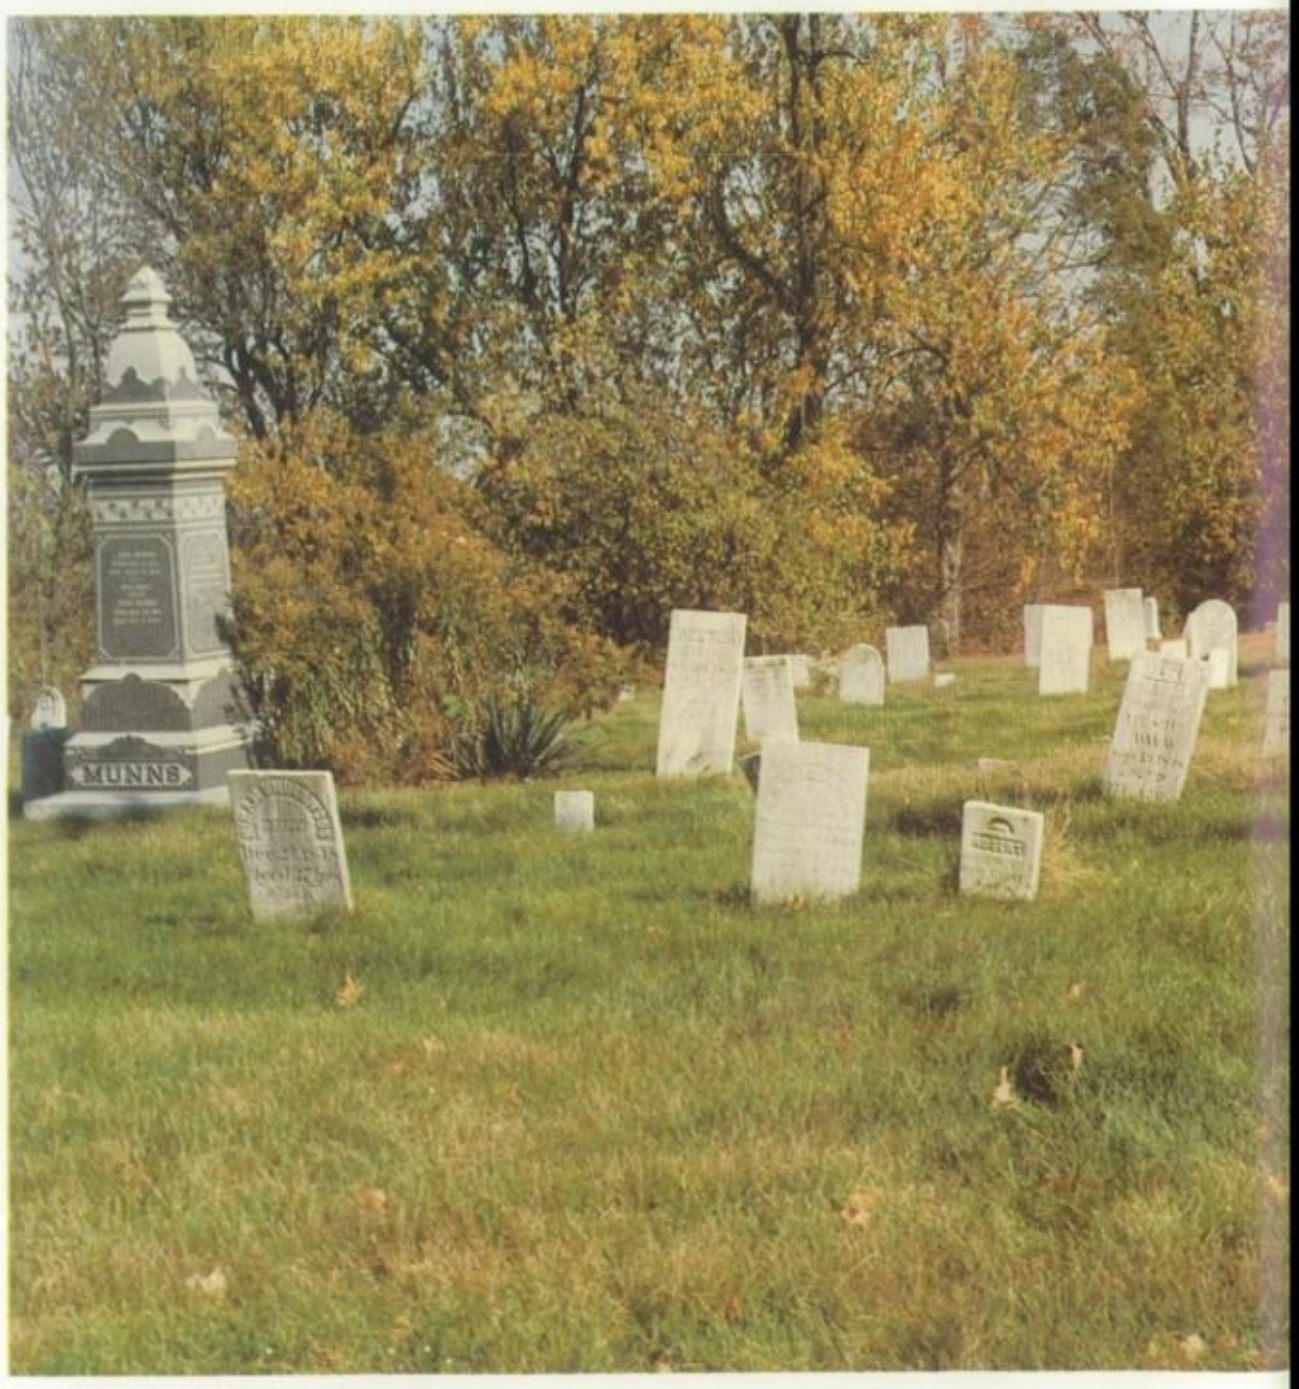
ITS PLACES. . .

Many of the early settlers of Wayne Township migrated from Ohio, Virginia, and Kentucky. Of these, the Heath family brought the first settlement to what is now Waynetown, in the community then called Middletown.

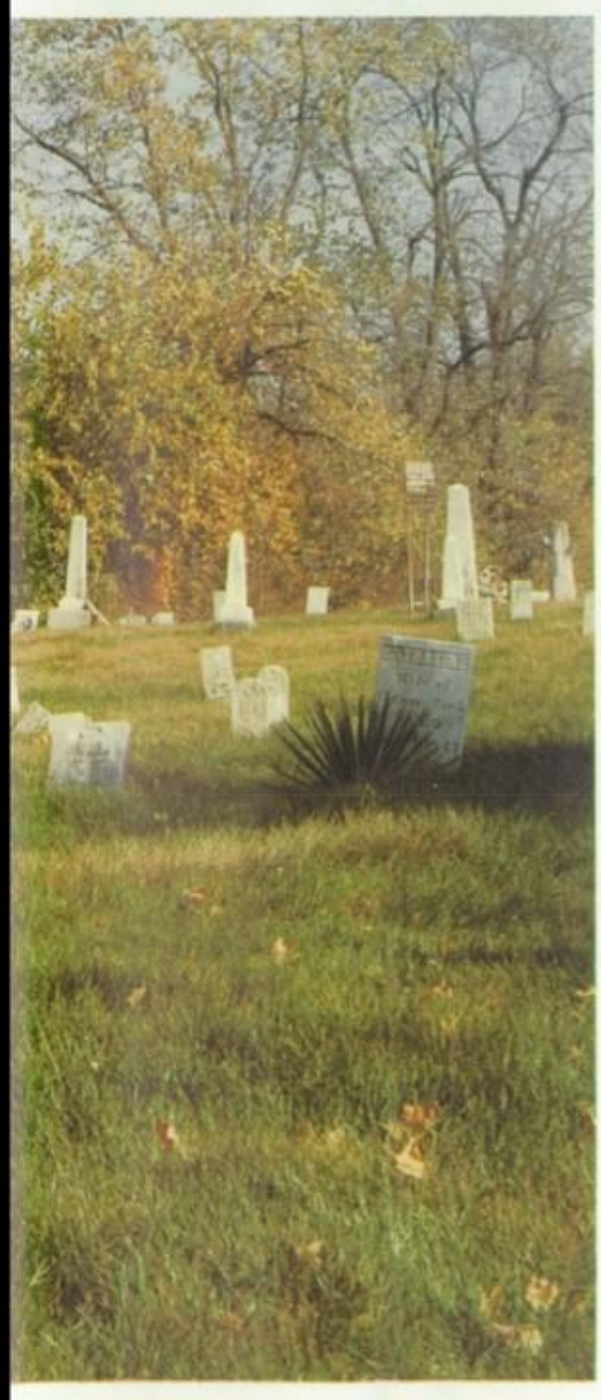
In 1829, Middletown established a subscription school and was served by the typical log school for the first decade. In the same year, Methodist circuit riders appeared. Both Methodist and Baptist followers had erected churches and established congregations by 1840. By this time the town had a tannery, pump manufactory, harness-and-wagon shop, three blacksmith shops, two general stores and a hotel. Family names which appeared on church and school records in those early days included the Remleys and the Utterbacks.

Middletown's name was changed to Waynetown in the year 1846. This was due to the fact that another town in Indiana had the same name and the mail deliveries were being confused.

A fire destroyed much of Waynetown in October of 1893, while most of the town's citizens were in Chicago for the World's Fair. An amusing incident surrounding the fire concerned the wooden pump at the well in front of Brant's grocery store. Being aflame, the pump had to be put out before more water could be pumped from that well to fight the rest of the fire at hand.



On the town's east edge lies the cemetery known to Waynetown residents as the "old war cemetery". Buried in it are many Civil War veterans and early pioneers. The tombstone of William Bratton, a Waynetown pioneer who served with the Lewis and Clark Expedition, is among the many reminding us of the bravery and vision which now lies to rest here.



The covered bridge at Darlington recalls an age of elegance and drama, being completed only a few years after the Civil War in 1868. A tribute to the landmark is found in the lines of a poem by Mabel Kilmer Goodin:

Too few of these old landmarks now are seen;
They long have passed where heavy motors ply,
Yet beauty lives when framed in boughs of green
Their weathered lines are etched against the sky.
Steel bridges will outlast each one of these
But ever are they alien to the trees.

John Harland and family occupied one of the first cabins in Franklin Township in the vicinity of the town of Darlington. His son, William, used to have Indians of the wild woods for his playmates. He used to narrate many interesting things concerning the Indians and their customs and could speak many parts of their language.

Business flourished in the Township in the 1830's. There were mills built on the banks of Sugar Creek and Honey Creek during the period. Built close to Darlington were a carding mill, and a flouring mill, constructed in 1847. In 1830, even before the organization of Franklin Township proper, a hotel had been constructed in the village of Darlington. It was removed for dwelling purposes but another was built in 1837, a year after the town of Darlington was platted. The first store was also constructed about this time.

Darlington was a very business oriented community. It had to its credit three banks, a bakery, three blacksmith shops, four barber shops, two dry good stores, two drug stores, a grain dealer, a saw mill, two newspapers and two physicians.

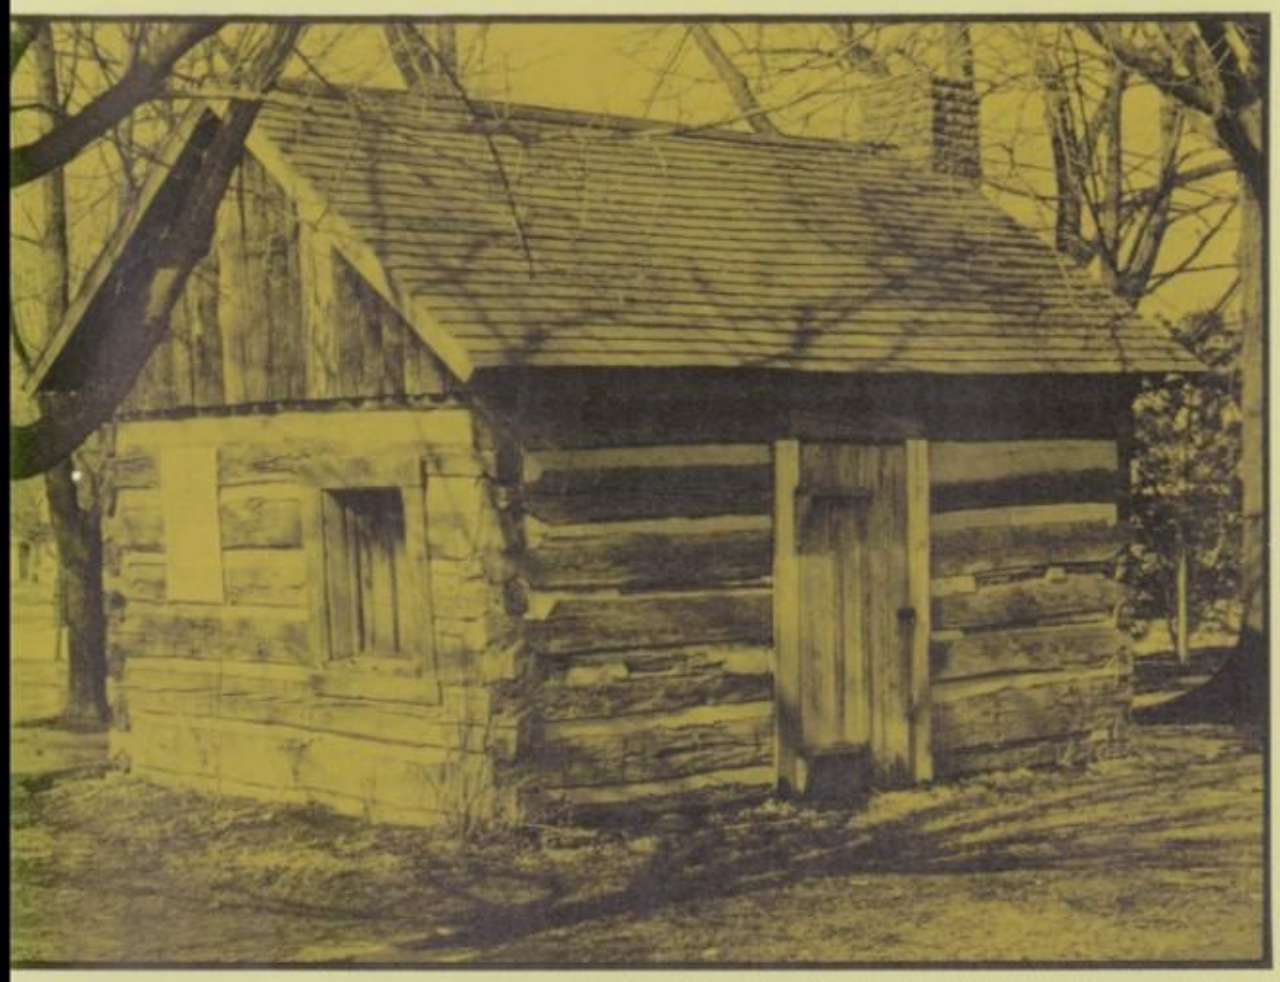
After incorporation, the town installed a system of water works and owned its own lighting plant (which was originally the acetylene type). A volunteer fire company of ten men was formed.

Franklin Township has the honor to have been the life-long home of Governor James A. Mount. Upon retirement to his homestead in the township, he said, "I am tired of public life and want to go home and shake hands with my neighbors."

AND ITS PEOPLE

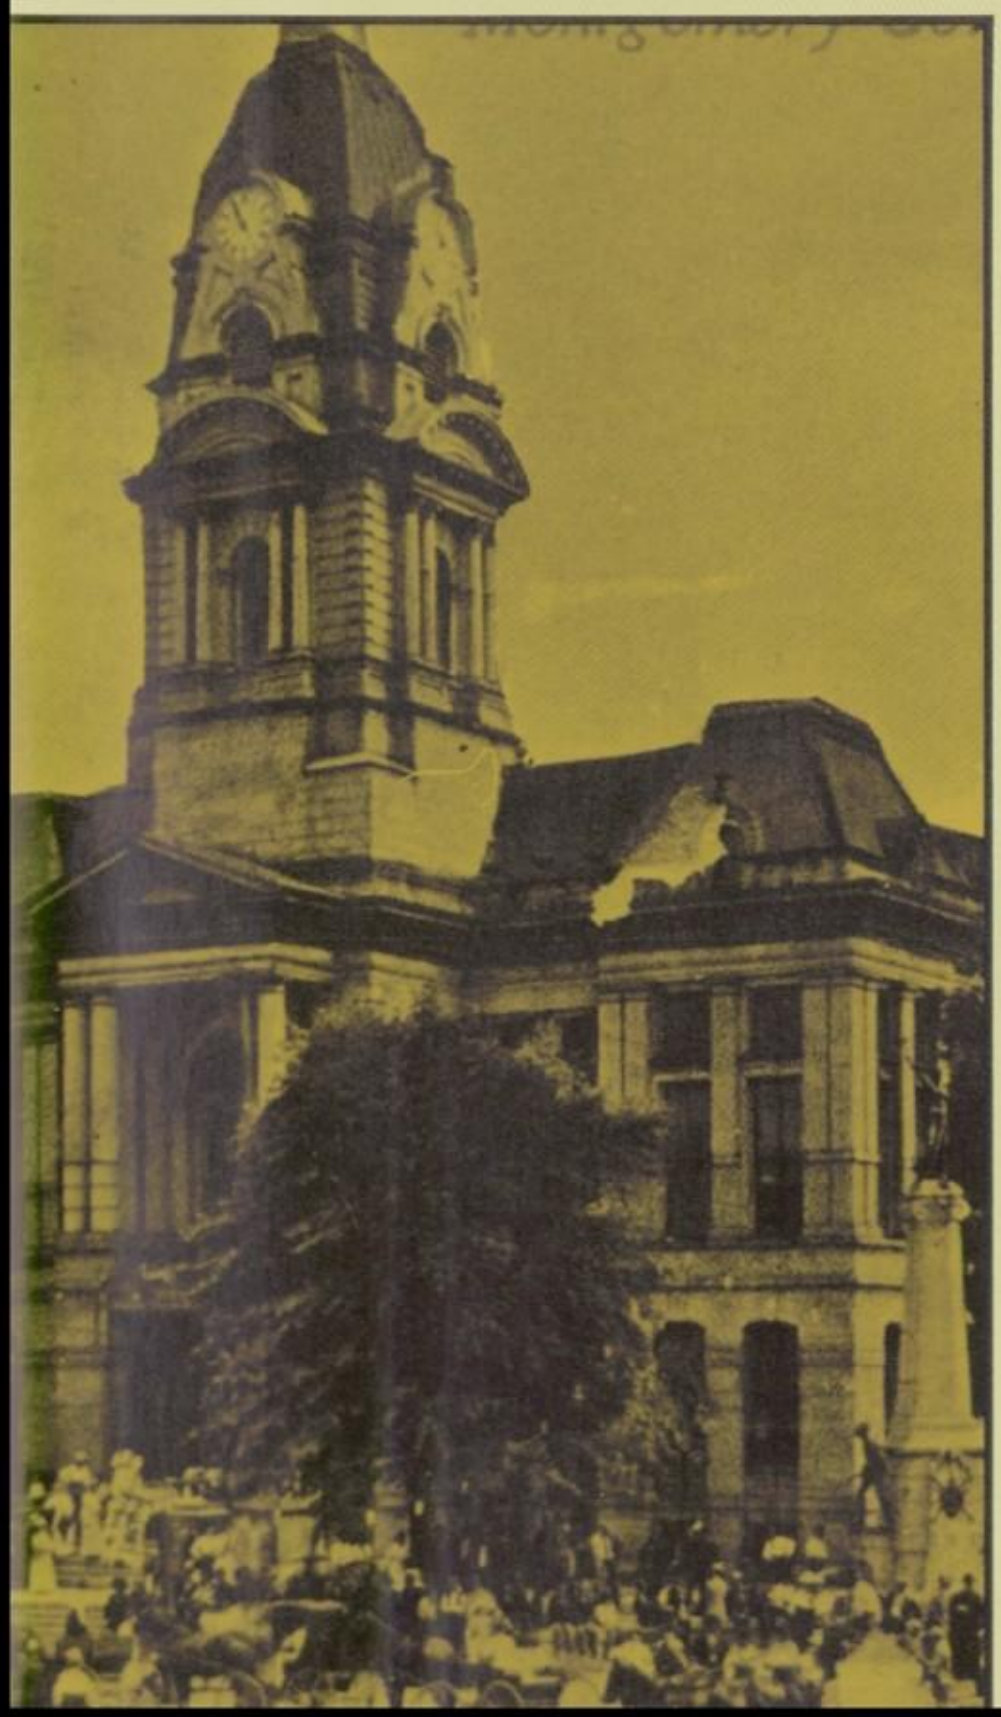
Pictured above is the 1913 Wingate basketball team which captured the state championship in that year and went on to do it again in 1914! The fine quality of basketball which came from that area has been a source of pride, not only for the residents of Wingate but of the entire North Unit.

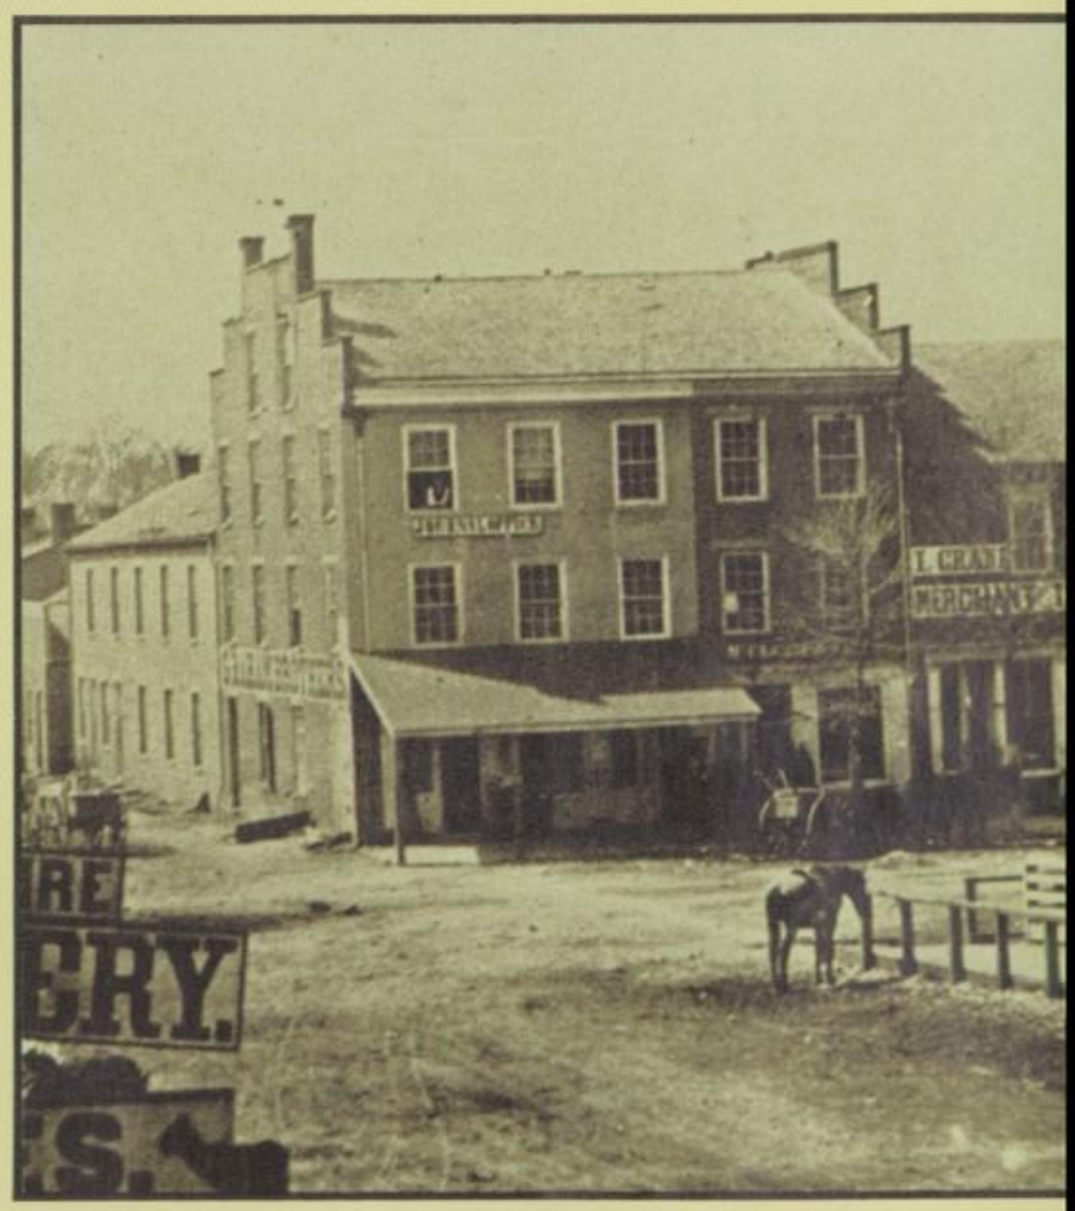
In sharp contrast to the victorious Wingate champs are the grim but youthful faces of the fife and drum squad of Montgomery County soldiers. The tragedy of civil war touched the lives of all—even the very young.



Our county is rich in colorful accounts in history. The log cabin, now found in Milligan Park once stood on the city's near north side and was the home of the Speed family. It served as an "underground railroad" for run-away slaves, who escaped through underground tunnels leading to Sugar Creek. It is said that Harriet Beecher Stowe's father had visited the home on several occasions and related to her many accounts which gave her story ideas which she published in "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

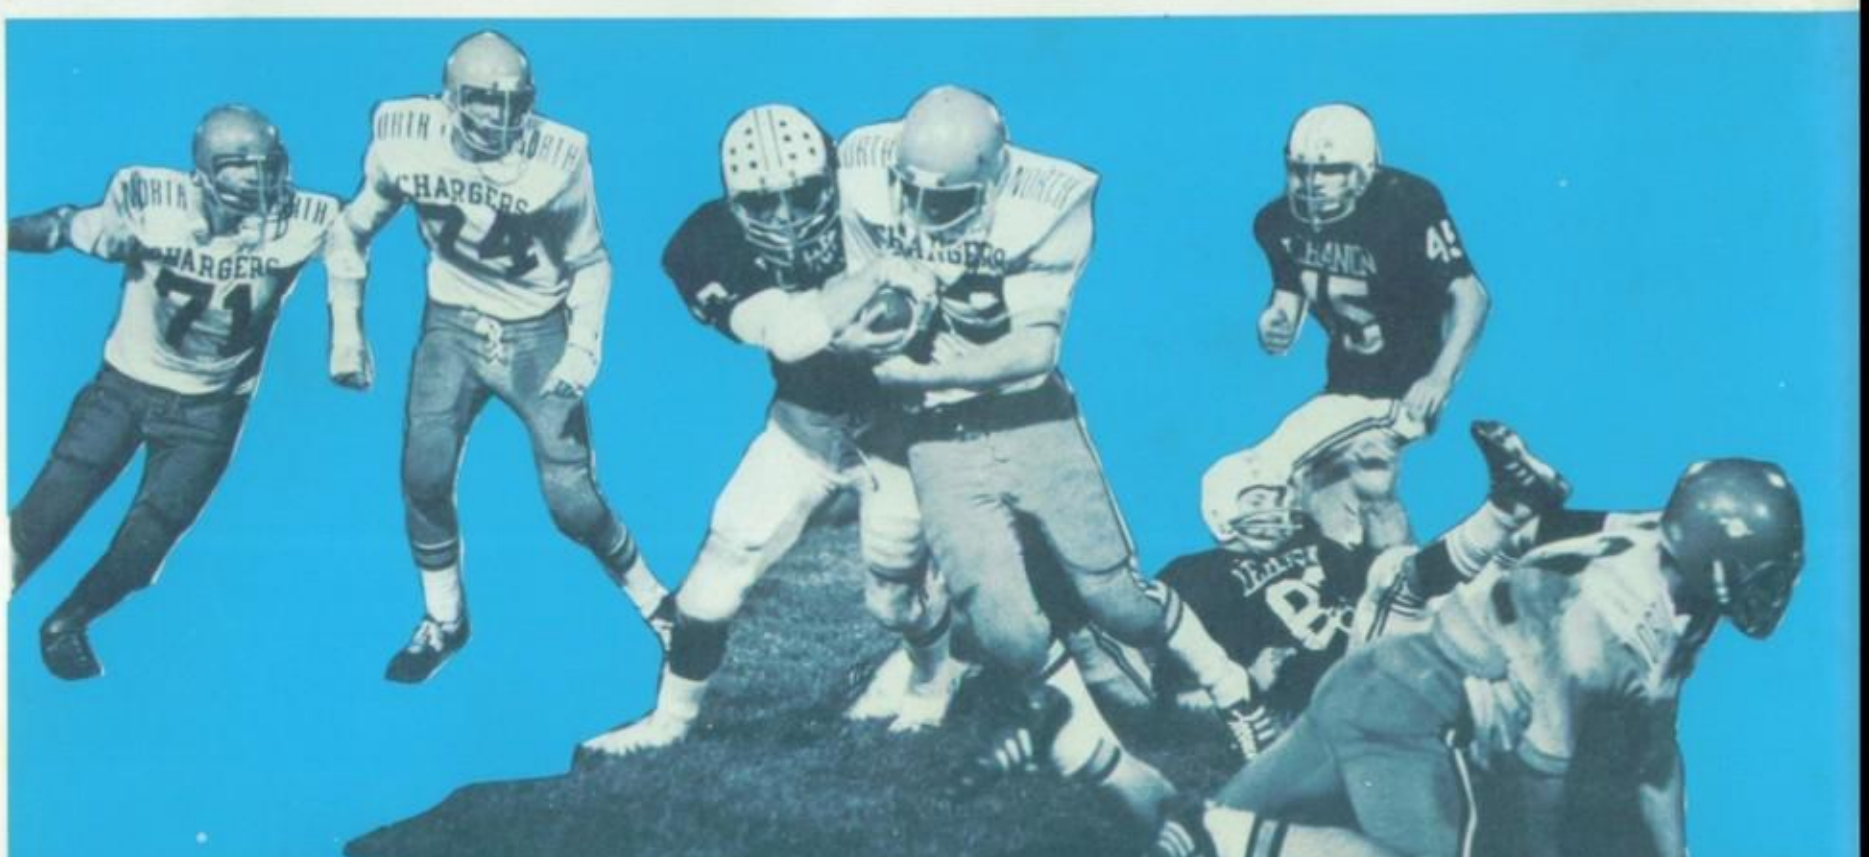
This picture of the intersection at Washington Street and Main is one of the oldest photos taken of Crawfordsville. The hitching posts and the popular mode of travel of the era makes one stop and wonder what life was like in those bygone days.





The Montgomery County Courthouse was once graced with a picturesque clock tower and horse-drawn buggies.

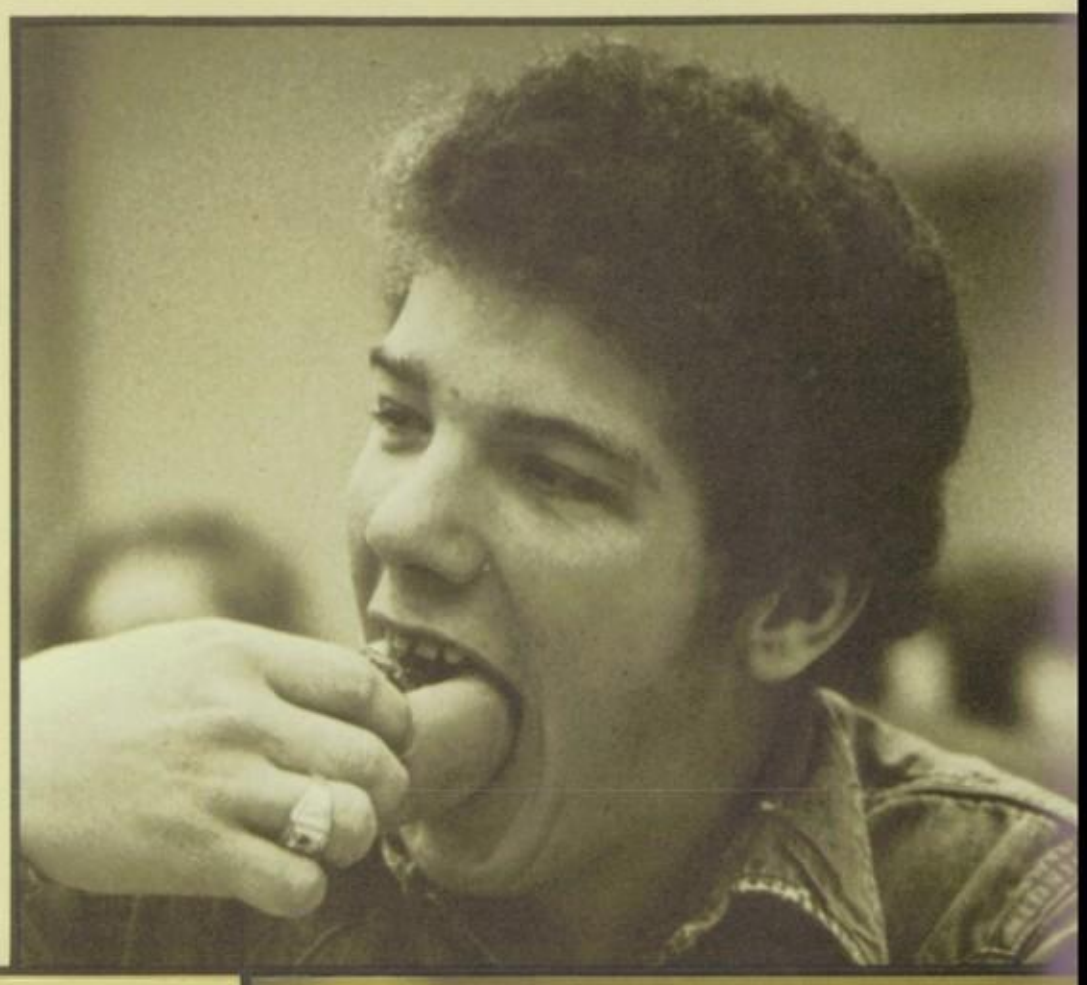
Coming Home Again

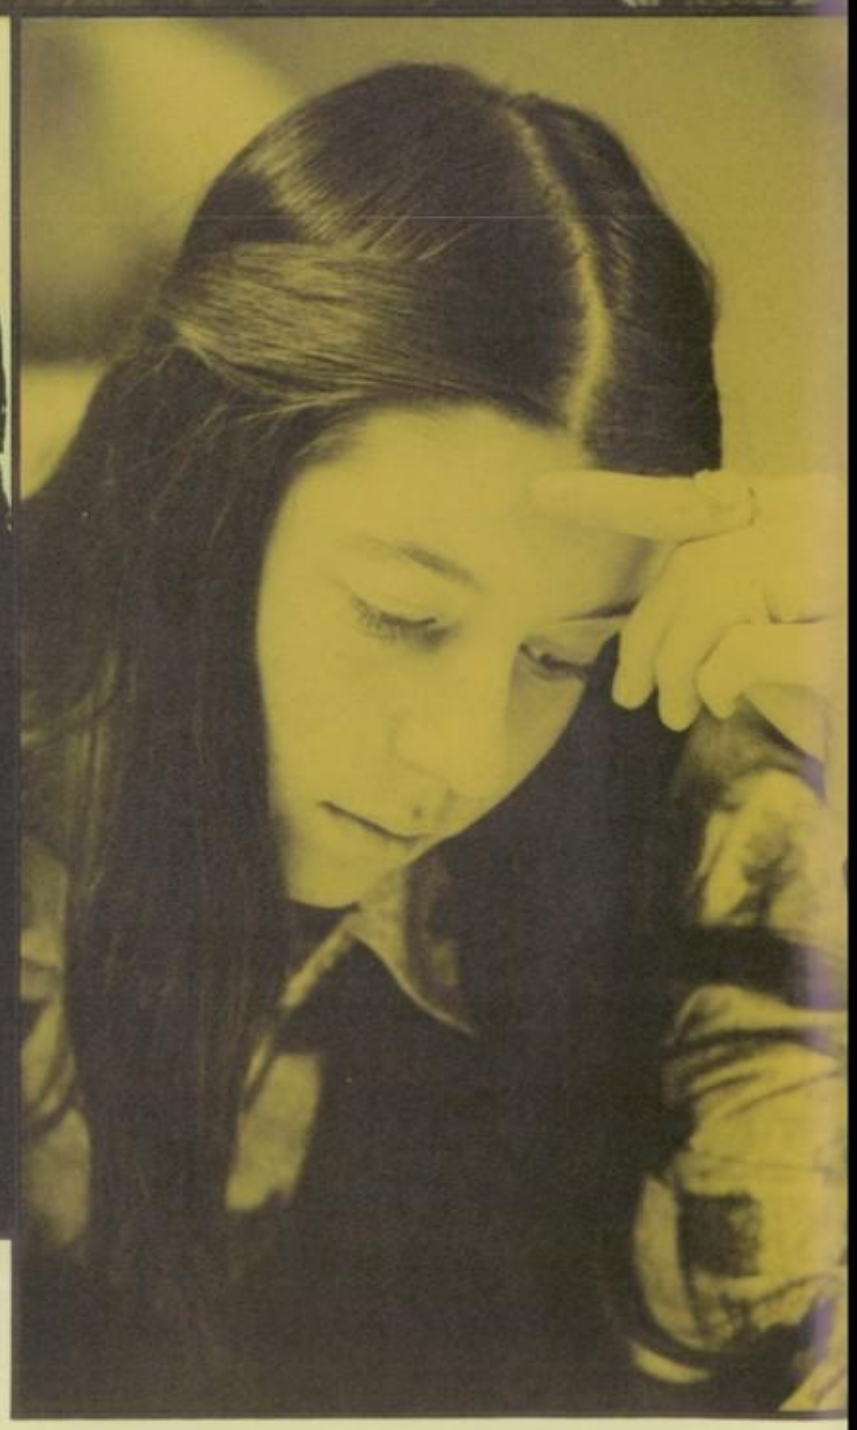


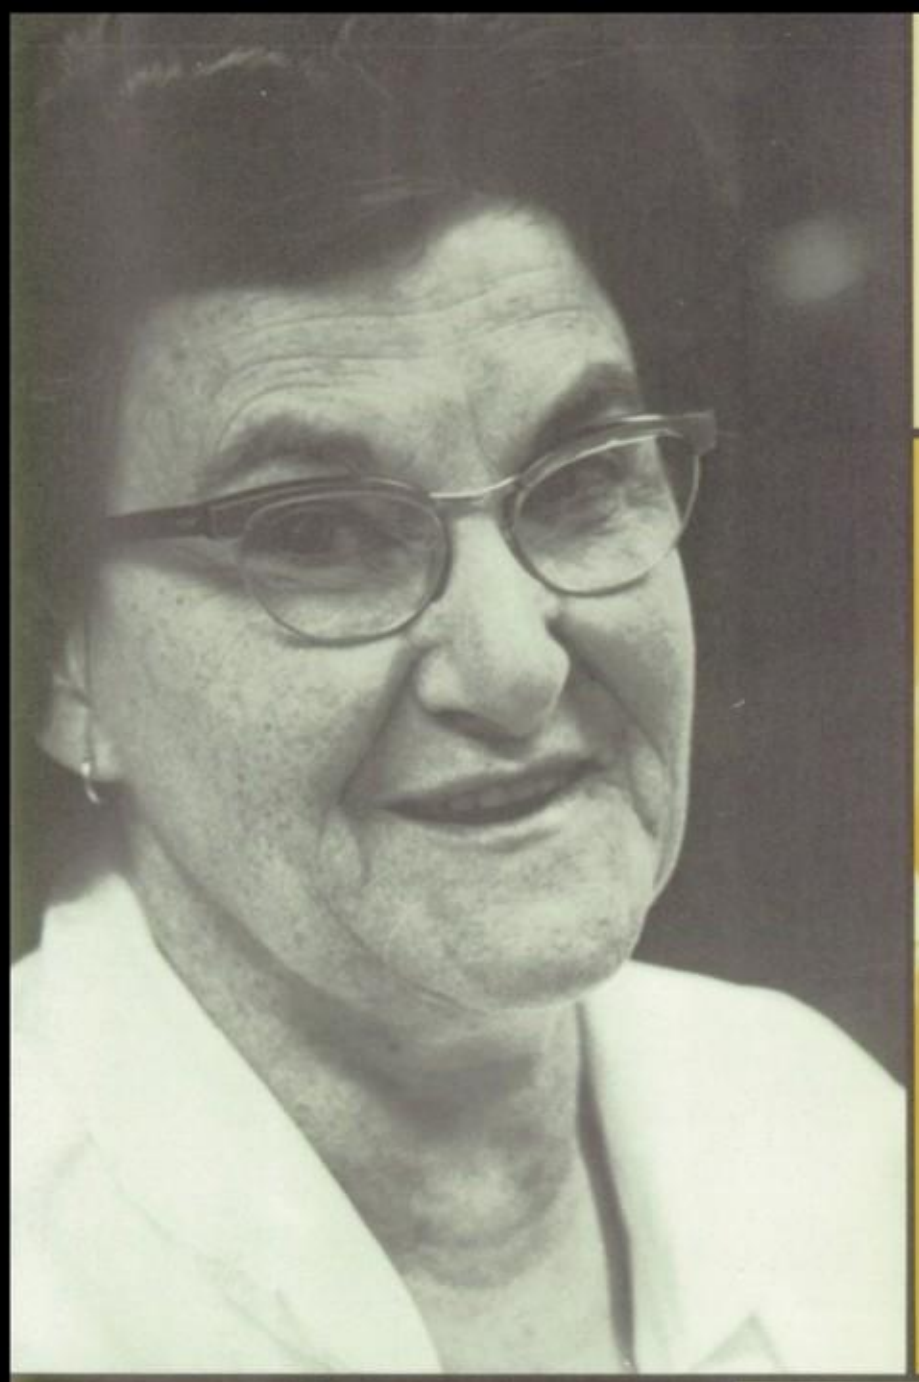
Homecoming—a time when the past mingles with the present. It is a link in time when Alumni return to relive for a moment, the excitement, the friendships and the emotions of their years at N.M.H.S. For the students still at school, it is a wonderful, hectic week spent in preparations for hall decorations, float construction and various class competition. 1975 was a good year for the Junior Class who "walked away" with all the honors, winning the spirit award and receiving first place in the float competition. Betty Wilson was crowned Homecoming Queen and the festivities climaxed at the game against Lebanon. The traditional homecoming dance was replaced with a rock concert following the game.

We The People . . .

Youth is a time when the individual searches for his personal identity. It's a time to grow and experience those things which will influence his adult life. Each person must in his dealings with others, make decisions which will affect not only himself, but also those with whom he comes in contact daily. Although individuality is imperative, no one can exist alone. It is the unity of each individual and his personal ideas which comprises the whole of North Montgomery.



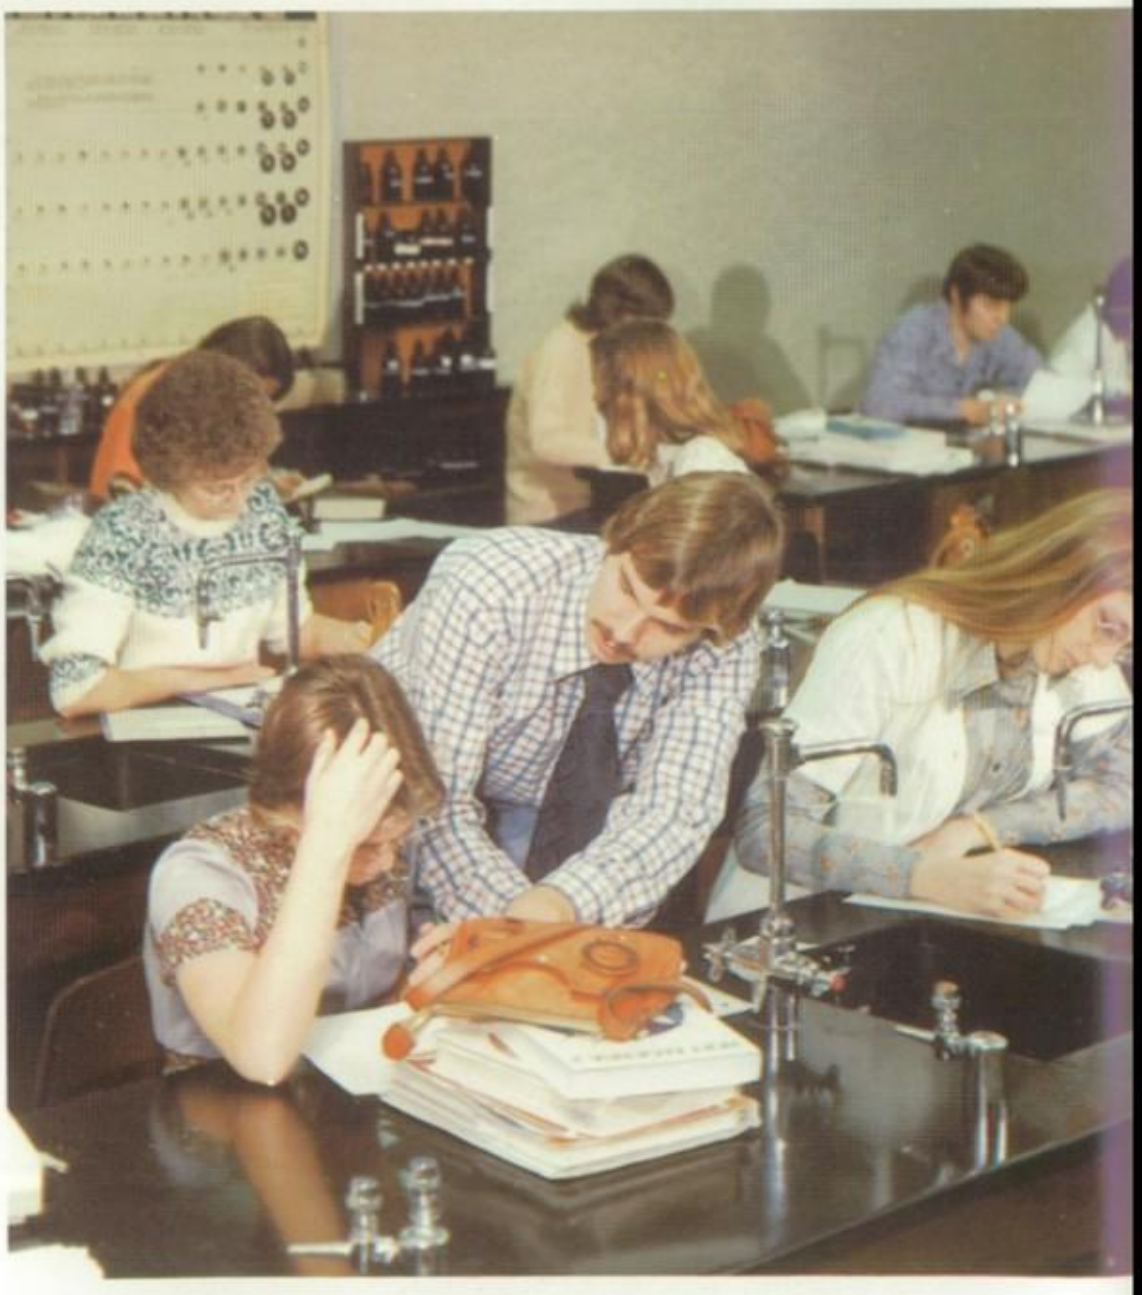


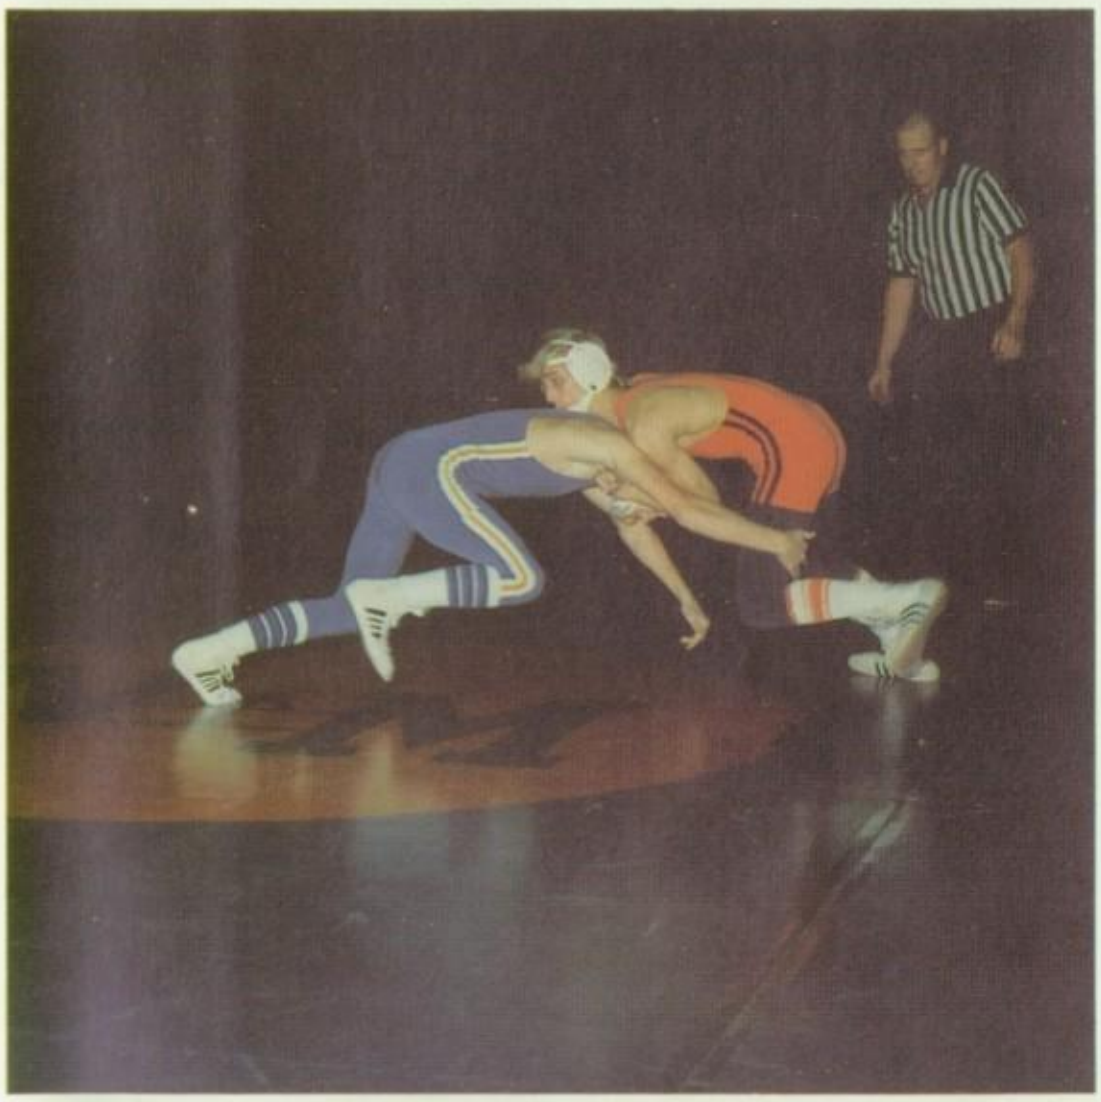


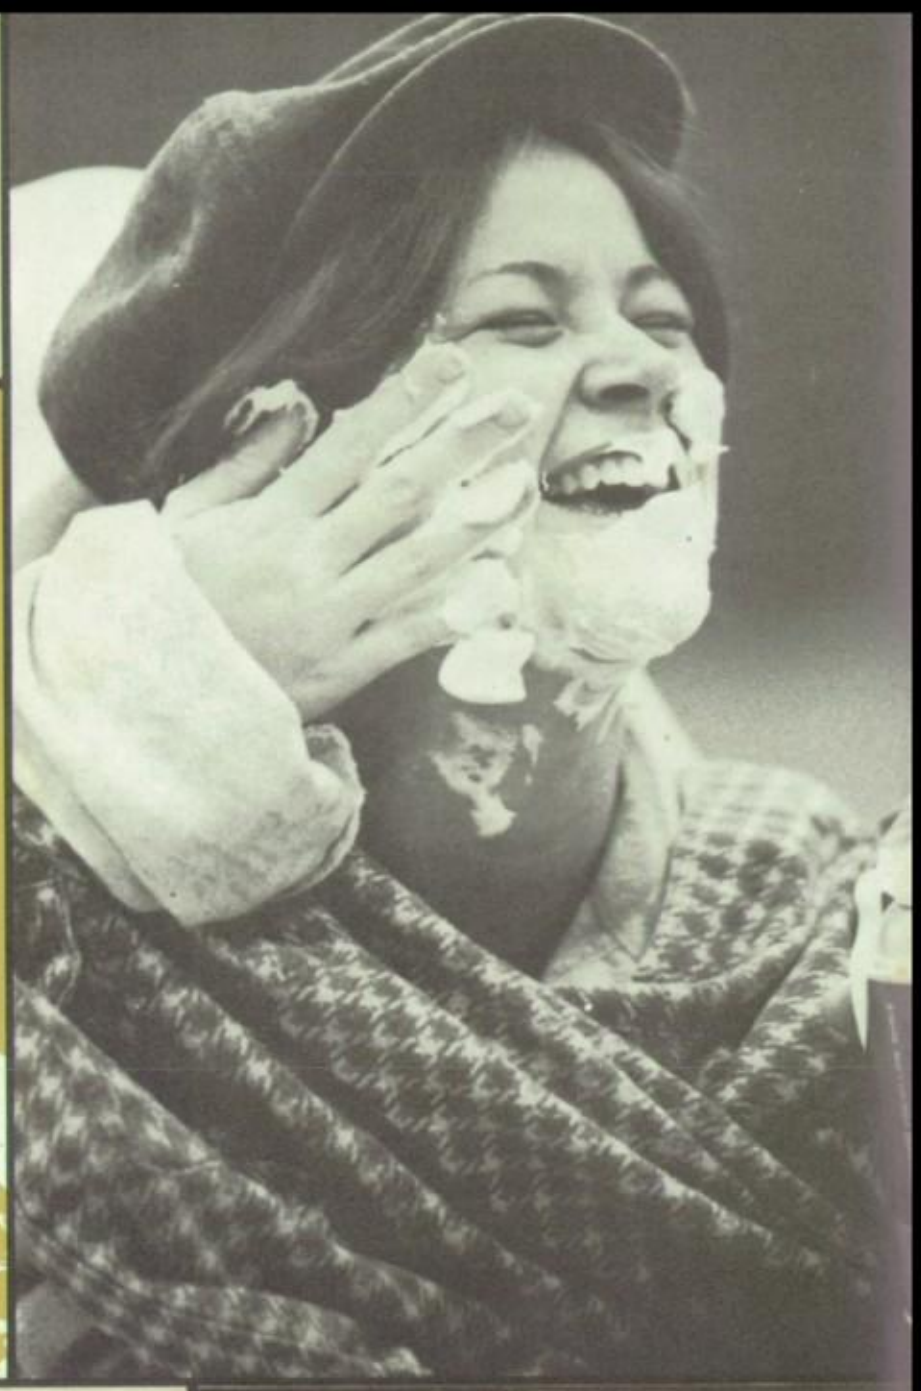
Collectively . . .

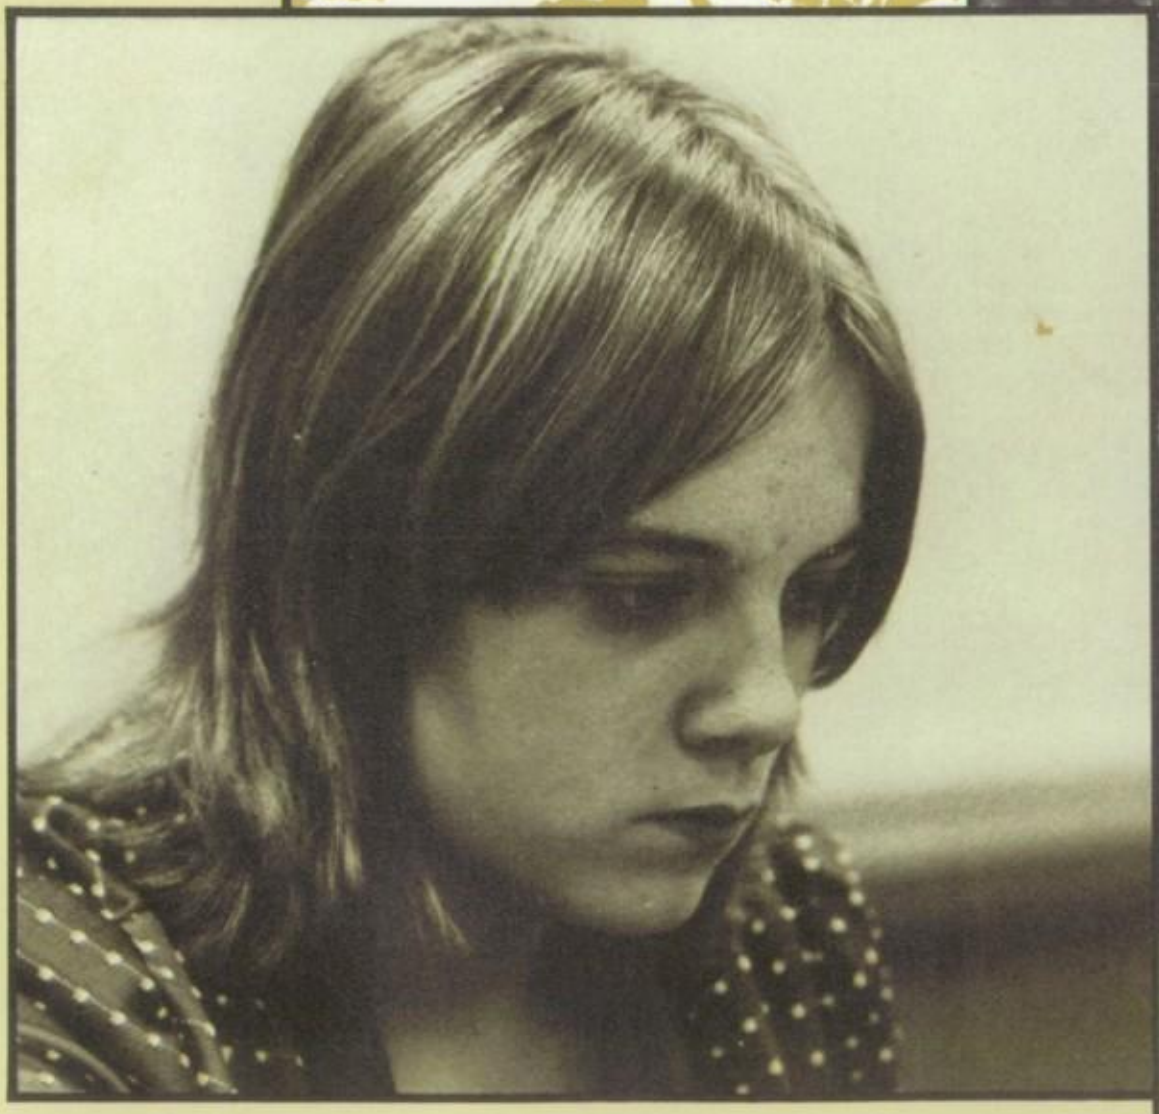
For two hundred years our nation has found strength in unity. The spirit of "e pluribus unum" prevailed in business, government, society, and education.

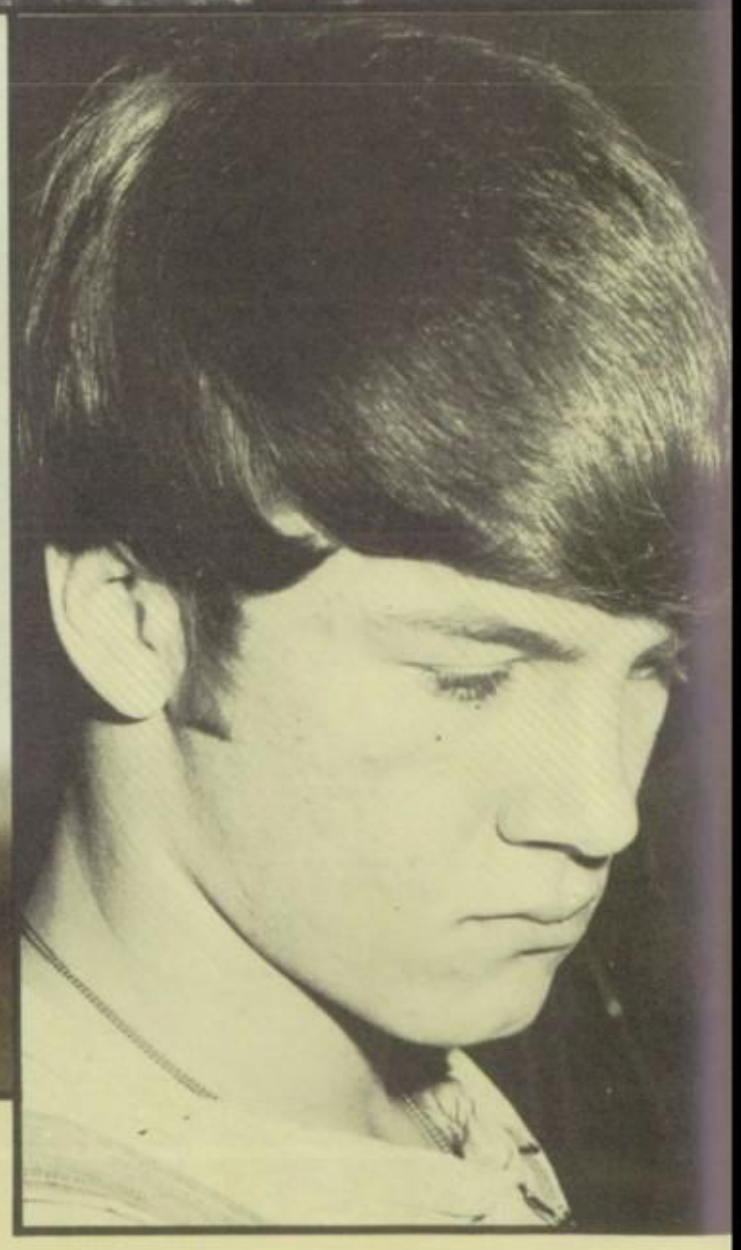
Students are able to share the thrills of victory or to accept the disappointments of defeat more readily because of their togetherness.



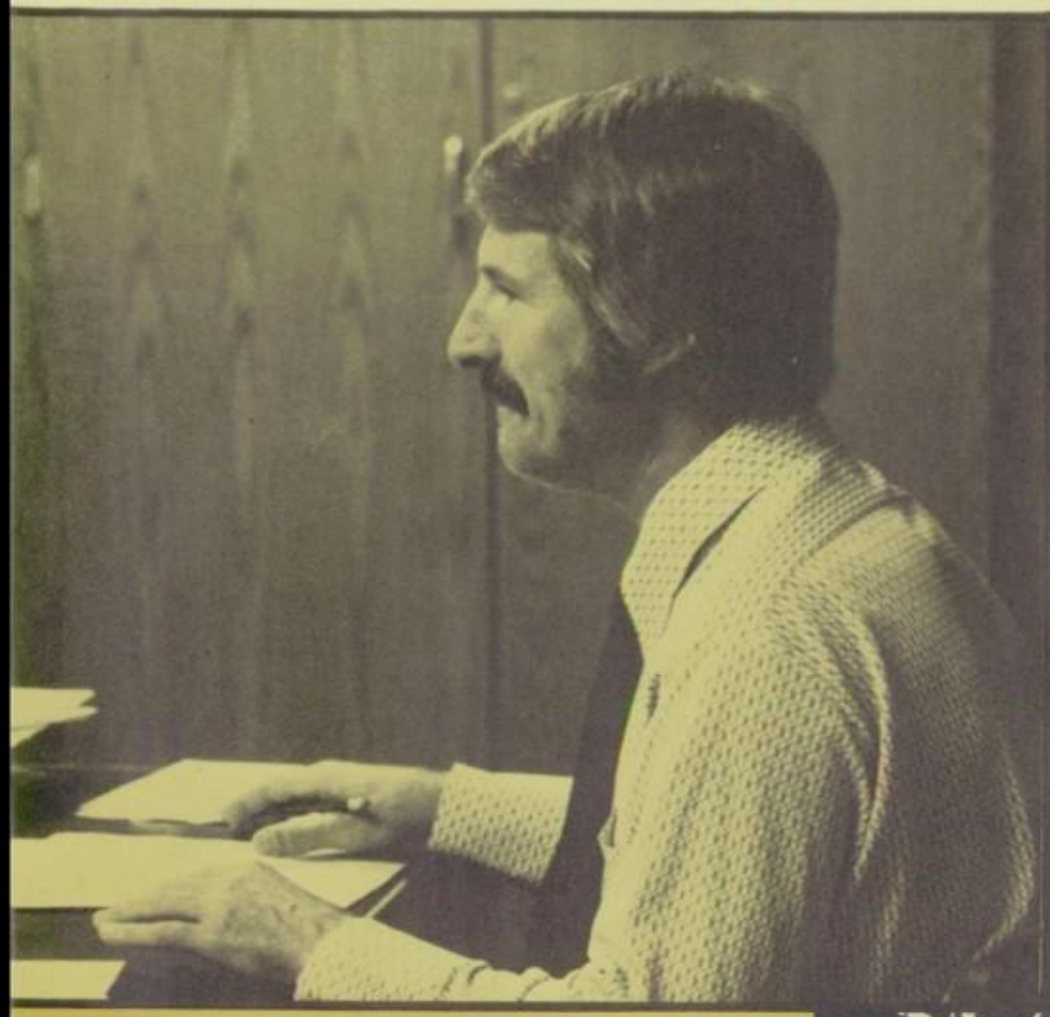


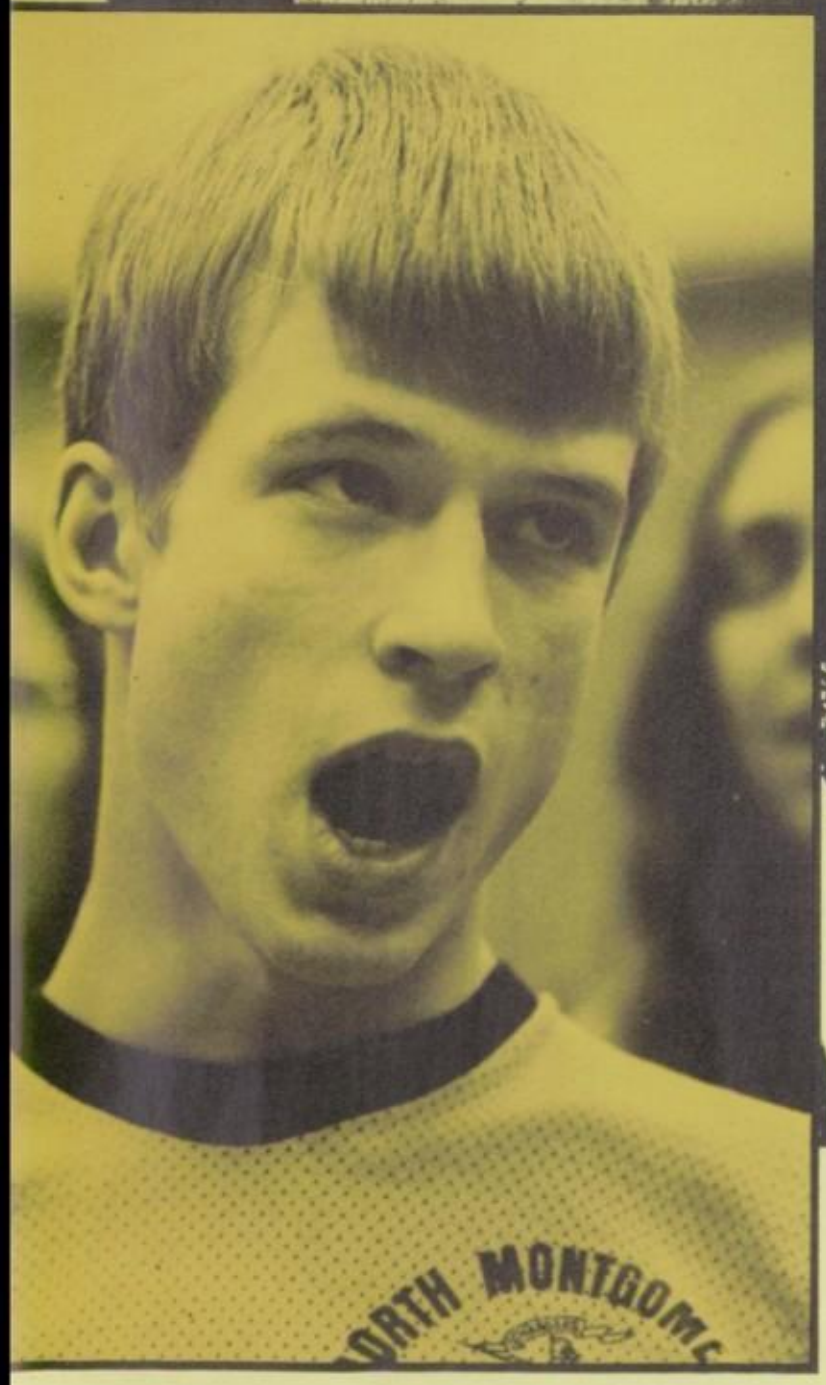


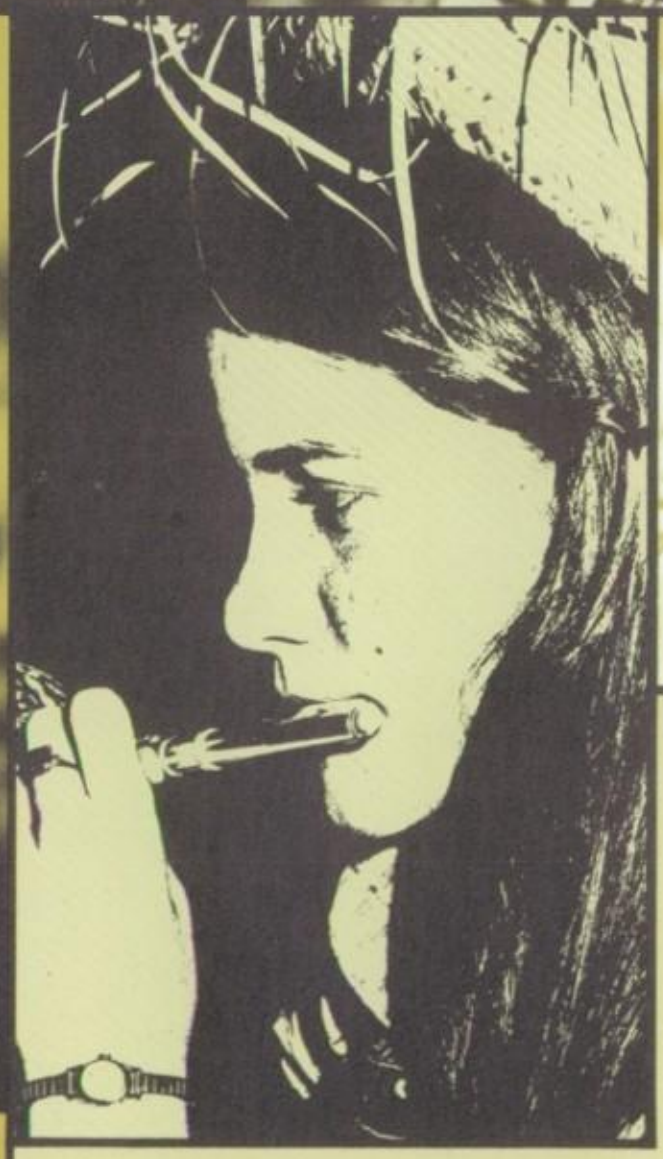




And Individually



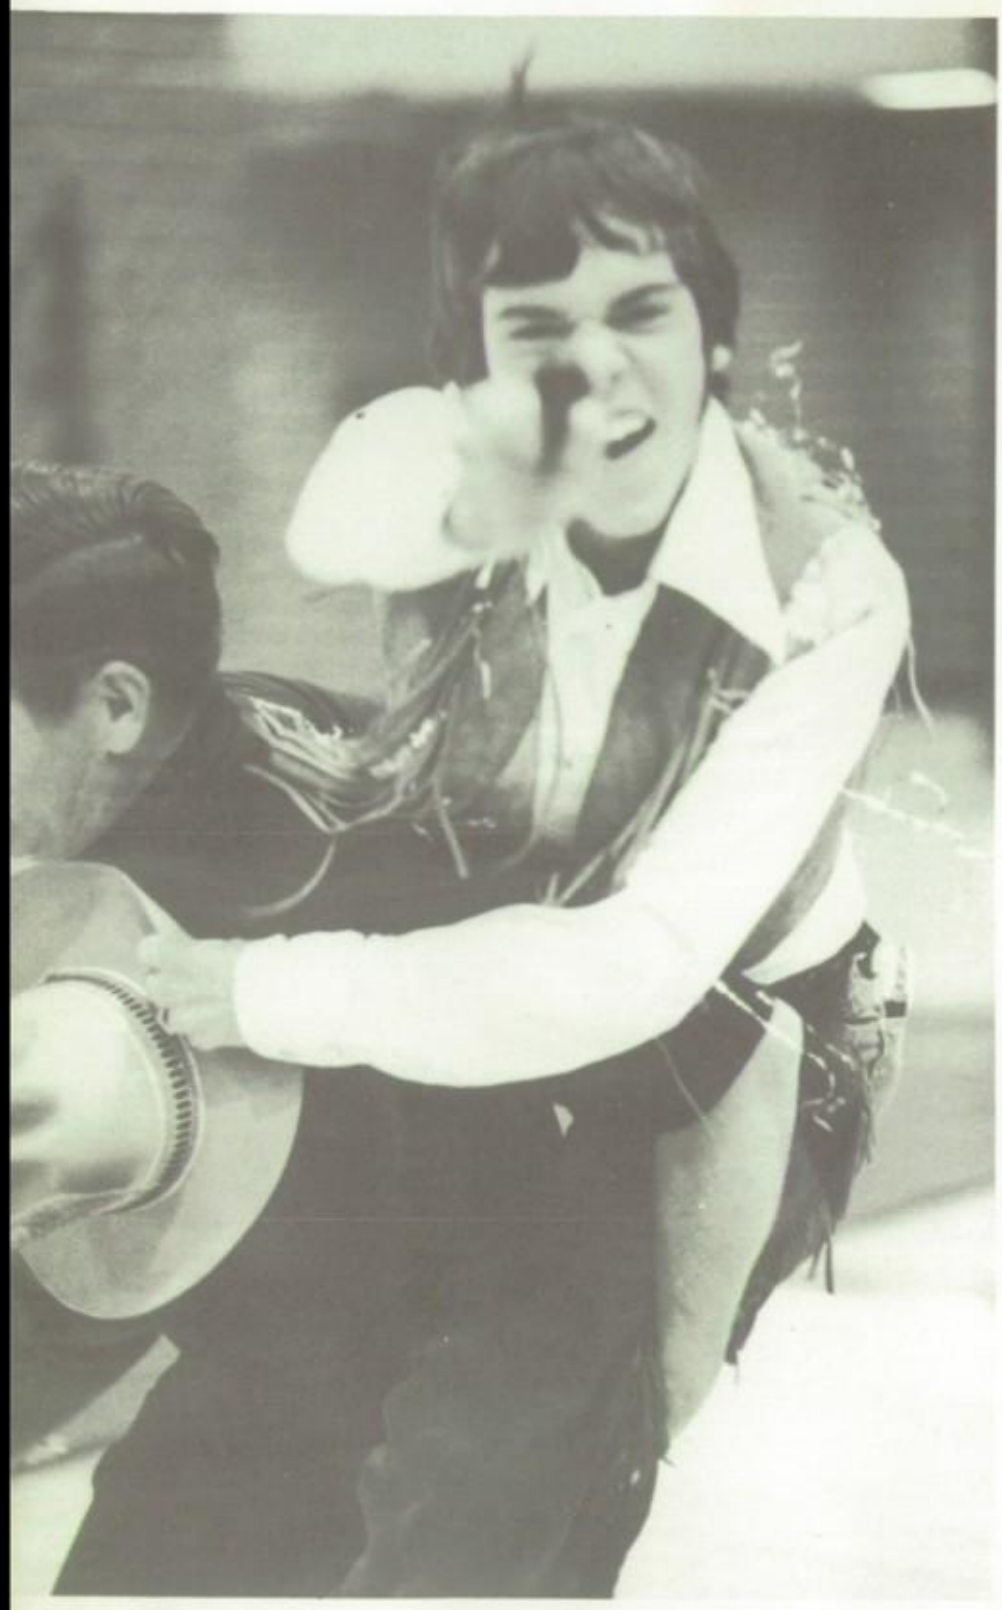




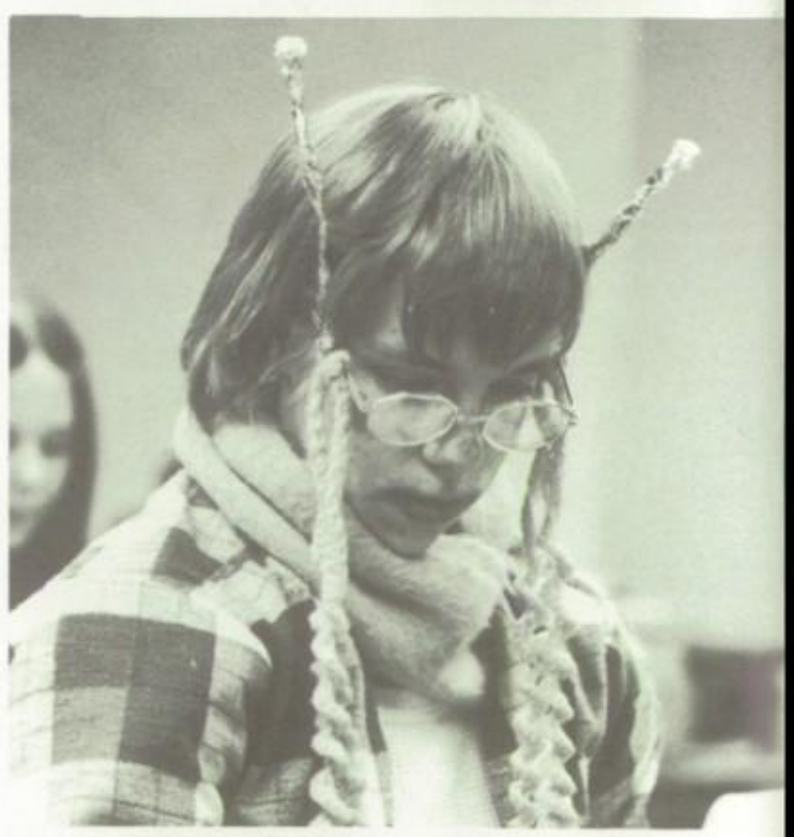
"I confess to pride in this coming generation. You are working out your own salvation; you are more in love with life; you play with fire openly, where we did in secret, and few of you are burned!"

Franklin D. Roosevelt

It's A World Of Laughter



Chris Oppy—our own "Rhinestone Cowboy". Kriston Woody—Could Mr. Strong's jokes be that funny? What's all this "racket" Mr. Hughes? Mary Gross . . . Valedictorian???



"Boogie Fever" hits the Sunshine Dance. Advanced P.E. and Special Ed. students spend a great day in the water. Cindy, Cheryl, Terri, Deb, Kim and Leesa make the last day in yearbook memorable!

It's A World Of Fun

It's A World Of Study . .

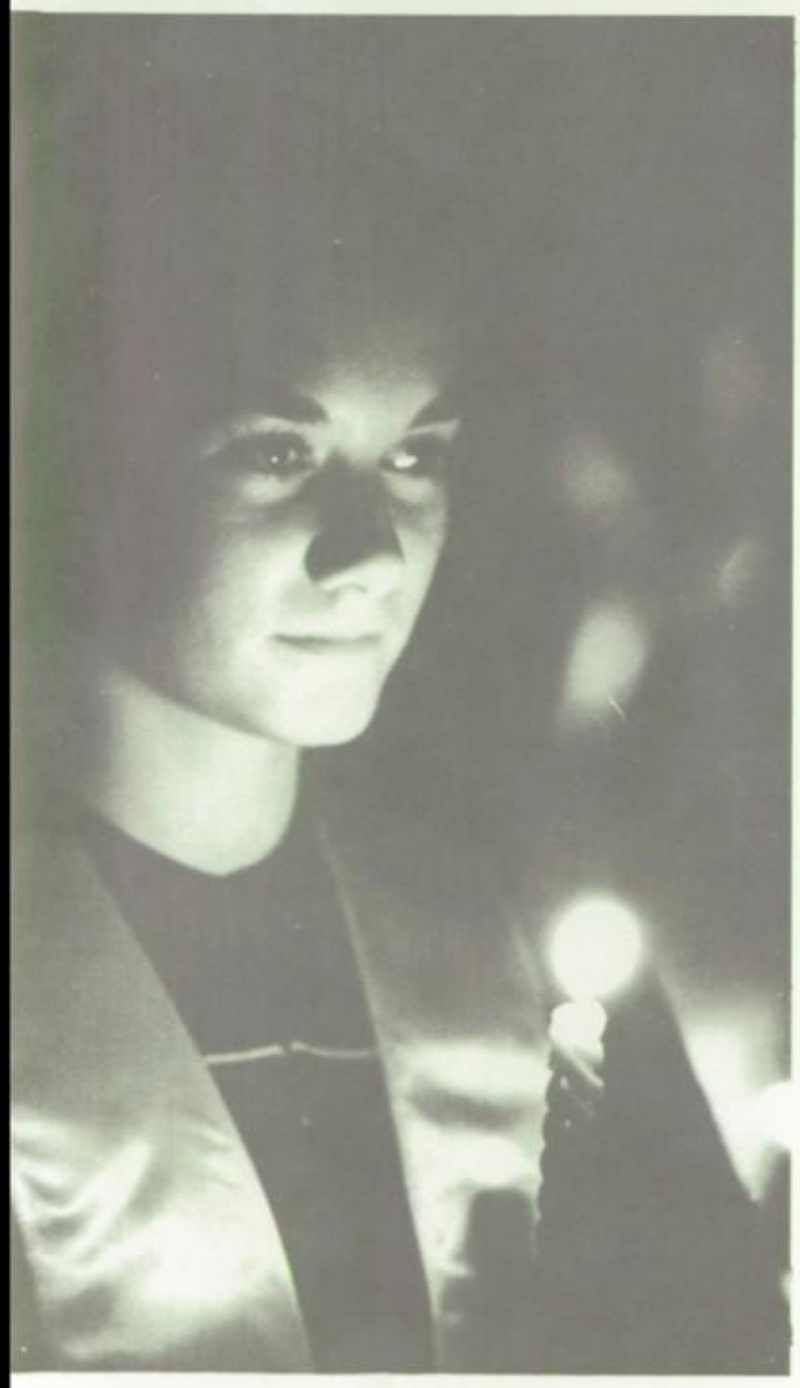
A school day requires concentration on academic assignments. Hours of tedious work are spent in Drafting class. Layout design doesn't come easy for Brad Demoret. Art displays catch students' attention. Members of the Concert Choir perform on Awards Day. Senior Class President, Mark Chenoweth, exchanges congratulations with friends. Valedictorian, Mary Gross, exemplifies "work well done".

And Work Well Done

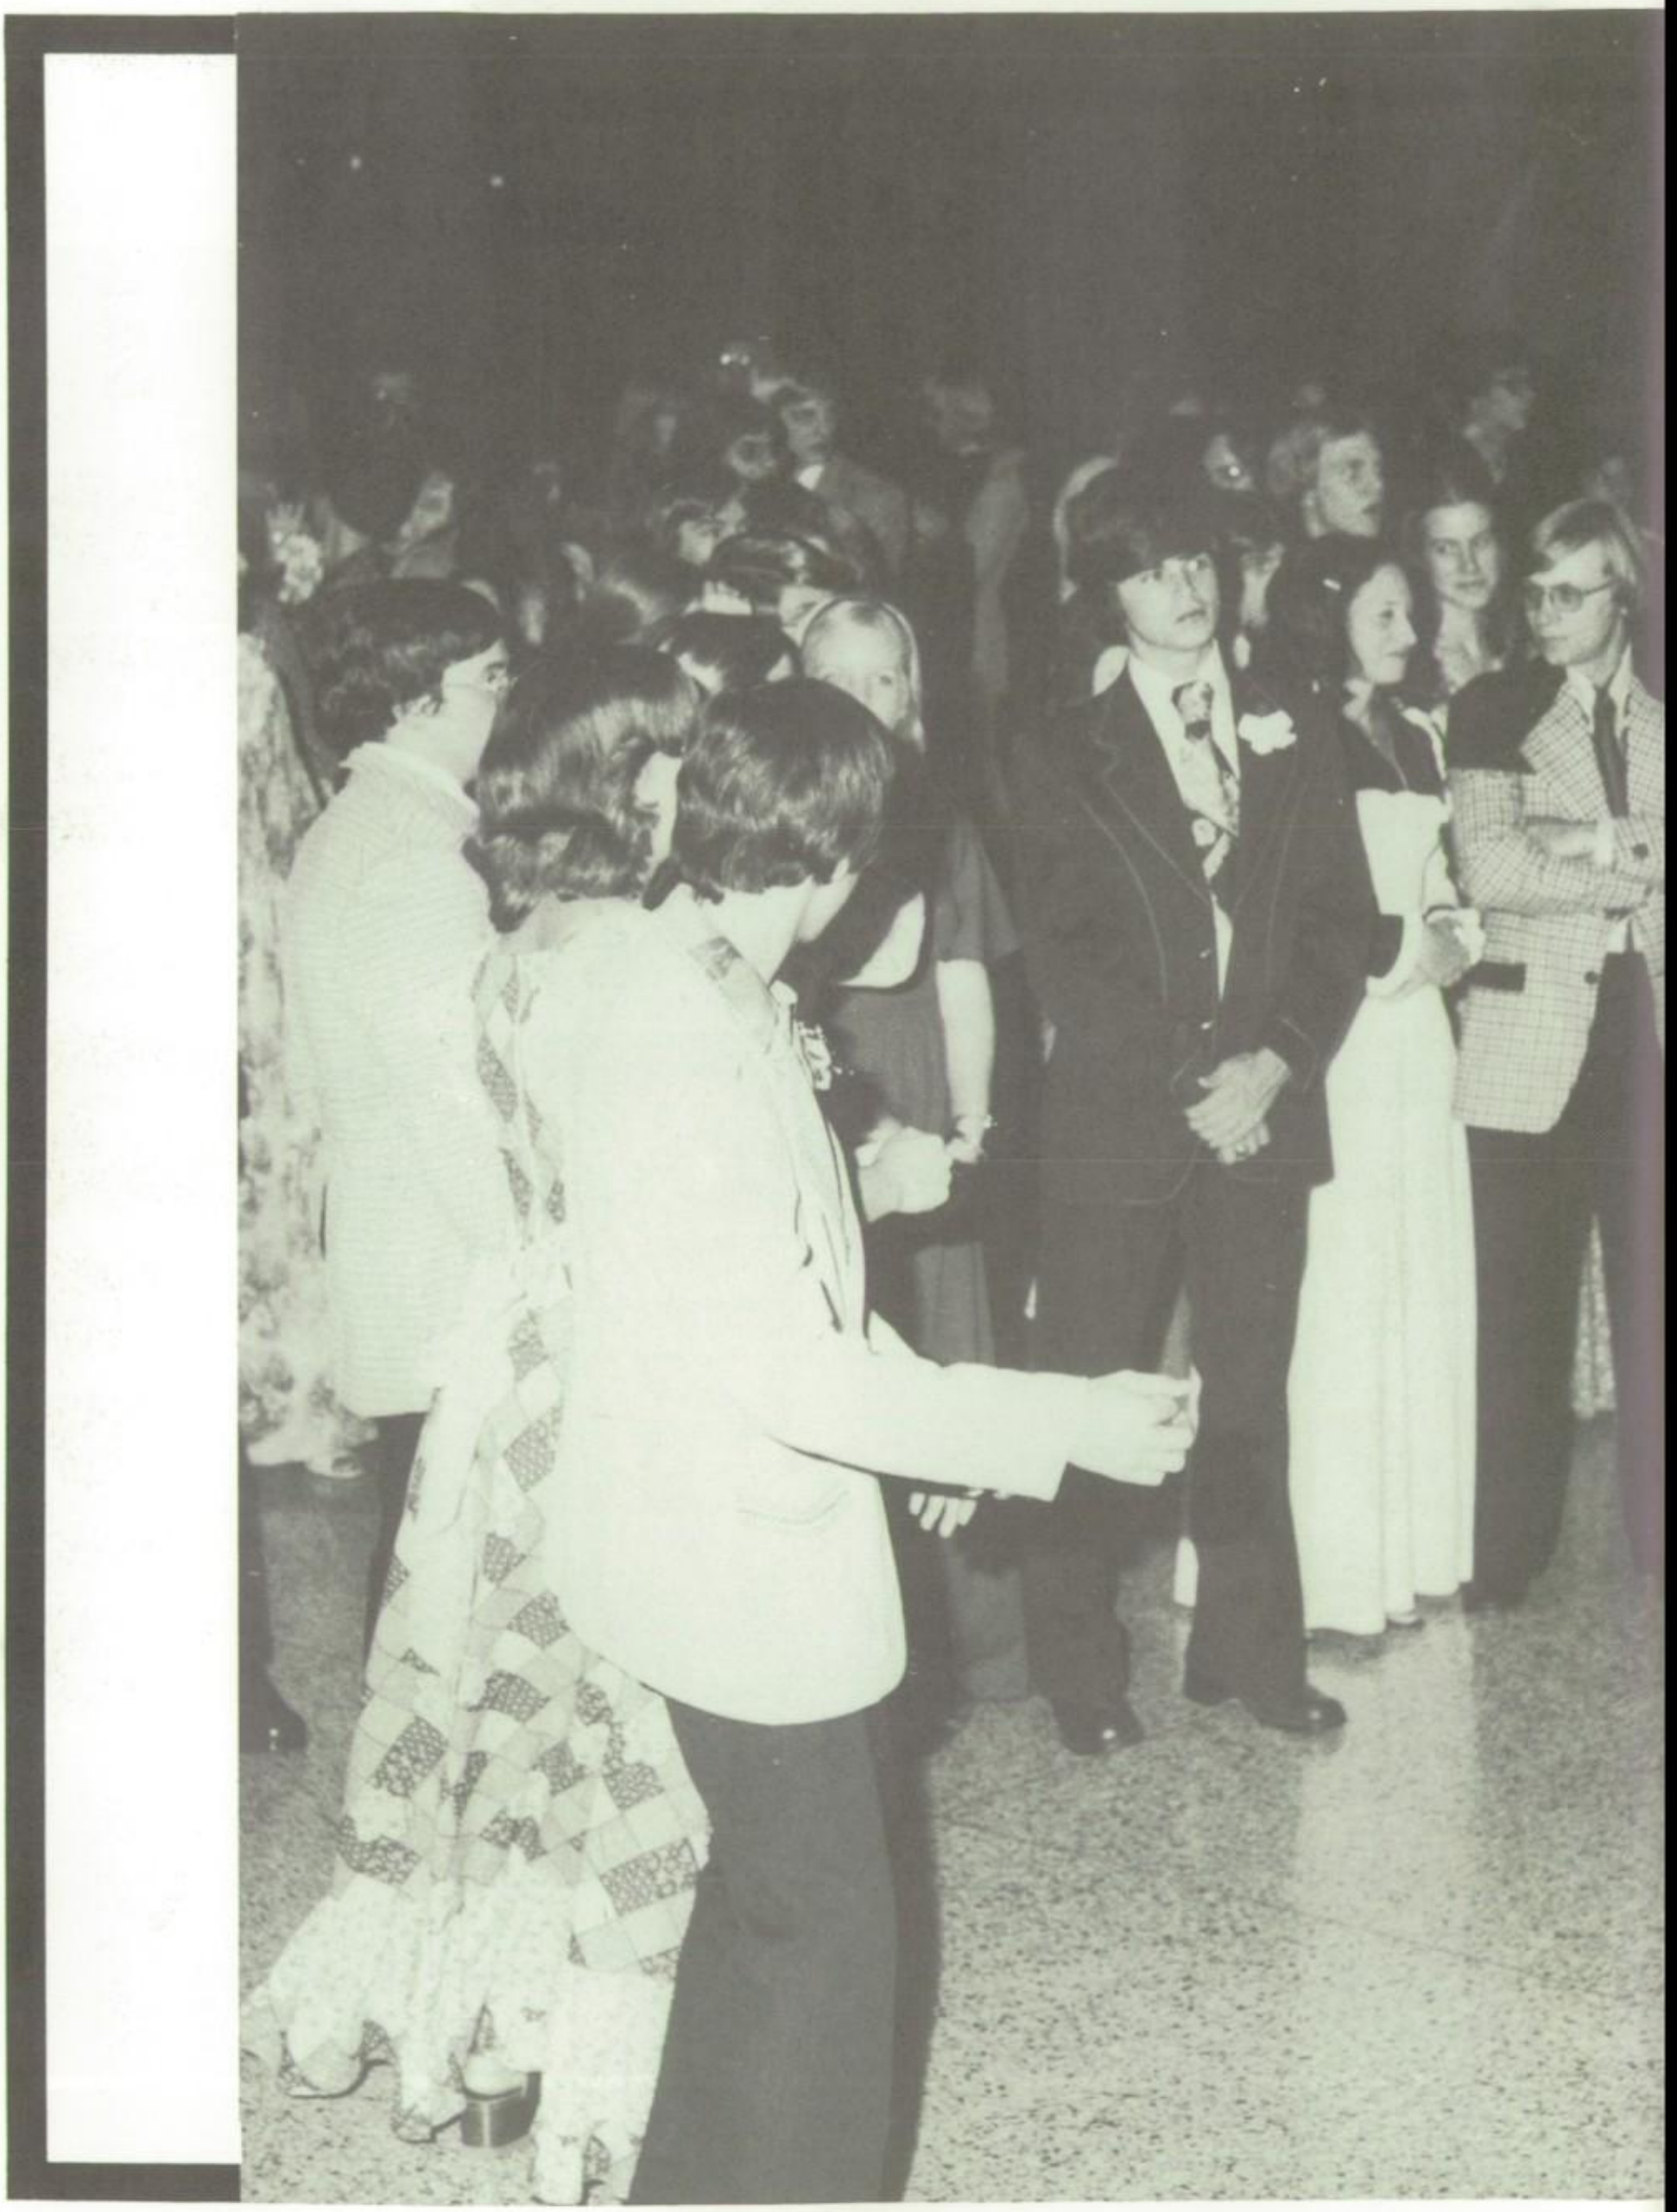
It's A World Of Hope, Disappointment And Tears

Tears of joy and sorrow are shed by Jeannie Pickle on graduation night. Marta Fyffe is on the edge of her seat in hopes of that ever important basket. Disappointment shows in the face of Mrs. Kriston and others as we fall behind on the scoreboard. Wrestlers and fans seem unhappy with the results of a match.

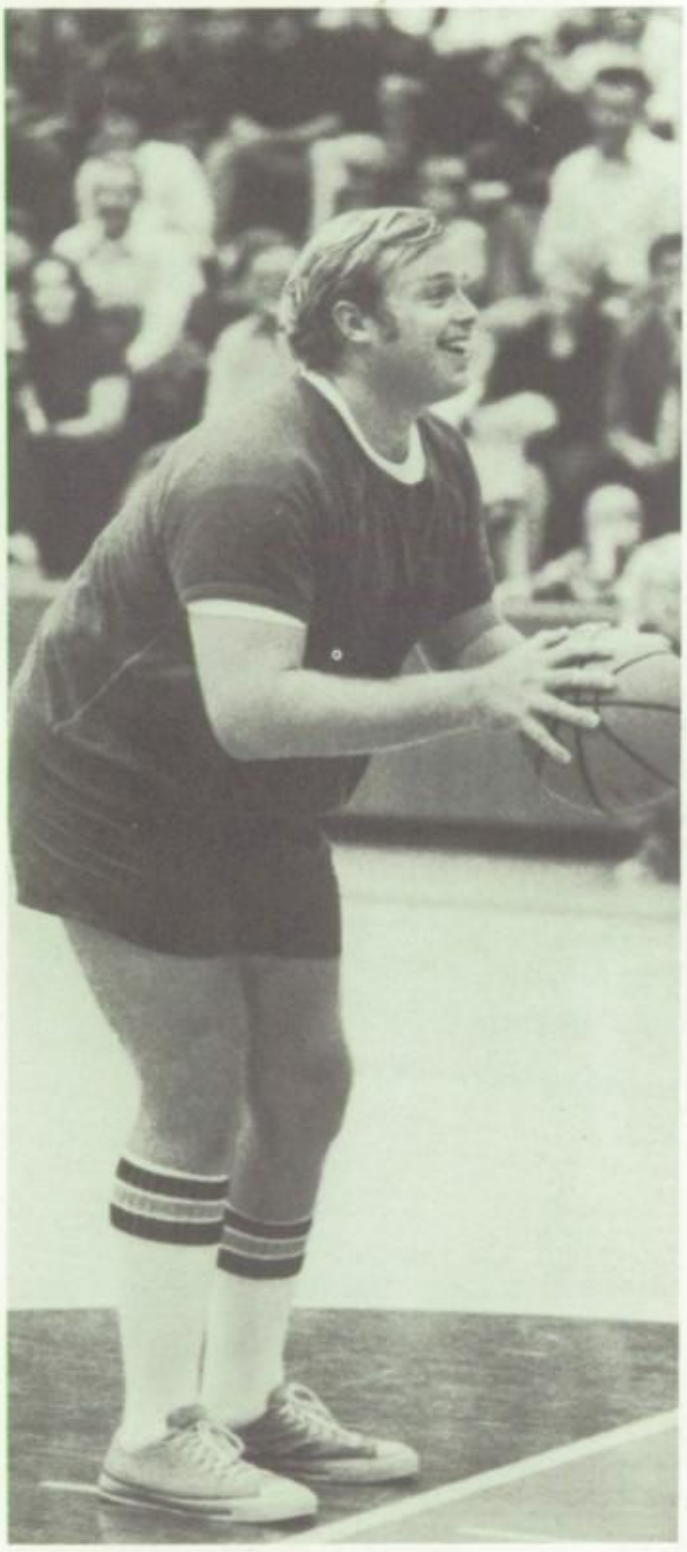
Coach O'Hare reflects concern over a critical moment in the tourney. A memorable moment for our Sectional Champs! Hope shines bright on the face of Connie Marquess in the Christmas concert. Sue Ann Rankin is overwhelmed as she receives the hard earned Outstanding Office Lab Student.



It's A World We Grow In, In Wisdom And Years



SPORTS



The Curious Savage

The Curious Savage, written by John Patrick and directed by Jerry Grayson and John Stenger, was the play chosen by the Dramatics Department for the presentation in mid November.

The play centered around the foibles of an eccentric millionaire and her discovery of the value of human relationships.

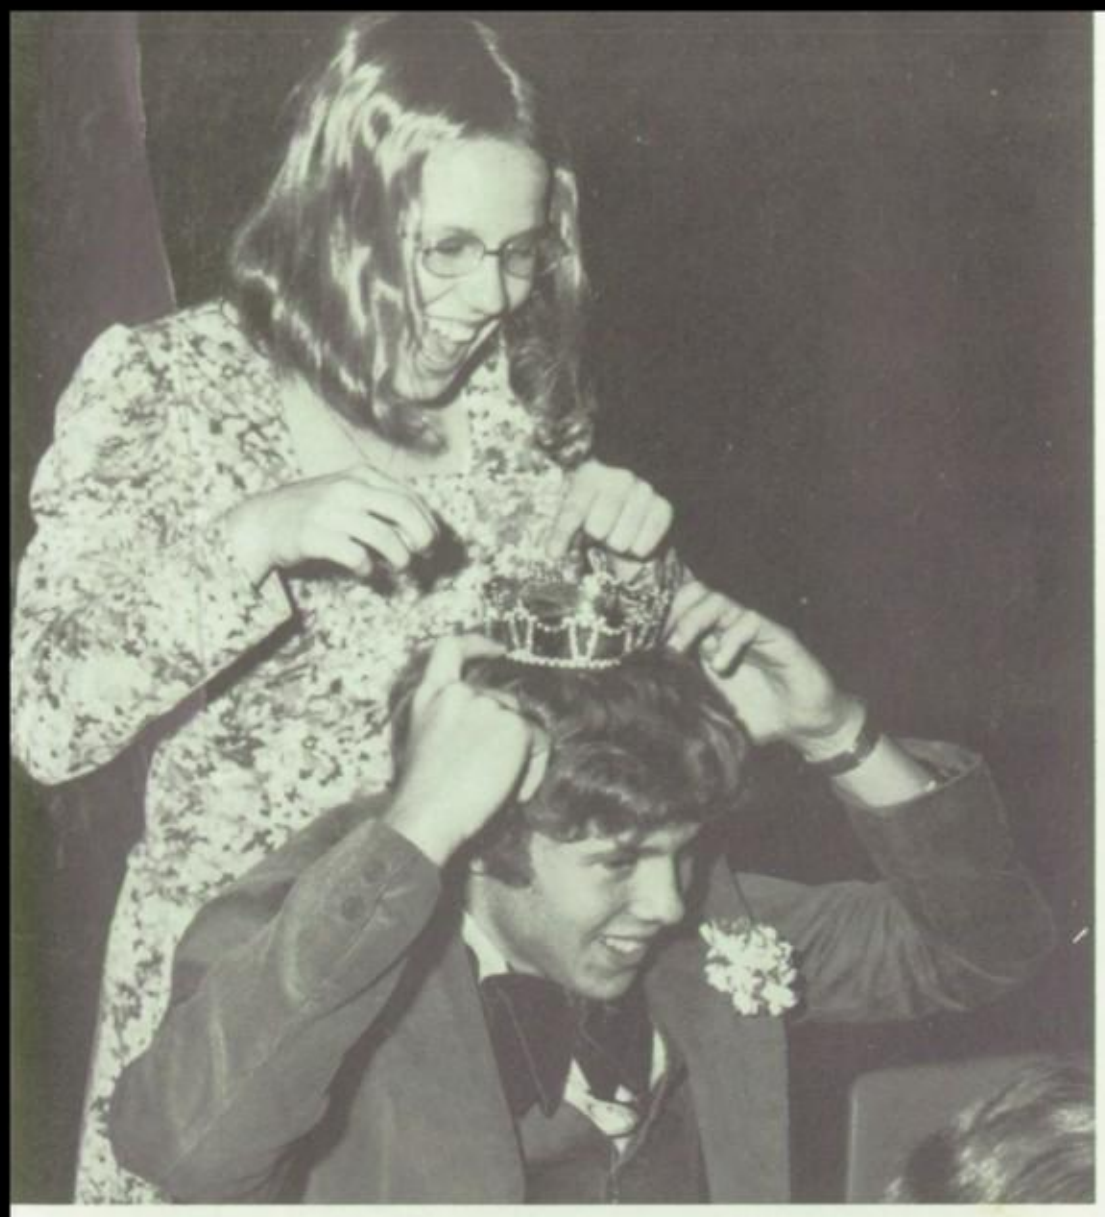
Cast and crew for the production were selected from among students at North Montgomery. The play proved to be not only an instant success, but also an entertaining and educational endeavor for both performers and audience.

Jeff (David Chastain) announces, "Well, time for us to go!" Hannibal (Bryan Biddle) shows an unusual way to slim down while Titus (Mike Hill) exclaims, "This is simply a mad house!" Lilly Belle (Tracy Howland) assures Miss Wilhelmina (Connie Marquess) that it is time for her to leave.

Fantasies have a way of coming true. Fairy Mae (Cyndi Krutzsch) replies, "Don't say things like that, I'm sensitive!" Mrs. Savage (Cindy Harris) bids farewell to the gentle patients of the Cloisters.

Fall Fantasy 1975

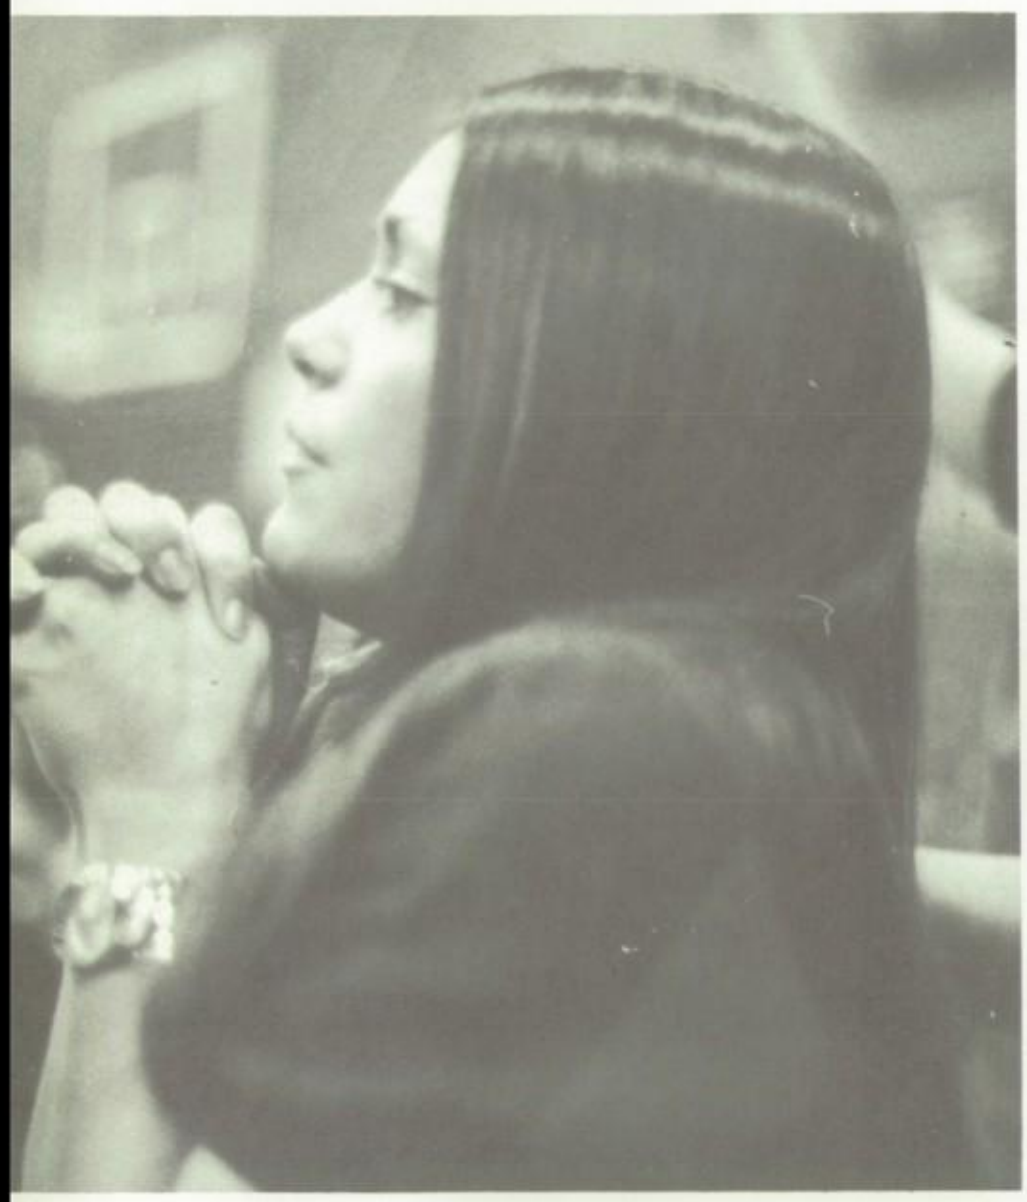
Queen Connie Marquess relaxes with Curt Thompson after an exciting moment. The soulful sounds of Oddessy provide music for dancing as Jeannie Pickle and Mike Patton do the bump.



Cathy Airey helps King Dave Synder adjust his crown. Susan Craft and Jeff Turner take time out to rest. Members of Sunshine Court: Alan and Peggy Bane, Chuck White, Sue Ann Rankin, King, David Synder, Queen, Connie Marquess, Rick Ward, Denise Crum, Mark Lisby, Debbie Janssen, Jeff Chastain, and Joy Cohee.

Students of North Montgomery High School danced to an evening of music provided through the performing band of Oddessey. Gold fish filled the pool as Dave Synder and Connie Marquess were crowned King and Queen, respectively. Favors included "I Like You" key chains and burr oak flower arrangements.

That's The Spirit!



Hopes of victory keeps Sue Ann Rankin on edge. Wayne Cunningham boosts his team with a basket. Senior skit members Connie Marquess, Jeanna Odle, Jeannie Pickel and Rhonda Beck present a musical commerical for Casey's Coffins.

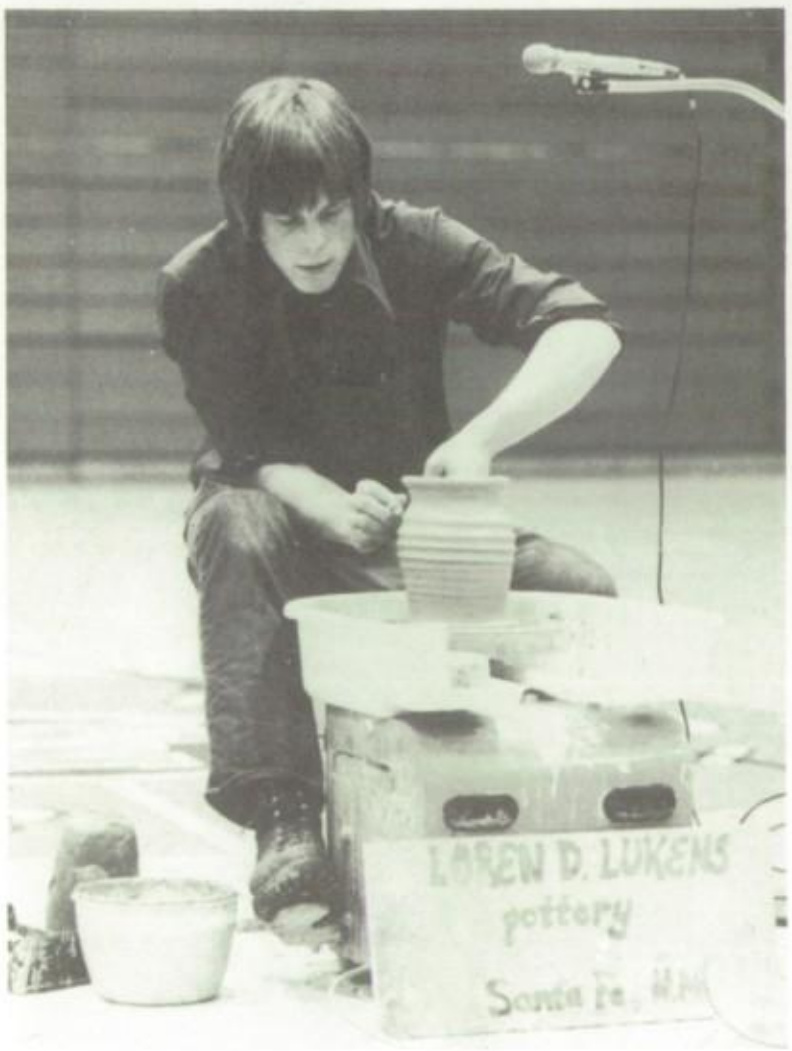
With the coming of Boys' Basketball Sectional time comes that familiar atmosphere that covers the entire state of Indiana--''Hoosier Hysteria''. North Montgomery is no exception when it comes to basketball. In anticipation of the tourney, students celebrate in the traditional ways of ''dress-up'' days, hall decorations and reciting cheers in the Commons at noon. All of this culminates at the pep session held the Friday before the game, when further competition between classes brings the school together with one common goal--backing the Charging Chargers!

The judges look at every angle in choosing a winner. Sophomores pull-off a victory in the tug-o-war competition. Junior Diane Woodward, Karen Rogers, and Martha Binford ''fish'' for a Charger victory. A glance down the Seniors' first-place hall.

That's Entertainm

As a break from the daily routine of classroom work, students had the chance to see more convocations and assemblies than ever before. The programs ranged from musical presentations to yoga demonstrations, providing a new dimension to the education of the day.

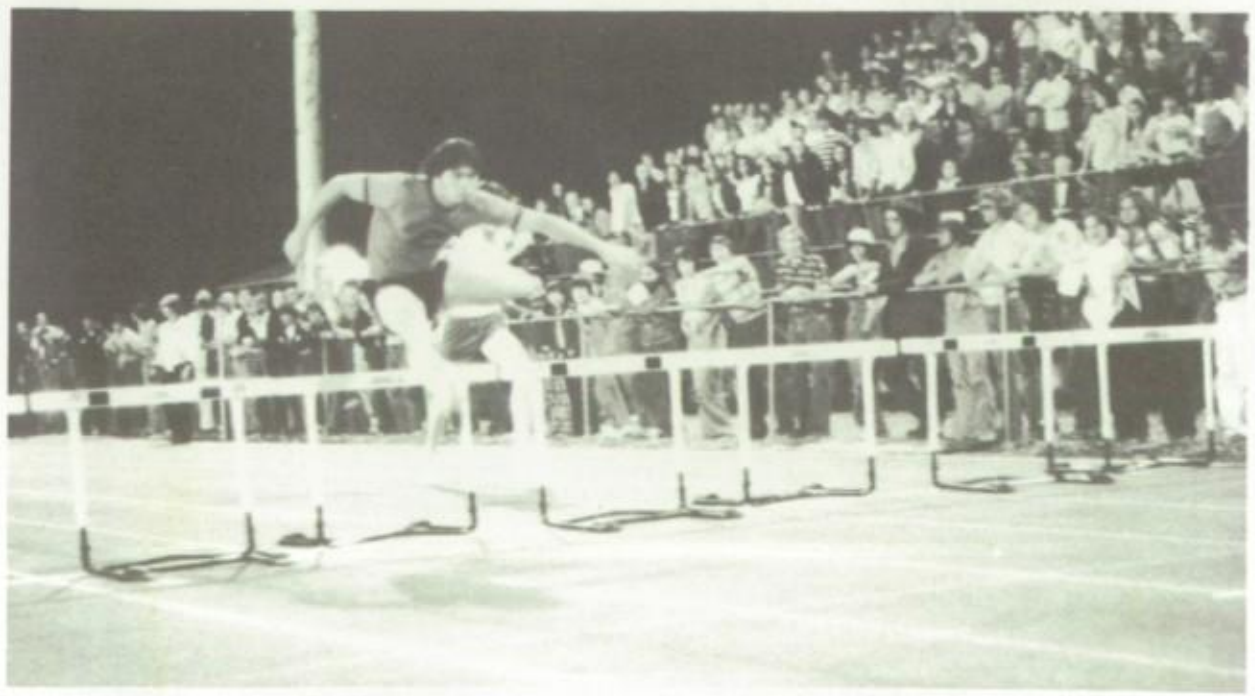
Yente, the matchmaker convinces Golda that she has found the perfect match for one of her daughters. Loren Lukens demonstrates his creativity in cermacis. "The Roaring 20's", swing choir from Vincennes University performed songs from "Godspell." English singing due performed folk music of Great Britain. Betty Wilson is leary of the next scientific demonstration. Mike Jackson, National Secretary of F.F.A. speaks on making the most of life.

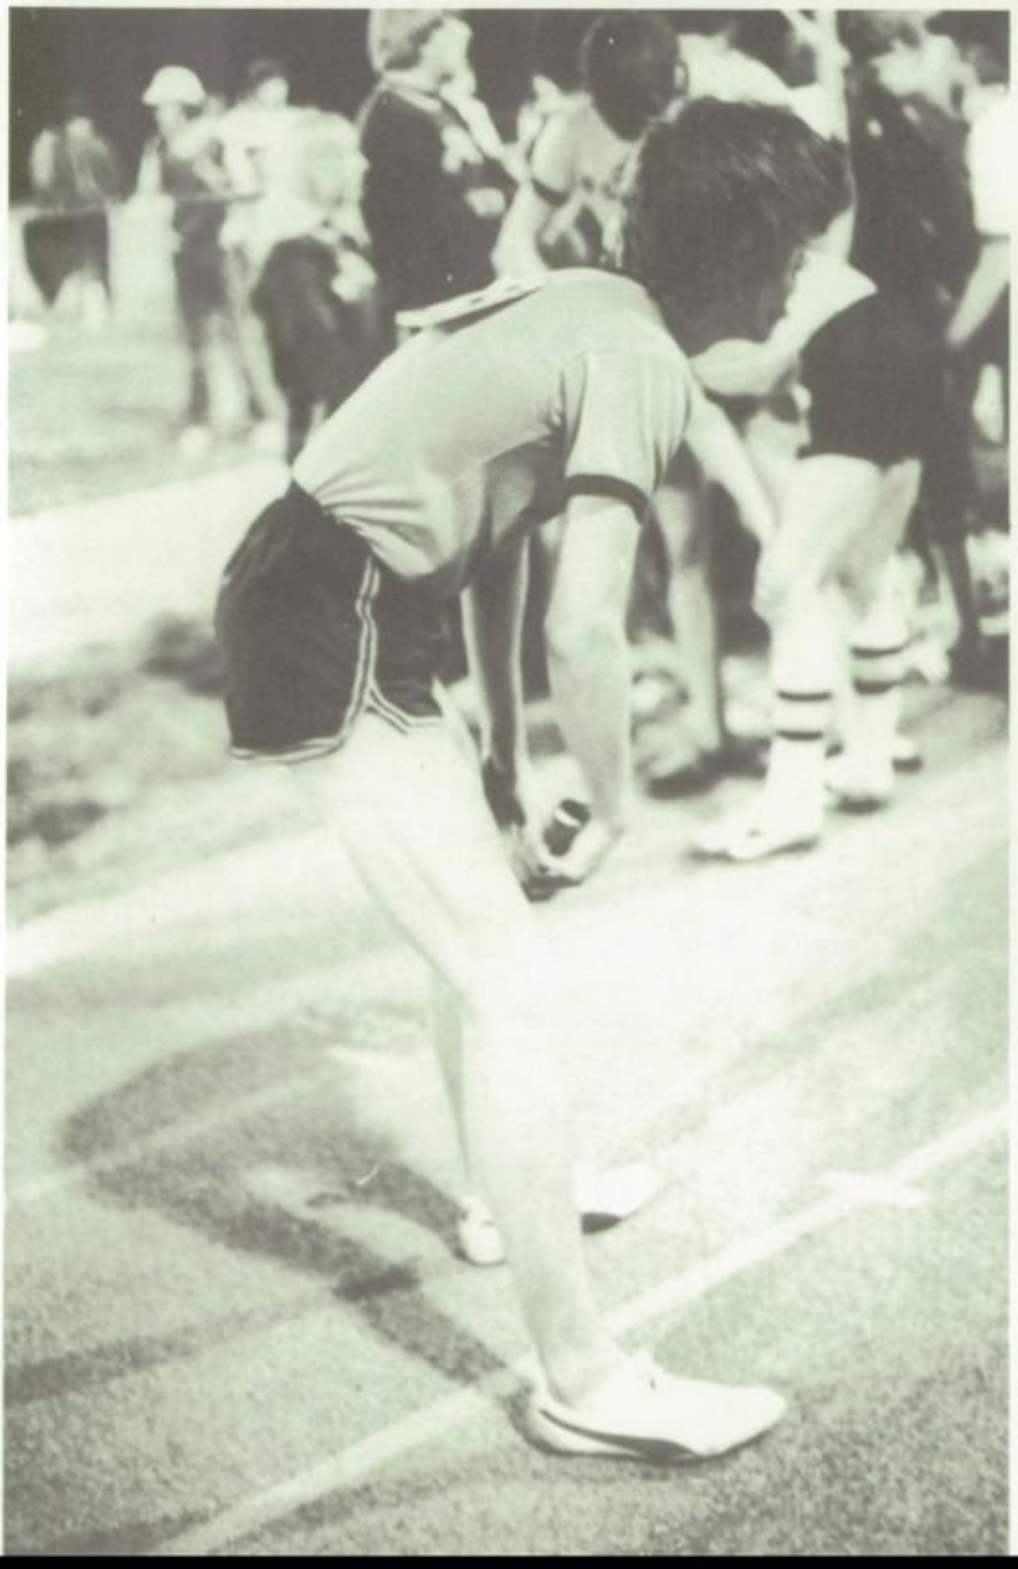


Charger Relays

Track and field events were highlighted in the invitational Charger Relays, with both boys and girls from area schools participating in the annual event. Our Charger boys took trophies in four events while the girls captured two.

Runners are briefed on relay rules. The relay queens award ribbons to the winners of the girls' events. Dale Elmore seems to glide over the hurdles.

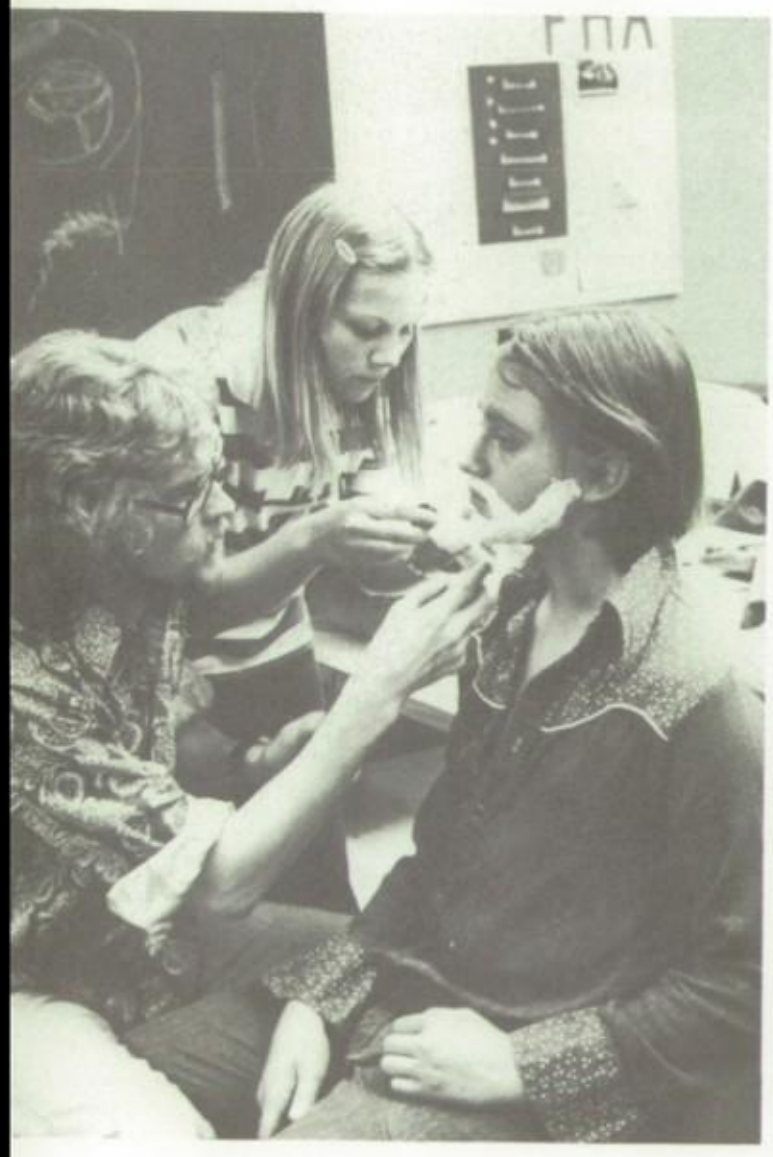




Another Charger clears another inch. Mitch Woodall takes the lead to win another Charger Relay. Anxiety is evident in the starting stance of Mike Woodall. 1976 Charger Relay Queens, Jeanna Odle, Karen Rogers, Joy Cohee and Terri Morgan.

"Fiddler on the Roof"

Auditions, set design, construction, lighting, sound, costuming, and make-up are all part of the agonizing effort in the preparation of a major musical production. The cast and crews for "Fiddler" were selected from over one hundred students who auditioned in early March with rehearsals running for eight difficult weeks. Under the stage direction of Mr. Grayson and the musical direction of Mrs. Earnshaw, the musical utilized expanded techniques of theatre and choreography. The Pit Orchestra, directed by Mr. Hiller, involved twenty musicians who, with the publicity, stage, and other supporting crews, made "Fiddler on the Roof" a tremendous success.



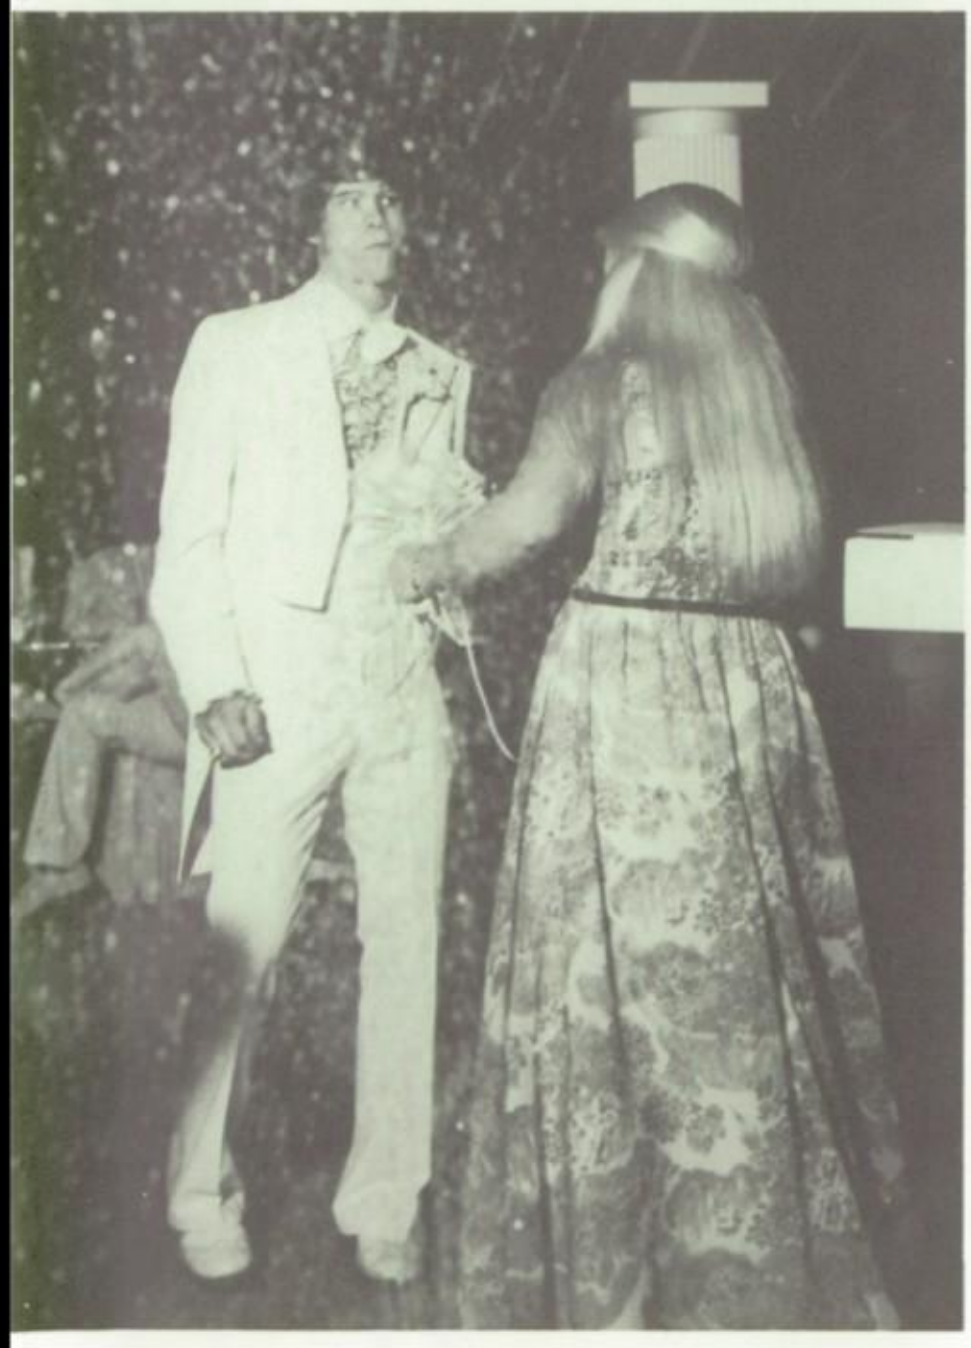
Golda (Cindy Harris) and daughters prepare the Sabbath meal. Mark Wachenshcwanz "grows" a beard with some help from Mr. Grayson and Kim Lough.

The family offers their "Sabbath Prayers" to God. Bryan Biddle as Tevye ponders, "Would it spoil some vast eternal plan, if I were a wealthy man?" "Sunrise, Sunset" from the Wedding Scene. The Rabbi (Jim Gillikin) performs the wedding ceremony. The ghost Fruma-Sarah (Joy Cohee) comes back from the grave to haunt Tevye. Men and women of the village of Anetevka break tradition by dancing together at the wedding. Apprehension shows on the faces of Tom Poynter, Tony Cassida, Jeff Chastain and Dale Padgett in the exciting "bottle dance".

As Time Goes On

Reflections of light danced across the floor and through the shimmering fountain of the space garden as guest of the Junior-Senior prom traveled through time with the sounds of Mandrake. Carrying out the elaborate theme of "As Time Goes On", were the unusual planet pebbles, moon chips and moon juices, served as refreshments. The entrance was highlighted with the futuristic time tunnel—one of the most dramatic entries ever used. The post prom activities were as outstanding and elaborate as the prom itself with casino games, pinball, swimming, old movies, video tape games and pizza being offered for all to enjoy.

The Space Garden was one of the highlights of the prom. Pam Michaels enjoys the evening.



Queen's Court—Jeff Klinker, Betty Wilson, King; Bruce McClamroch, Queen; Anna Gabriella Grundberg, Jane Ellis, Bryan Cowden, Stacey Cassity, Larry Verhey, Princess; Julie Corey, Prince; Greg Myers. Mist from the fountain adds a hint of fantasy as Rhonda Beck and date dance. Everyone seems to enjoy the sounds of Mandrake.

The top-ten graduating Seniors receive their hard-earned certificates of merit and recognition. Mary Gross receives congratulations as she is presented as the Valedictorian of the Bicentennial Class of 1976. Mary was also a co-winner as the Outstanding Mathematics student for the year. Donna Turner is presented her certificate as Salutatorian of her class. Donna was also a co-winner as Outstanding Mathematics student.

Awards Day

Bryan Biddle and Robbie Boots receive the "I Dare You Award" presented for personal courage and character. Mr. Grayson presents the gold National Honor Society cords to be worn by the Seniors during the Commencement exercises. Students express pride in the accomplishments of others. Over forty students were presented Hoosier Scholar Certificates by Mrs. Harlen and Mr. Speaker.

A proud moment for Jeff Klinker as he receives the Outstanding Art Student award from Mr. Swaggerle. Mr. Larew presents the Outstanding Agriculture Student award to Rick Ward. Mark Fiddler receives the Outstanding English Student award from Mr. Stenger. Monty Mitchell smiles as he receives the Outstanding Industrial Arts Student award from Mr. Beer.

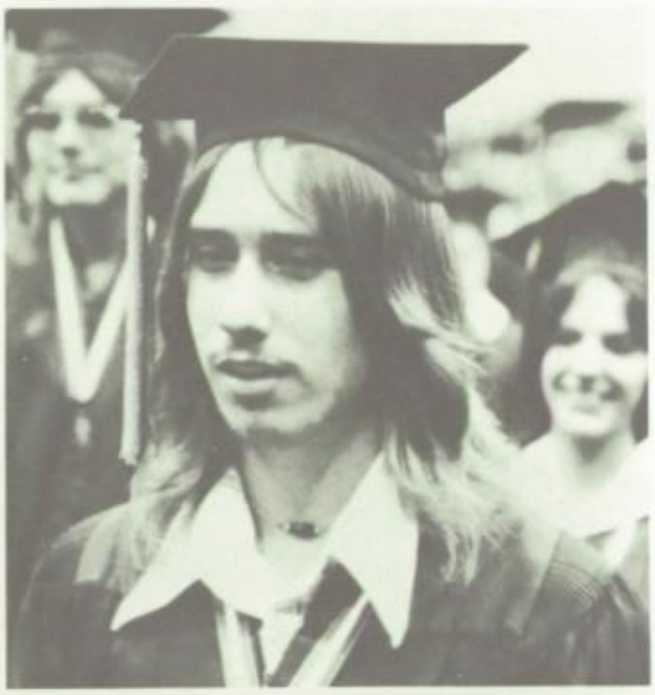
Mr. Seale presents Donna Turner the award for the Outstanding Student in Science.



With the burden of classes and schedules gone at last, the Seniors of 1976 met in the cafeteria for their last meal together. Thanks to help from the first semester graduates, some Kentucky Fried Chicken was smuggled in and greatly enjoyed.

Later, in the gym, anxious Seniors fidgeted in their seats as Mr. Crosier briefed them on the graduation program. Paper wads and airplanes flew as high as their spirits and their minds were preoccupied with thoughts of "freedom at last!"

Mr. Dickerson was presented with a plaque as a token of appreciation for all the help he had given the class.

After practicing filing in and out of the gym, the Seniors were freed until Saturday evening, the last time they had to show up at school: Graduation.

They All Came To See Us

Valedictorian, Mary Gross, expressed her convictions on "The Virtue of Achievement."

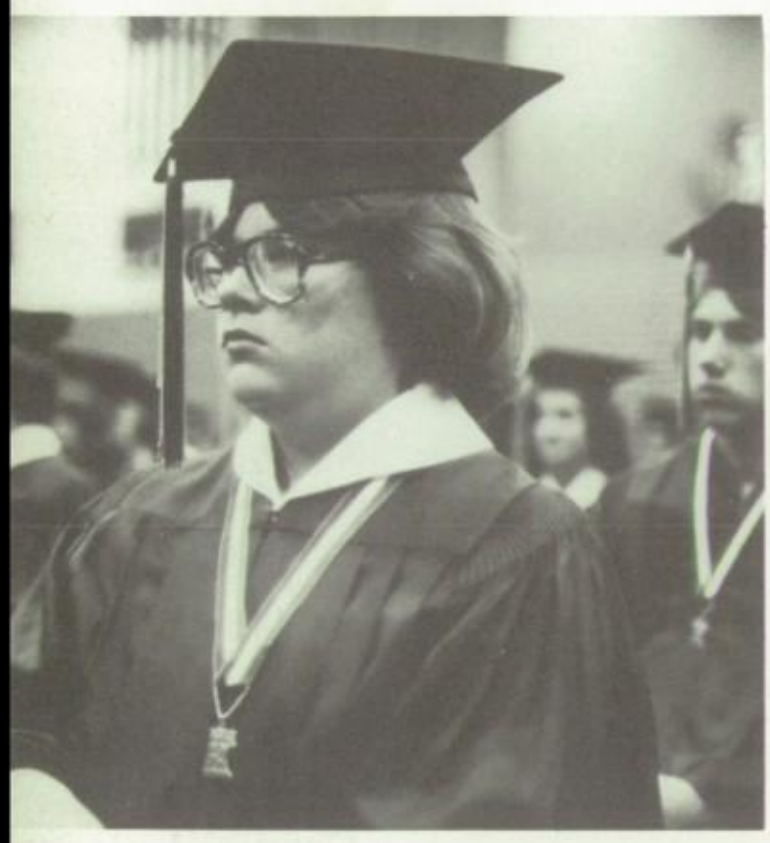
"To Where From Here" was the theme of Donna Turner's salutatory address.

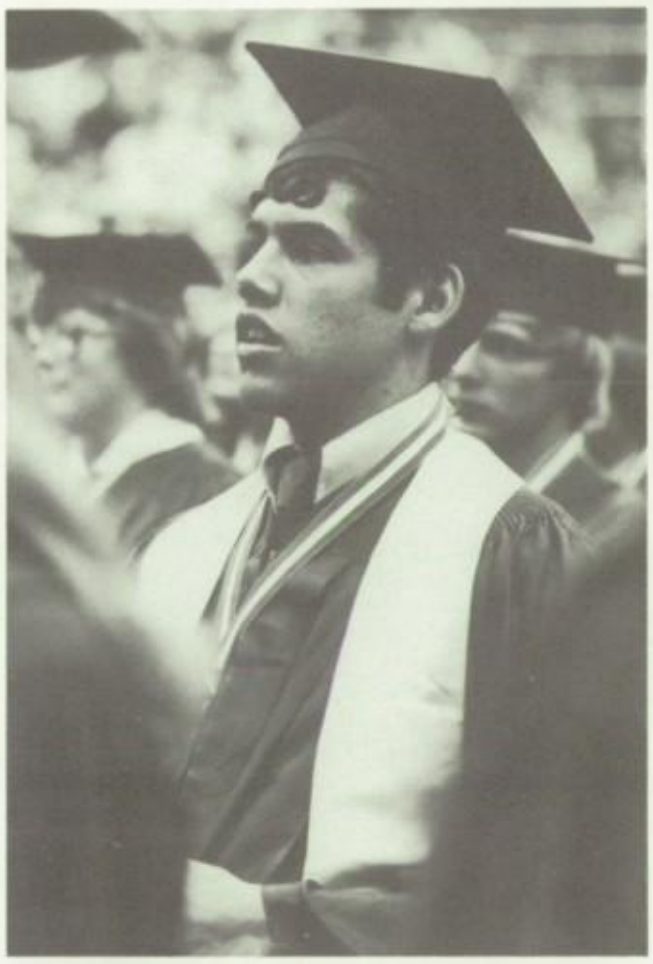
This one night was for them, so they could see what represented the culmination of twelve years of work and study. The night of May 29, 1976 was a hot and humid one. Programs were used as fans. Despite the heat and the crowd, they sat patiently and watched and listened because they were proud of us. And whether we wanted to admit it or not, we were glad they came.

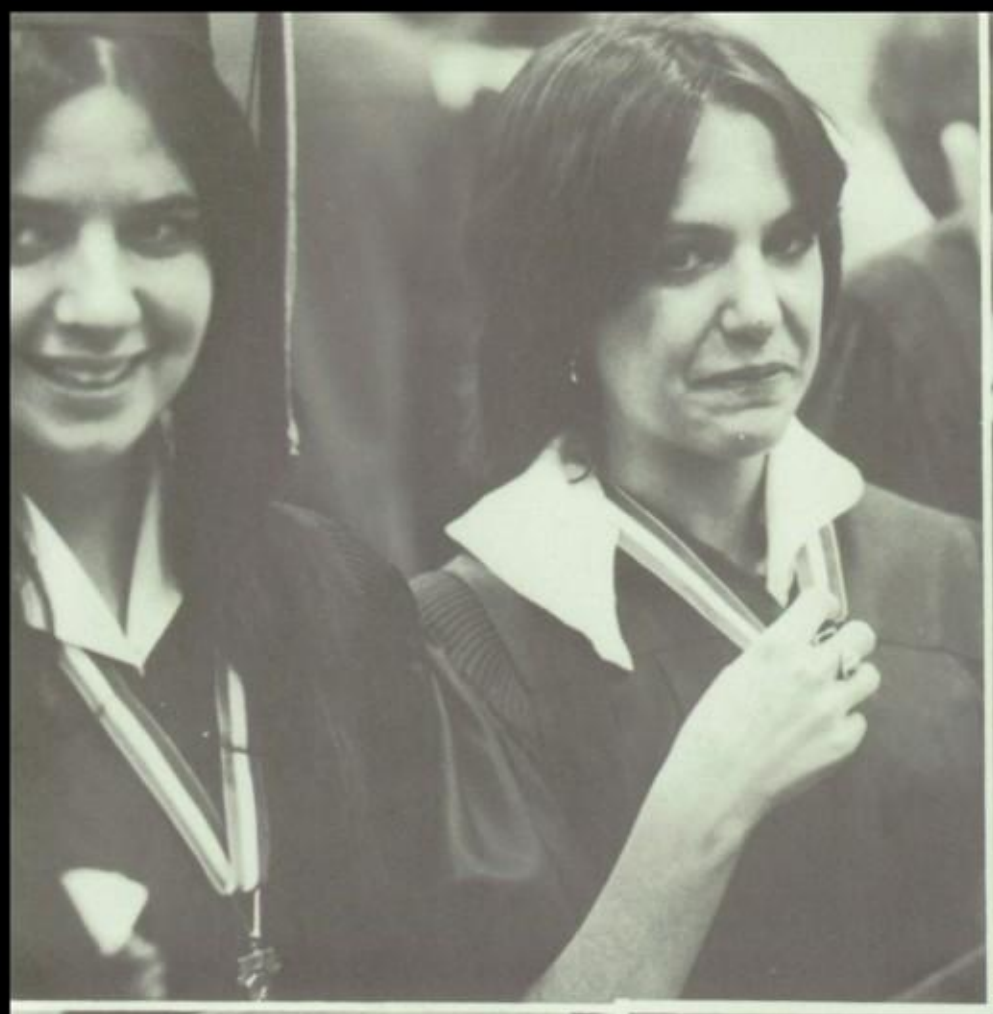
Harry Gonzo, an Indianapolis attorney and former quarterback on I.U.'s Rose Bowl team, gave the Commencement Address. The graduates listened intently to the advice of Rev. Homer Hunsinger.

We sat, absorbed in our individual thoughts. Should we be joyous because it's over? Should we be afraid because there is so much more to face, or should we just sit still and get this over. The years ahead may provide the answers.

The soft sounds of the choir singing "Where The Roads Come Together" and the band's selection from "The Man of LaMancha" helped calm our somewhat frazzled nerves. We accepted our diplomas hoping not to trip on the stairs. Then our class president, Mark Chenoweth led us in the turning our tassels. Now we are truly graduates. The reward has finally come.







Look to this day
For it is life
The very life of life.
In its brief course lie all
The realities and truths of existence
The joy of growth
The splendor of action
The glory of power.
For yesterday is but a memory
And tomorrow is only a vision
But today well lived
Makes every yesterday a memory
of happiness
And every tomorrow a vision of hope.
Look well, therefore, to this day!

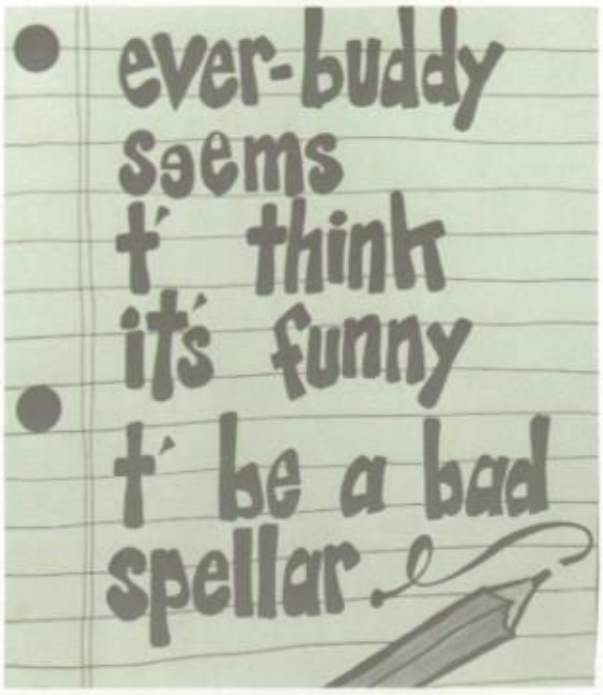
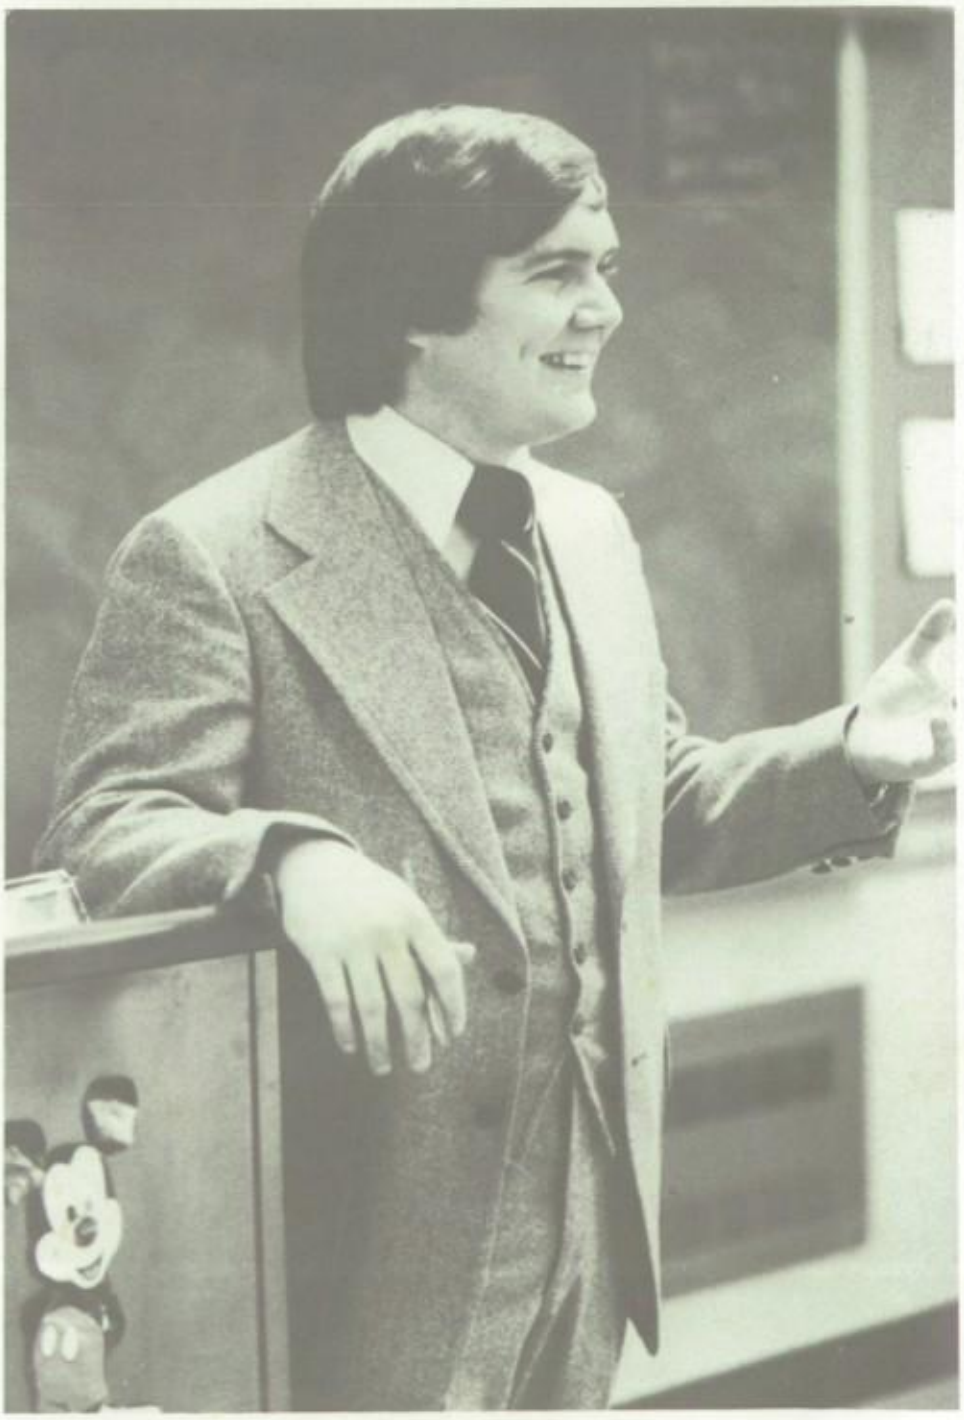
ACADEMICS

English Is The Primary

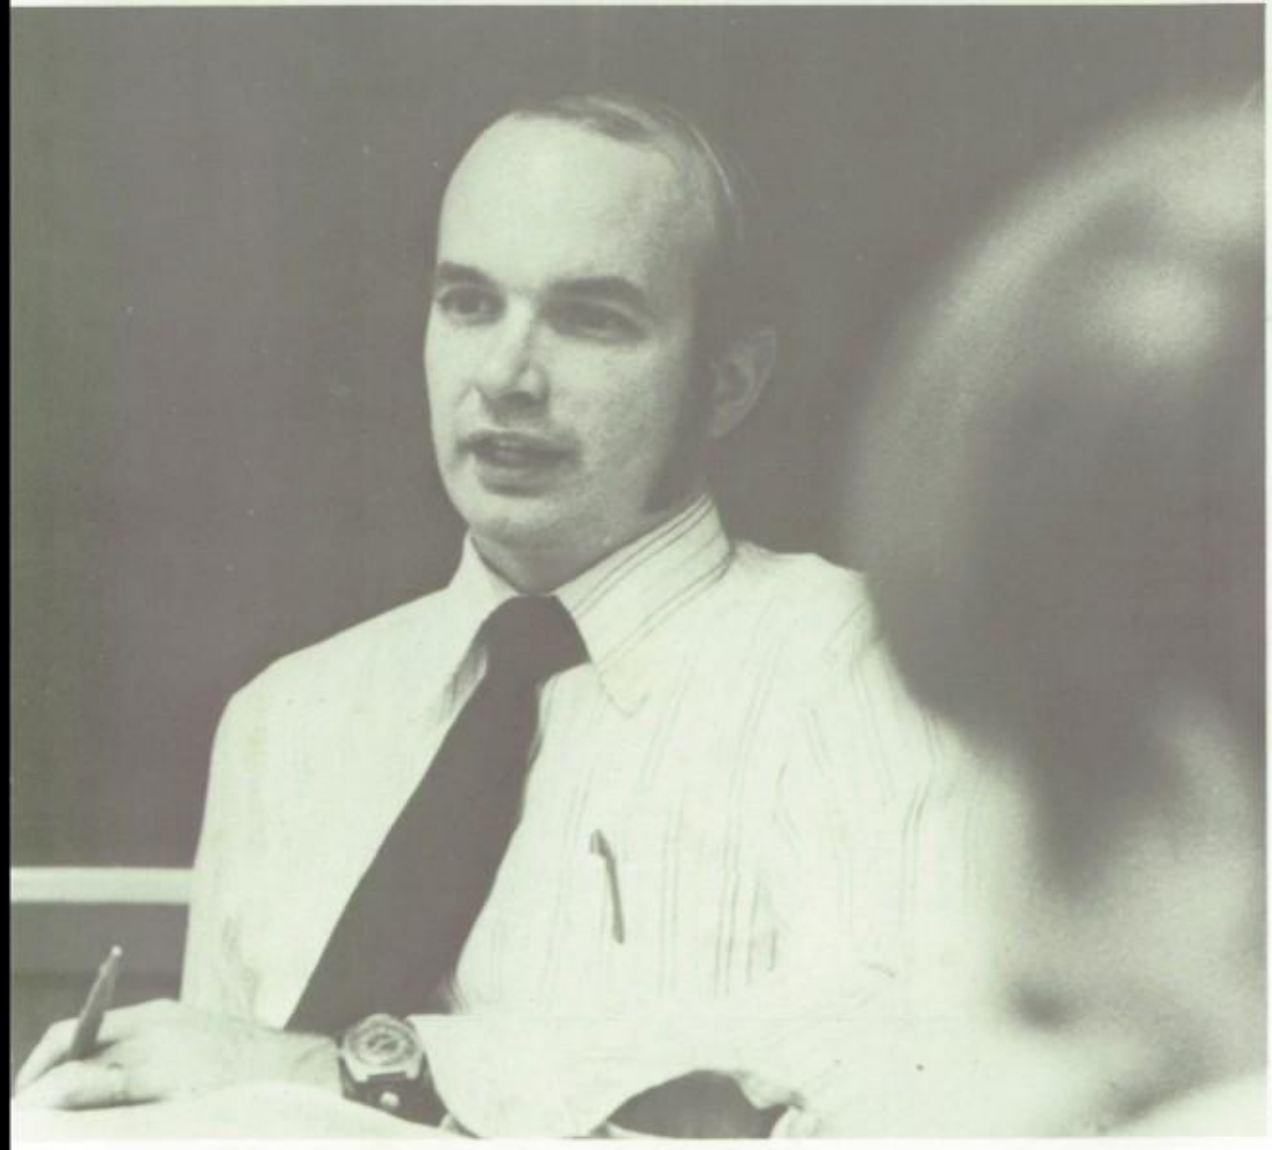




Mr. Burke listens intently to students' questions. Mr. Grayson reacts to students' ideas in Creative Writing. Max (Hoke) and Mickey (Mouse) make a point!

Tool Of Communication

A variety of composition, literature, and speech courses make the English Department one of diverse learning opportunities. From grade nine through grade twelve, students are provided a learning situation that enables them to develop skills which further enhance their ability to communicate and interpret communication.



Miss Burton ponders the final grade of a term paper. Mr. Stenger discusses journalistic reporting. Mark Evans takes advantage of in-class study time.

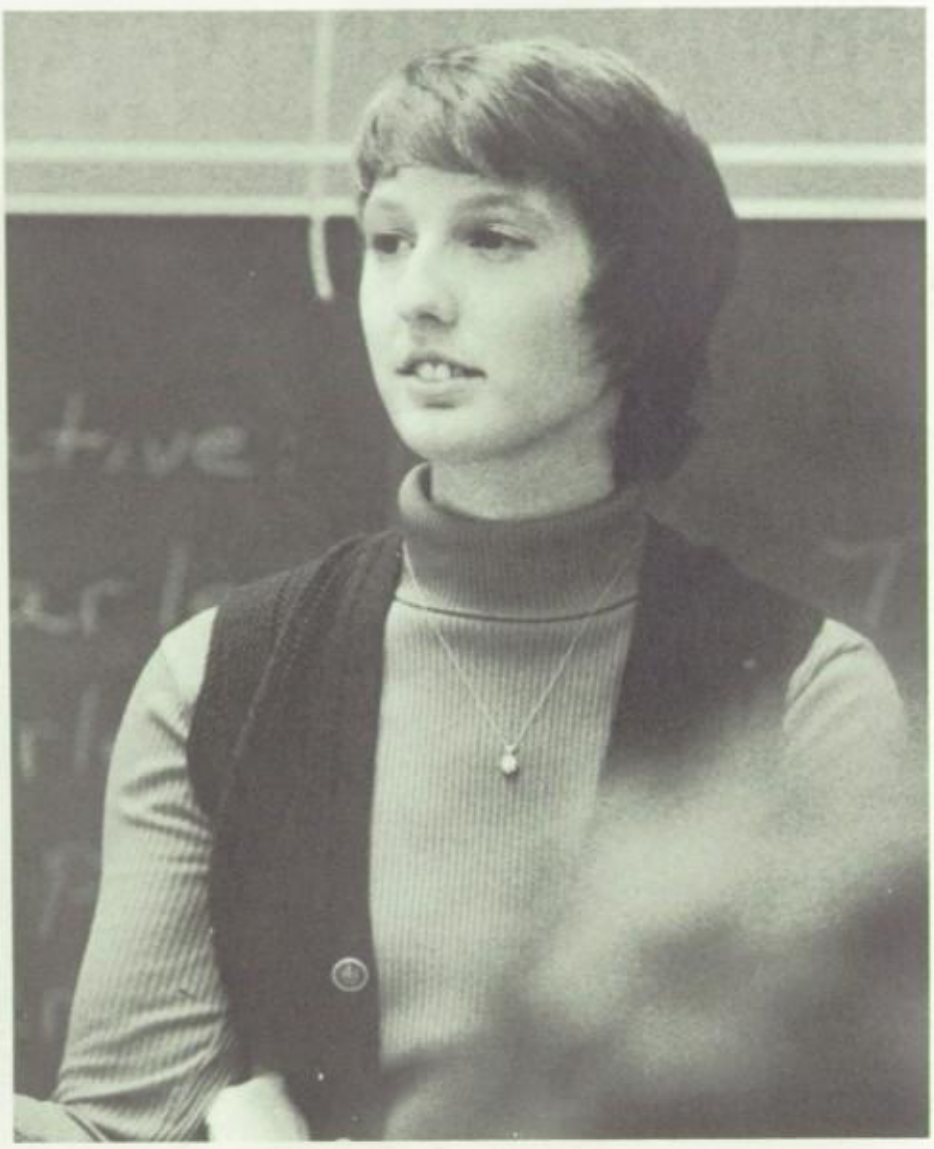
Enrichment

Teaching the cultures and traditions of other ways of life is a big part of the Foreign Language Department's total teaching concept of other languages. Students not only learn the language that they are studying, but also are exposd to an indepth study of the people of the earth who speak the language. In an effort to stress this teaching concept, the Foreign Language Department sponsors a Culture Week in February. A practical knowledge of the language and people of Spain was gained when Mrs. Gumz and seven students flew to Spain during the Spring break.

Spanish teacher Mrs. Gottschalk asks, ¿Comprenden Uds.? Tom Poynter and Kim Hudson prepare to break open a piñata.

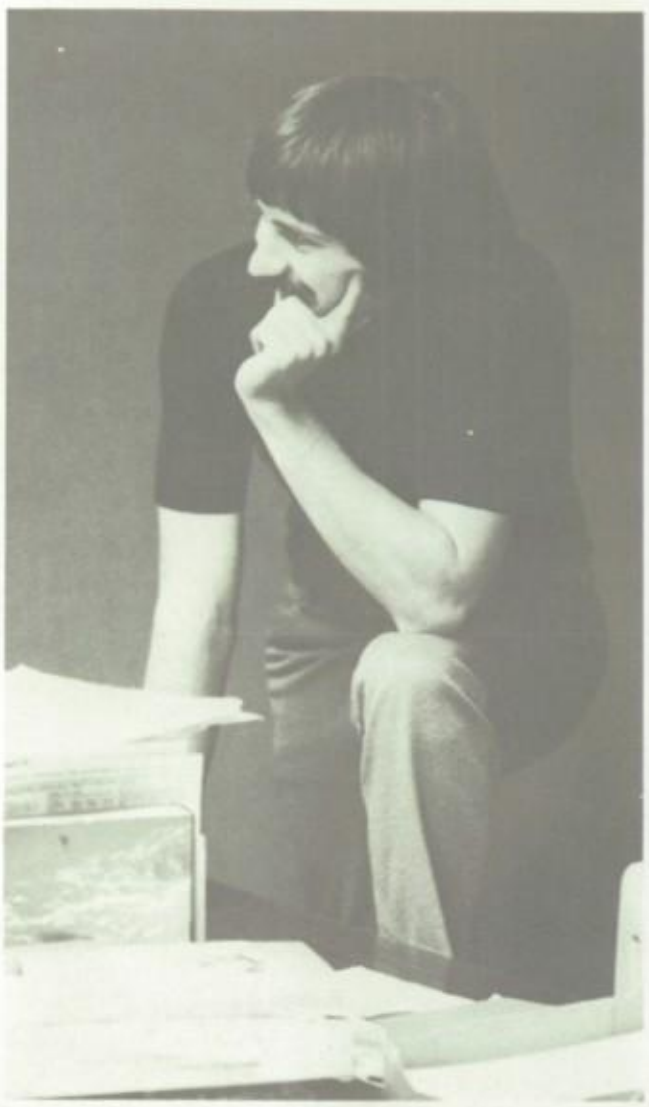
From Other Cultures

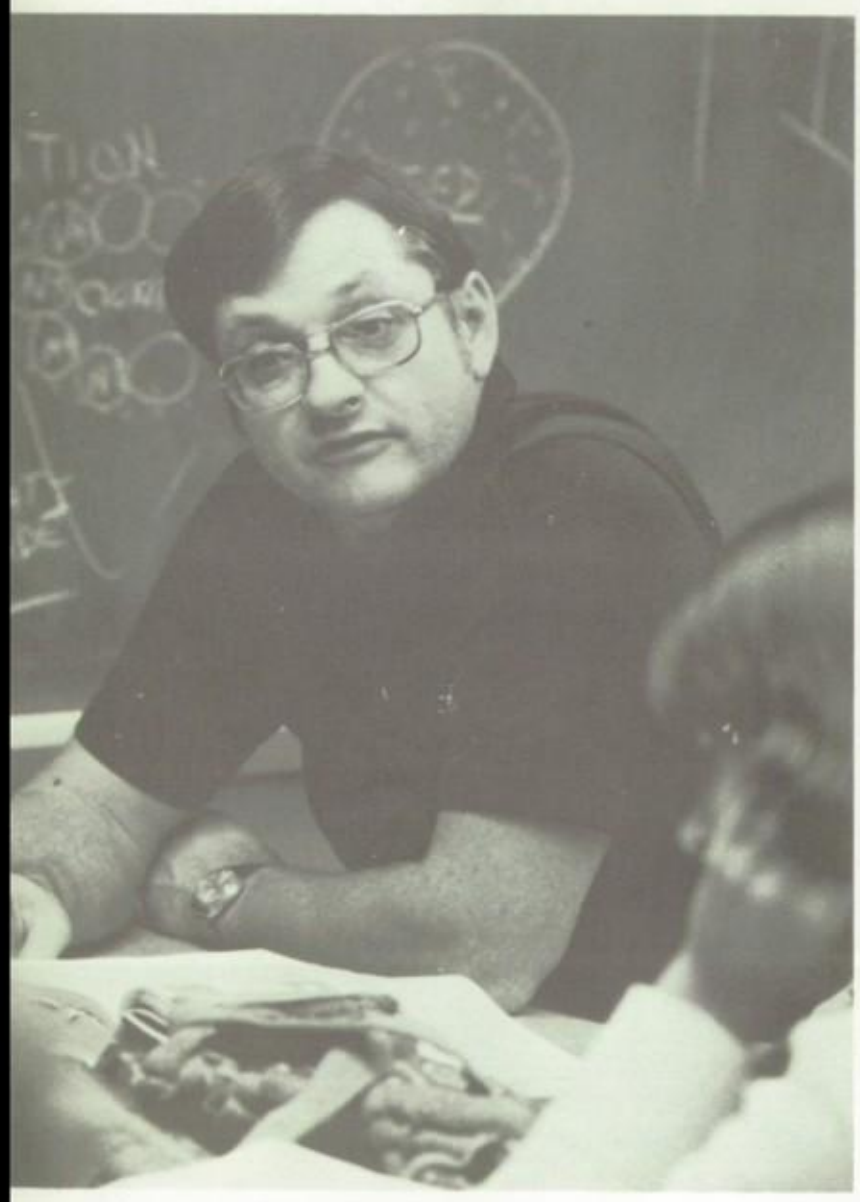
Spanish teacher and Dept. Chairwoman, Mrs. Gumz. Mrs. McIntosh, French and English instructor. Miss Tatge, German and English instructor.

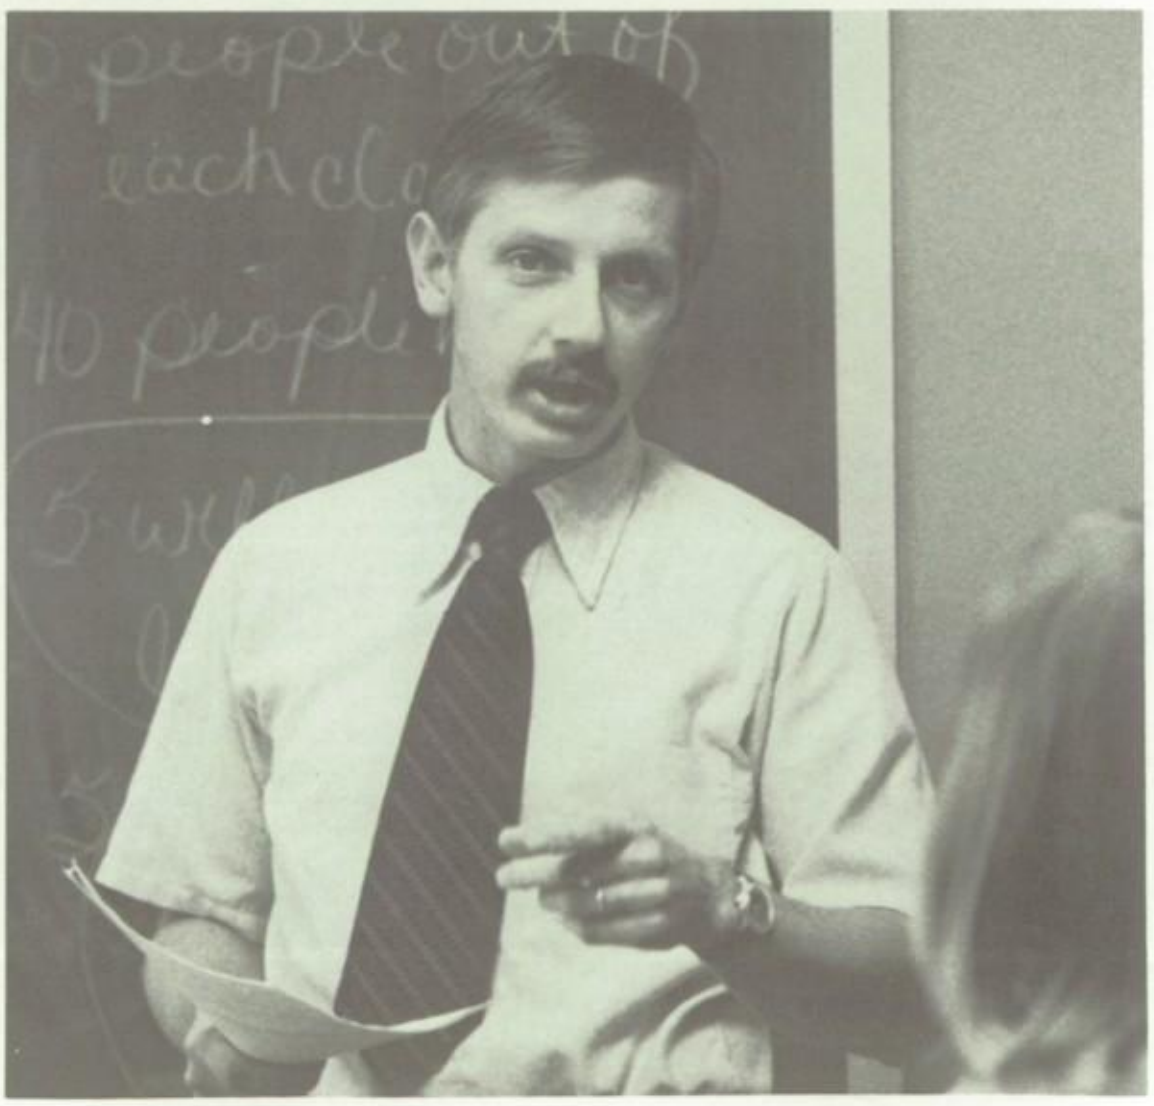


¿Qué te pasa calabaza? ¡Nada, nada, limonada! Parlez-vous francais? Können Sie das auf deutsch wiederholen?

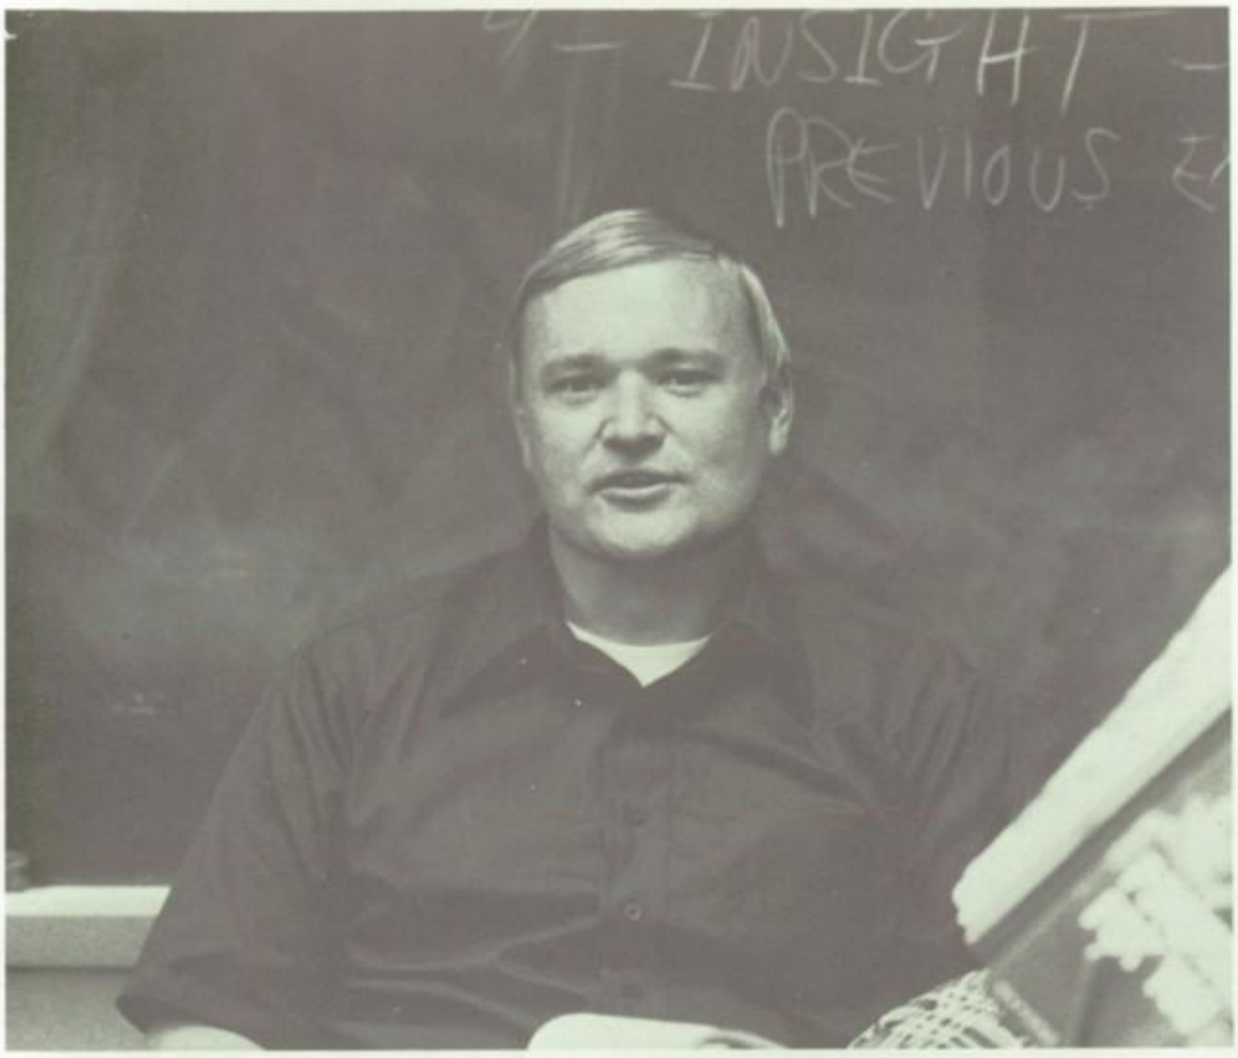
Mr. Phelps takes a casual approach to the situation. Deeply involved, Mr. Horney leads discussion in the group. Mr. Spencer puts his finger on the problem.







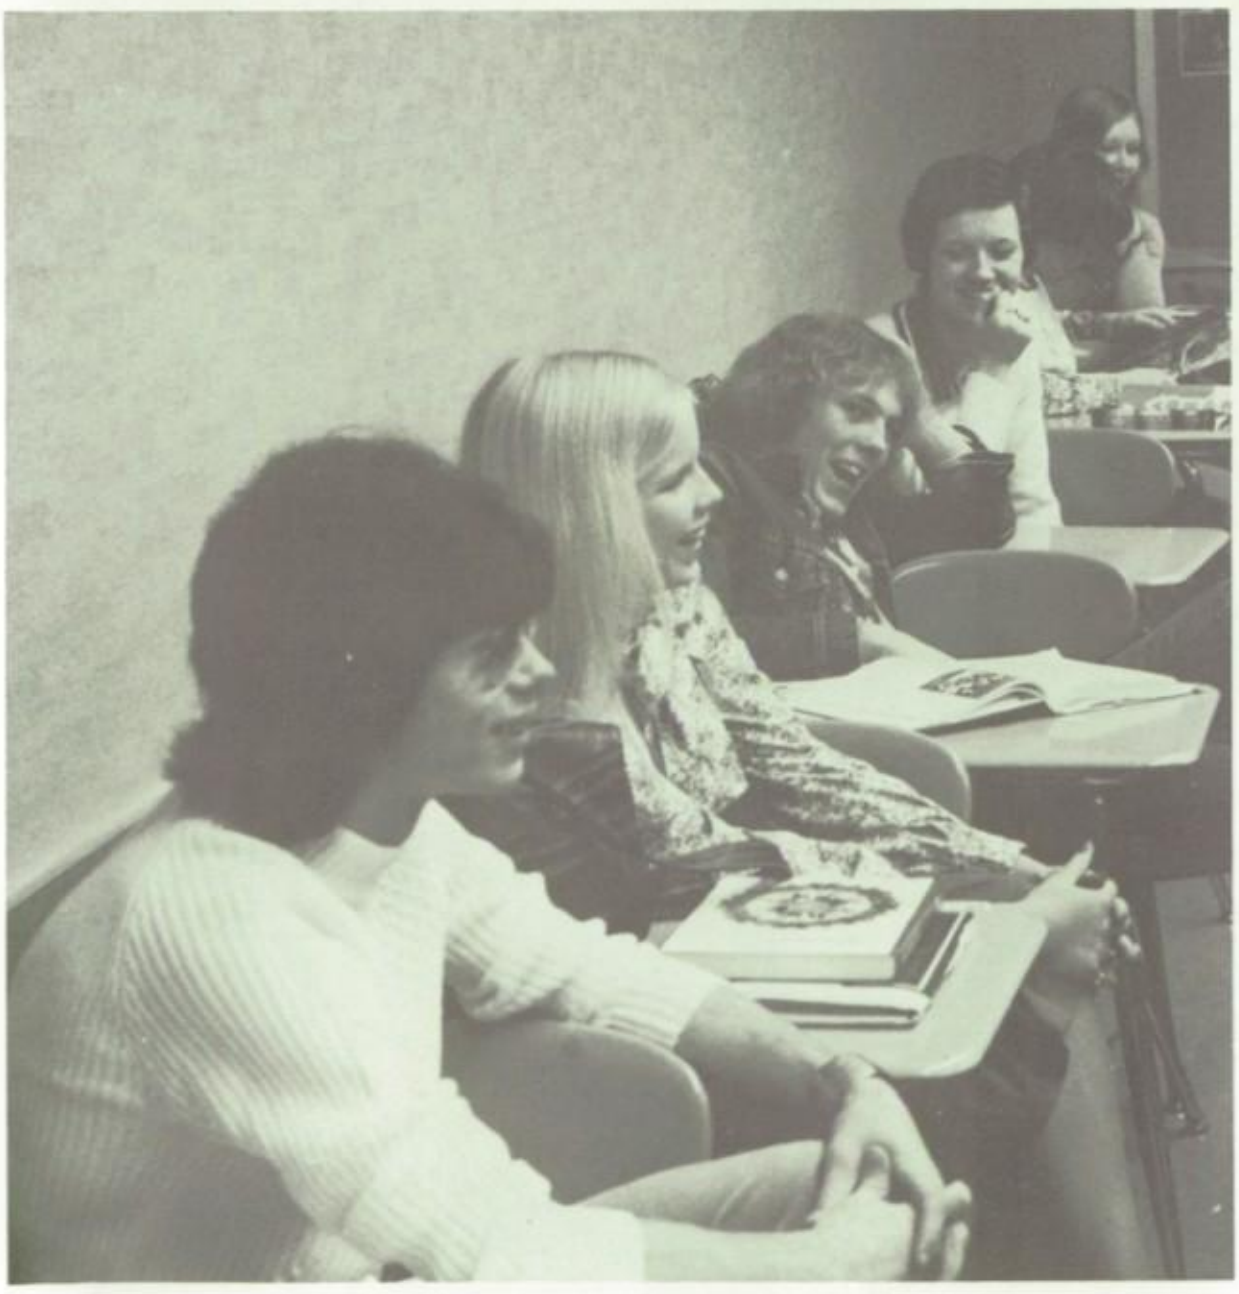
A Year Of Awareness



Points in American History become extremely relevant in a Bicentennial year. At N.M.H.S., the Social Studies Department focuses on our nation's history from both historical and social view points. The curriculum is innovative and highly individualized through group instruction techniques and testing.

Social Studies serve to equip graduates with an understanding of the social processes and therefore prepare better citizens for the community.

Mr. Lefebvre—"You gotta be kidding!" Mr. Hughes listens patiently to another "late assignment" story. Mr. Lefebvre's 4th period "abnormal" psychology class.



Science Students Learn

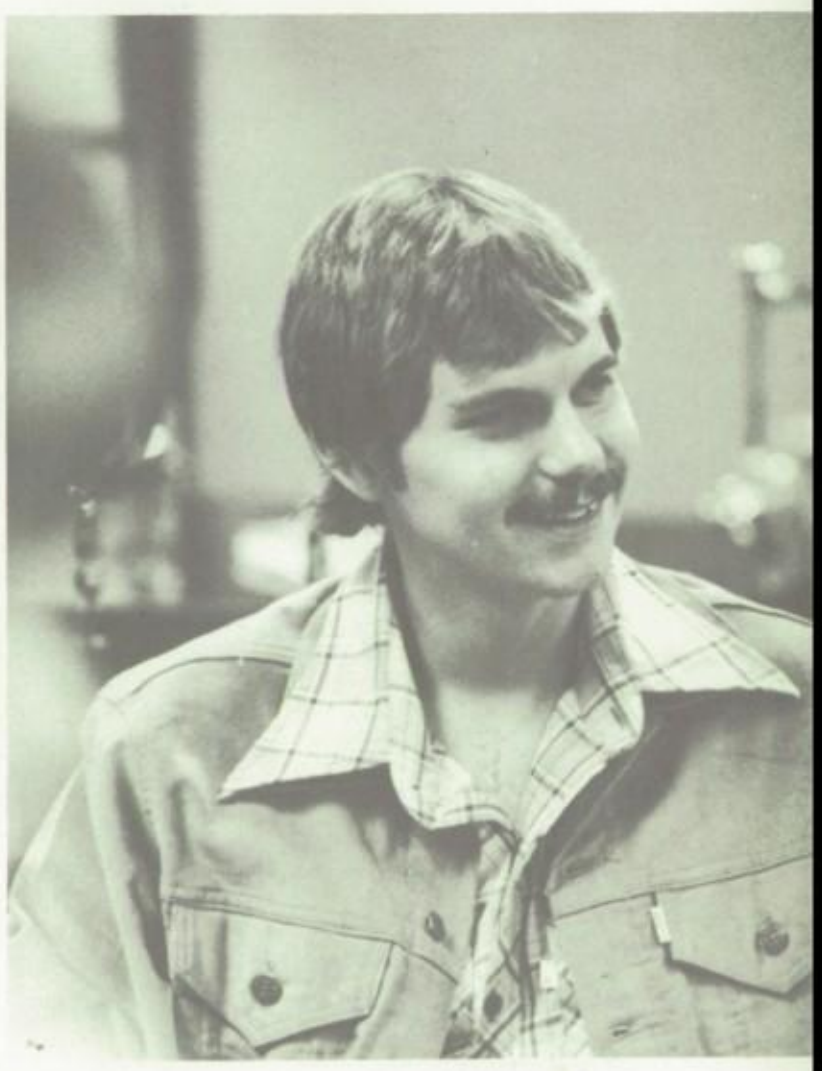
By Doing

Research and experimentation are the key elements to a complete learning experience in the Science Department. The continuous review and use of the omnipresent elements and procedure of the sciences allow the students to have a learning experience through applicaton of theories. Courses made available to students include Chemistry, Physics, and Biology.



Photographic "know how" is one of Mr. Seale's contributions to the Science Dept. Heather O'Neil cautiously mixes chemicals in Chemistry I class. Mr. Dalton exchanges laughs with students.

Art And Music Get Students Involved

In beginning art courses, the basic elements and principles of design are emphasized and applied to student projects. In advanced classes, students work extensively in oil painting and printmaking. Ceramics, crafts, and interior design courses allow much individual expression while teaching the basic skills of the various media.

Advanced art teacher, Mr. Swagerle gives some tips to Kelly Perkins. Ms. McBride explains a pot-throwing technique.

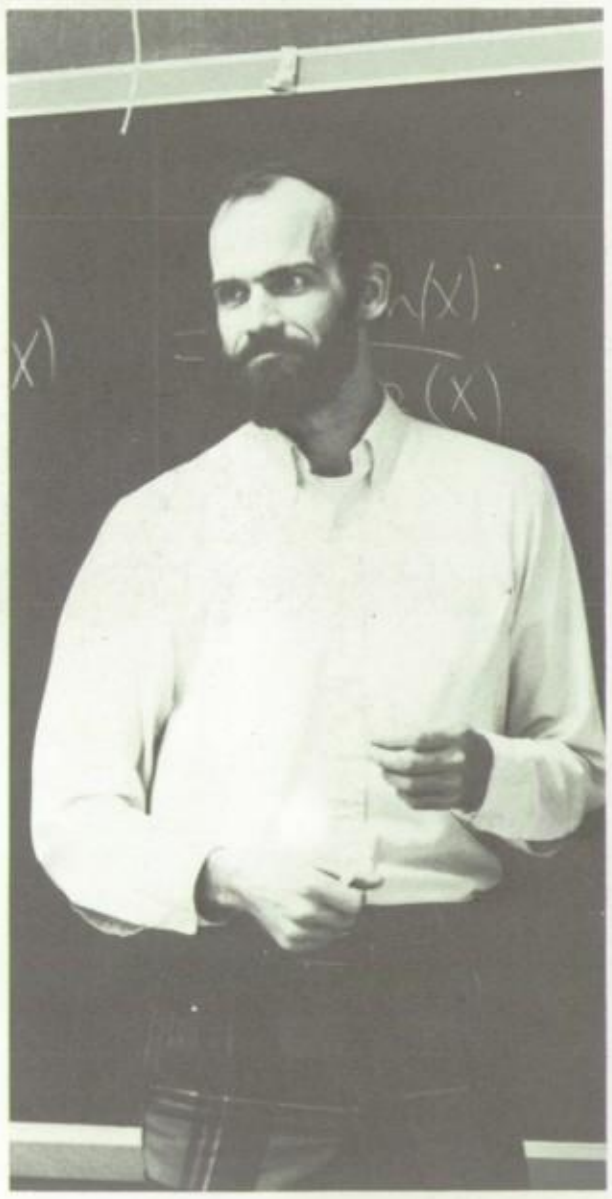
Mrs. Earnshaw points out last minute details before a concert. Vocal fundamentals are developed in Cadet Choir.

One of the school's most active curricular areas is the Music Department. Both the Instrumental and Vocal courses stress the development of musical skills and attitudes through extensive rehearsals, performances, and participation in contest auditions. Symphonic Band provides football halftime entertainment and then is transformed into the major concert band of the school. Cadet Band is composed of underclassmen and some upperclassmen learning a second instrument. Concert Choir, Girls' Chorale, and the Cadet Choir are the offerings of the Vocal Department.

Mr. Hiller gives it "the old one-and-a-two-and-a . . ."

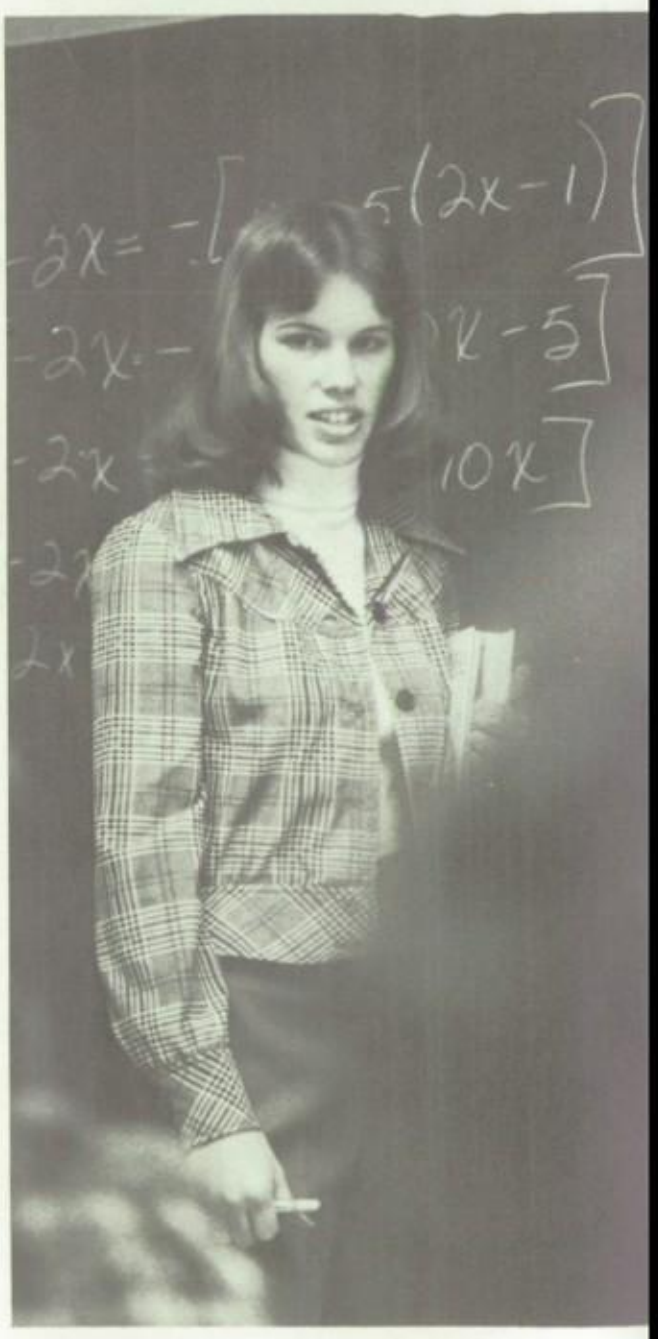
$$V = \frac{1}{3}\pi h(R_1^2 + R_2^2 + R_1 R_2)$$

Basic Math, General Math, Algebra I and II, Geometry and Senior Math are courses contributing to the structure and forming the basis of the Math Department. Constant use of basic mathematical skills keeps the students capable and inclined to further develop their skills in the area of mathematics through classroom participation, homework assignments and testing.



Mr. Bryant explains basic identities to his trigonometry class.

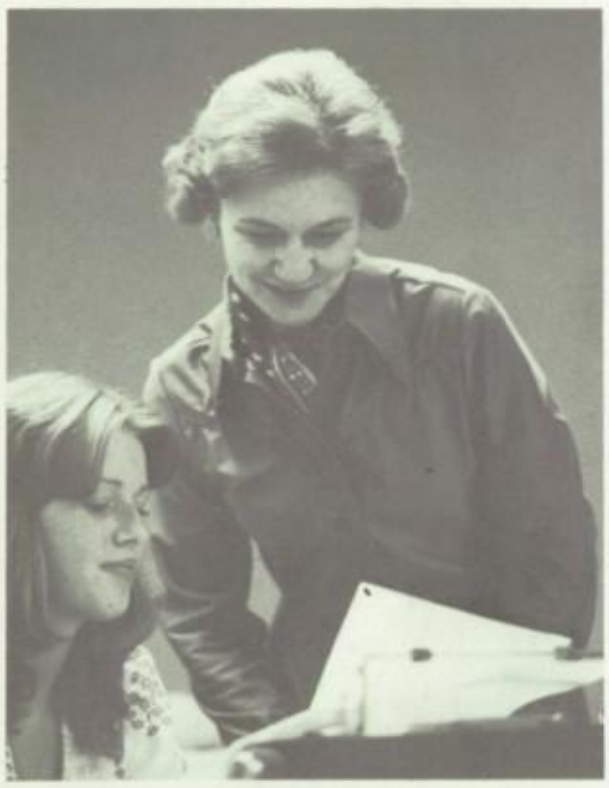
Mr. Strong "hams" for the camera. Even Math can be pleasant with the smiling face of Mrs. Richards.

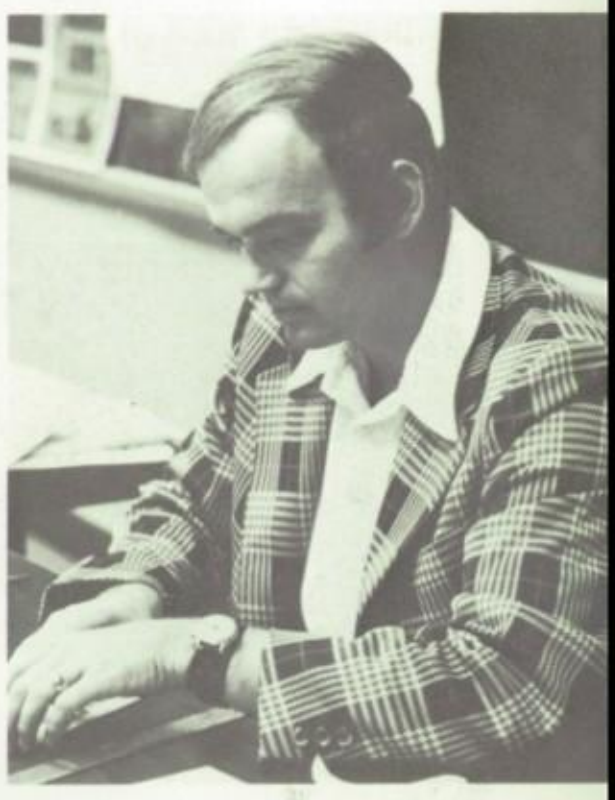


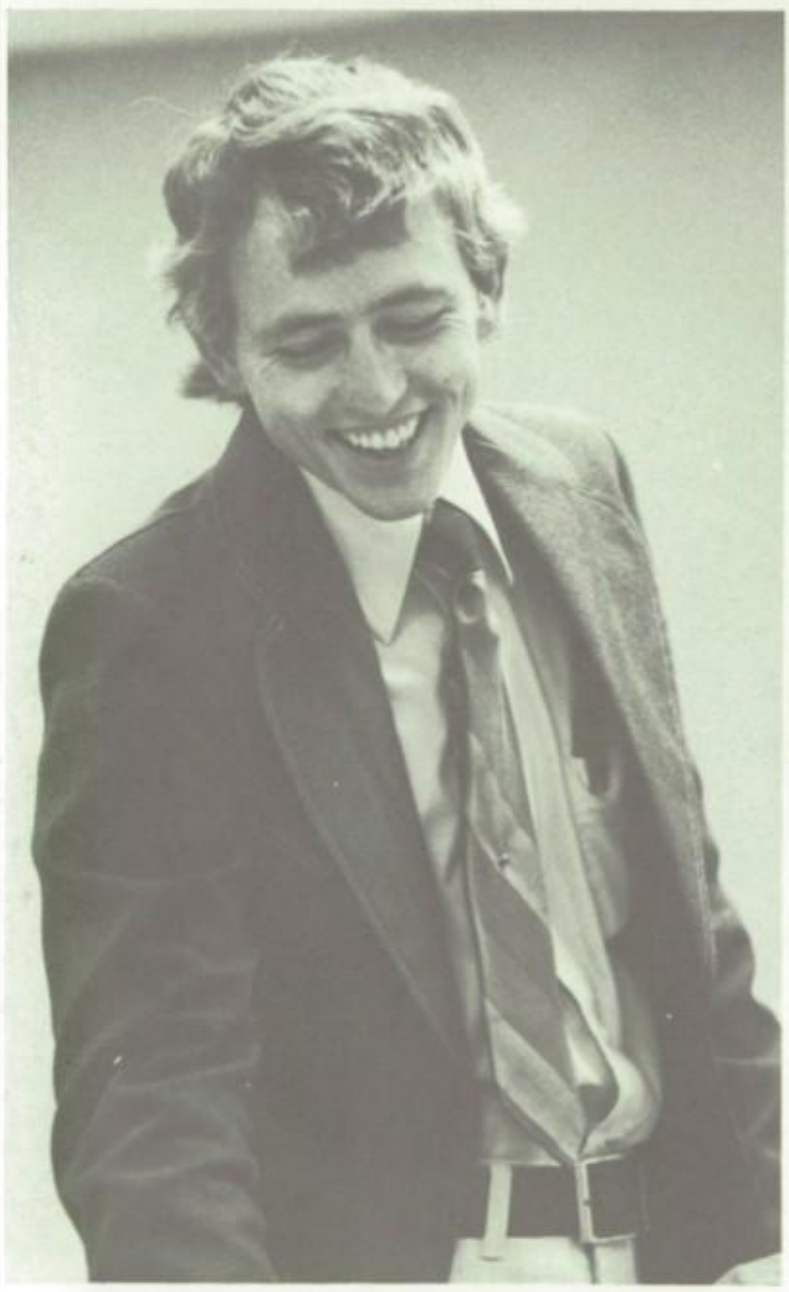
Miss Reesor writes an Algebra problem on the board for her students.

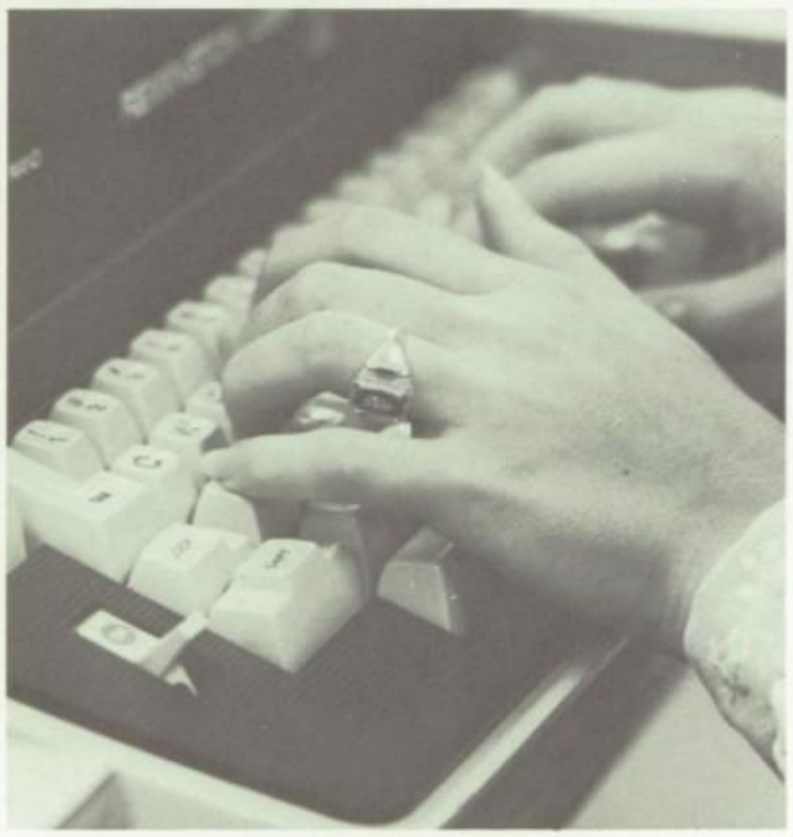
Striving For Perfection

Striving for perfection is the policy and overall objective of the Department of Business. To help achieve this, instruction is correlated with indepth learning of business fundamentals, and a close student-teacher rapport is provided for a more positive atmosphere of learning.







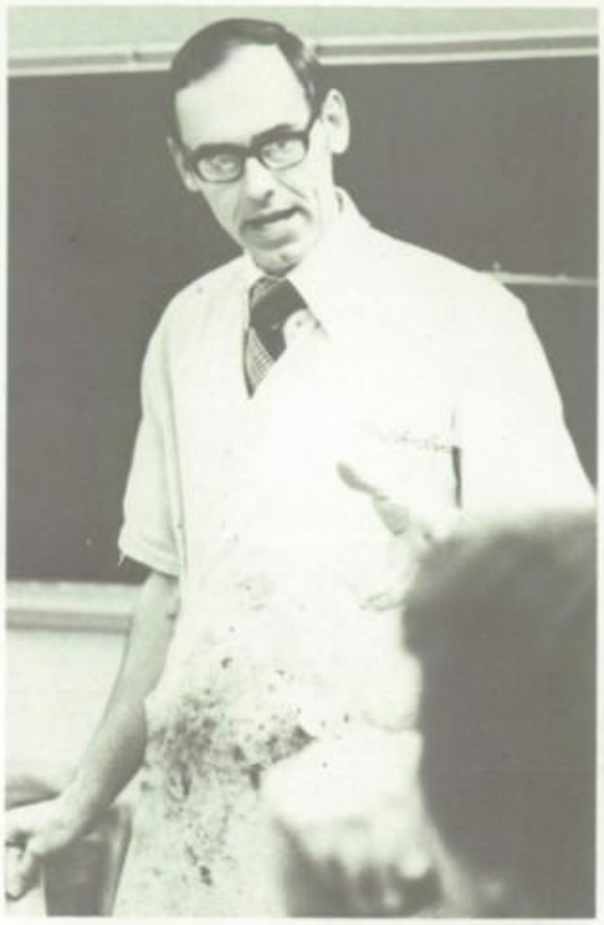


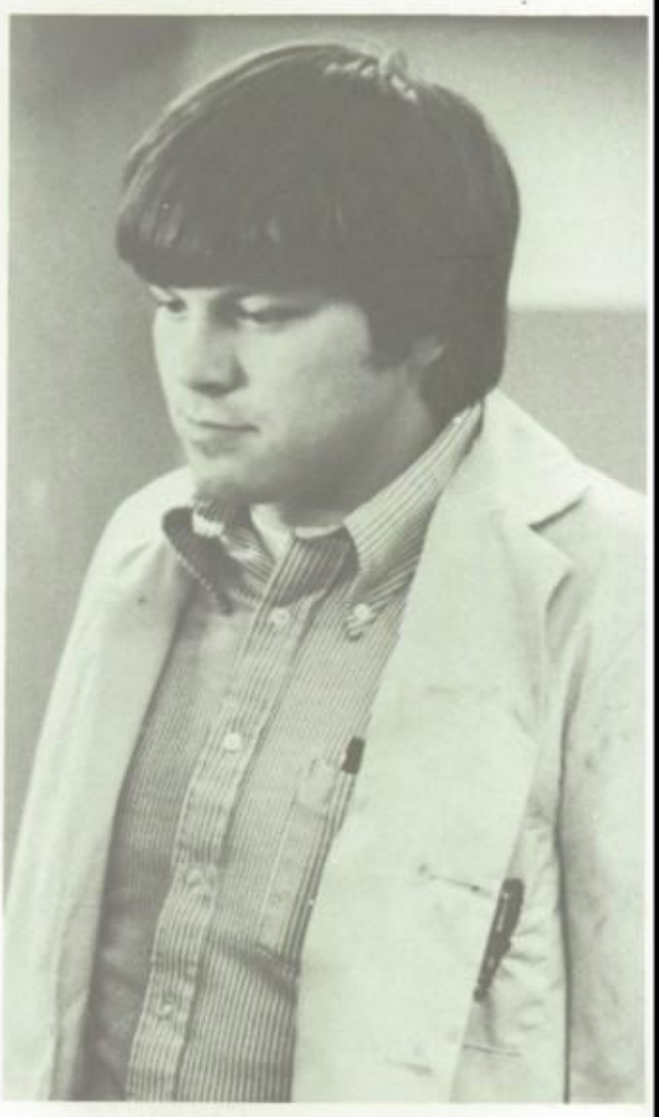
Karen Clouser "clowns" with Mr. Dickerson in typing class. Close attention to detail is necessary in Mrs. Crumley's Intensive Office Lab. Mr. Kriston prepares for his next hour class. A rare occasion—seeing Mr. Brewer smile.

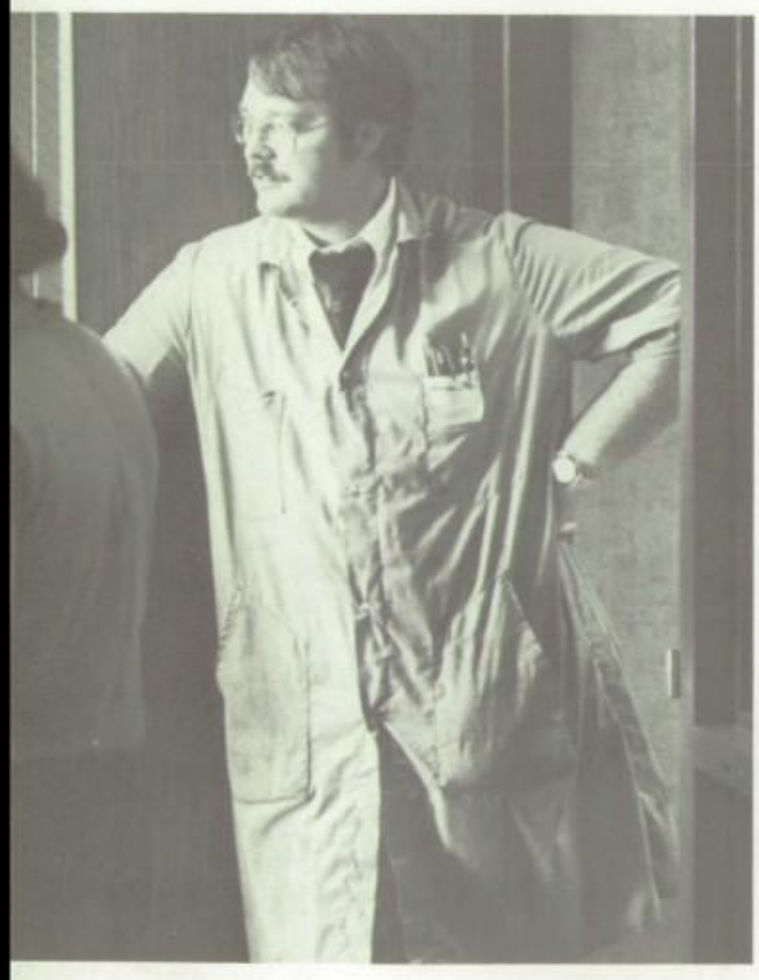
Industrial Arts—Vo-Agriculture

Educational opportunities in the fields of electricity, metal, graphic arts and wood continue to be the basis upon which the Industrial Arts Department operates. By exposing students to these areas of study, preparations are made for continued industrial education or for direct placement in the job market upon graduation.

Learning by doing is the policy of the Vo-Ag Department. The new greenhouse program proves to be a profitable and educational endeavor. Students learn all aspects of its operation from seedbedding to sales, and provide not only a fine service for N.M.H.S. consumers, but also receipts to keep the greenhouse and other curricular projects in operation.



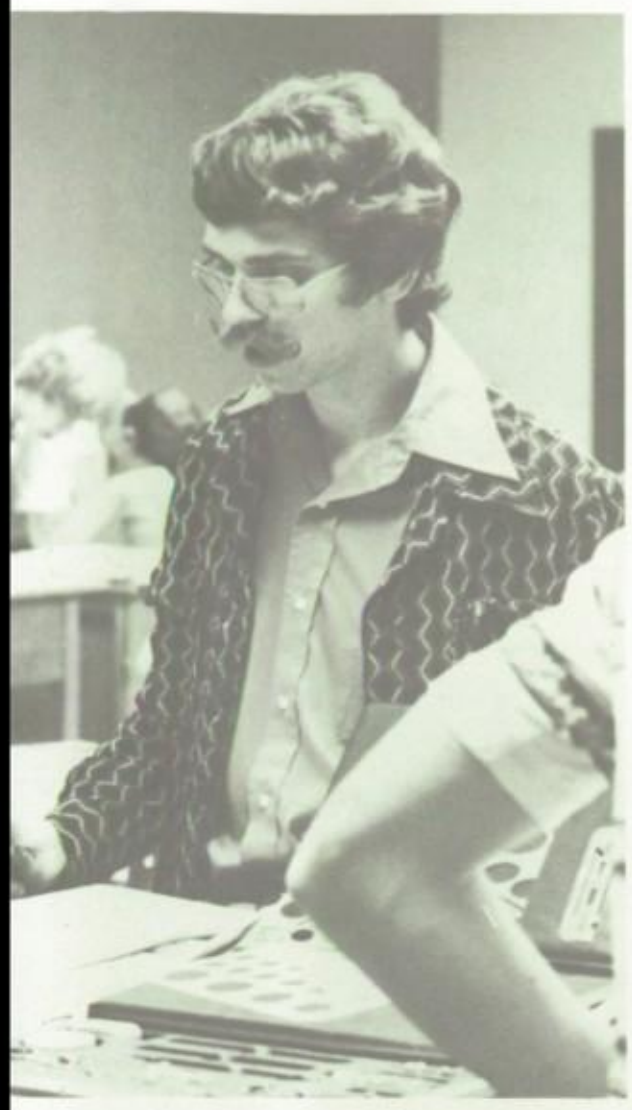




Mr. Beer observes his students as they complete their assignments.

Mr. VanArsdel explains techniques used in Graphic Arts. Paul Michael learns how to operate the printing press in Graphic Arts class.

Mr. Bell observes his students to insure proper safety in Power Mechanics. Mr. Hatke prepares for his next plastics class.



Mr. Stuffle teaches his drafting students the correct form used in drawing. Mr. Nelson lectures to his students about their future plans.

Hobe Mennen helps Mr. Vance in the green house.

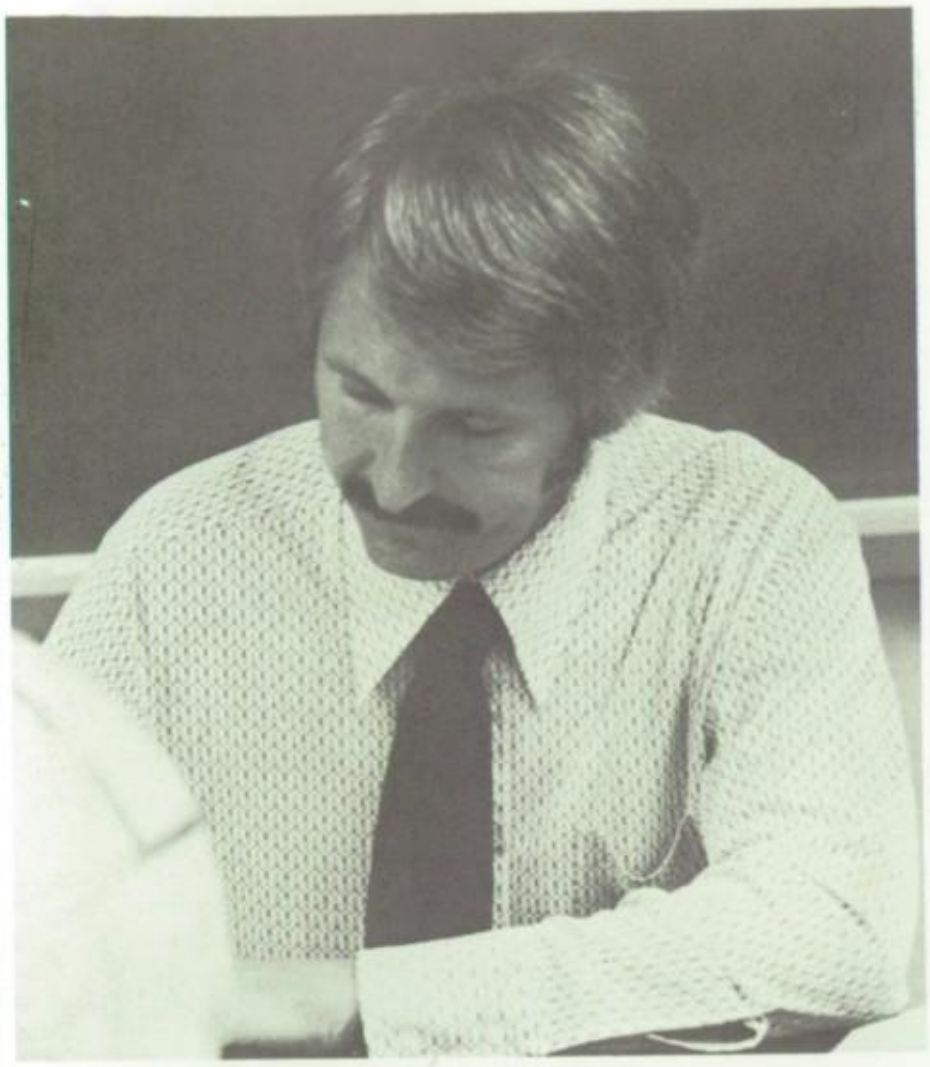
Mr. Larew keeps an eye on Kevin Crum and Rhonda Chapel. Mr. Vance demonstrates the care of the Ornamental Pepper and Christmas Cherry.

Enriching Domestic Talents

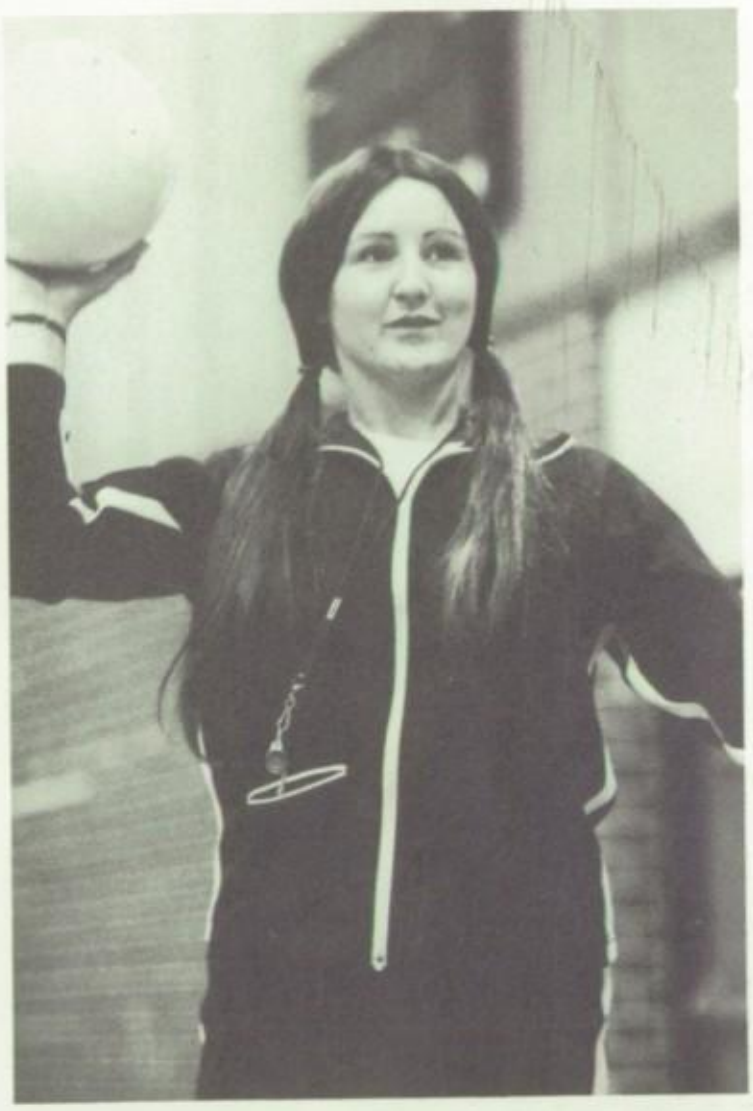
The Home Economic Department strives to teach the various essential techniques of household management. In courses such as Foods, Clothing, and Bachelor Prep., the students are prepared for everyday circumstances which may arise in the future. Departmental offerings such as Home Furnishings, Child Development, and Marriage and Family Living, extend opportunities to students of all interests regardless of sex. Building for the future and enriching students' domestic talents are the main objectives in Home Economics.

Sewing helps keep down clothing expense for Teresa Brown. Overhearing a joke, Mrs. Chastain joins in the laughter. Mrs. Bryant concentrates on getting her students' papers graded. Jeff Haines and Christi Wilcox enjoy preparing a snack in Foods Class.

P.E. Emphasizes Fitness



Both the physical and mental attributes of better living and the understanding of the concept of better living are the two major points stressed in the Health and Physical Education Department. Students are given three semesters of Physical Education classes where they participate in a diversity of activities--all geared toward one's better physical conditioning. During their Sophomore year, students are given one semester of Health which delves in the theory and concept of better living--both physically and mentally.

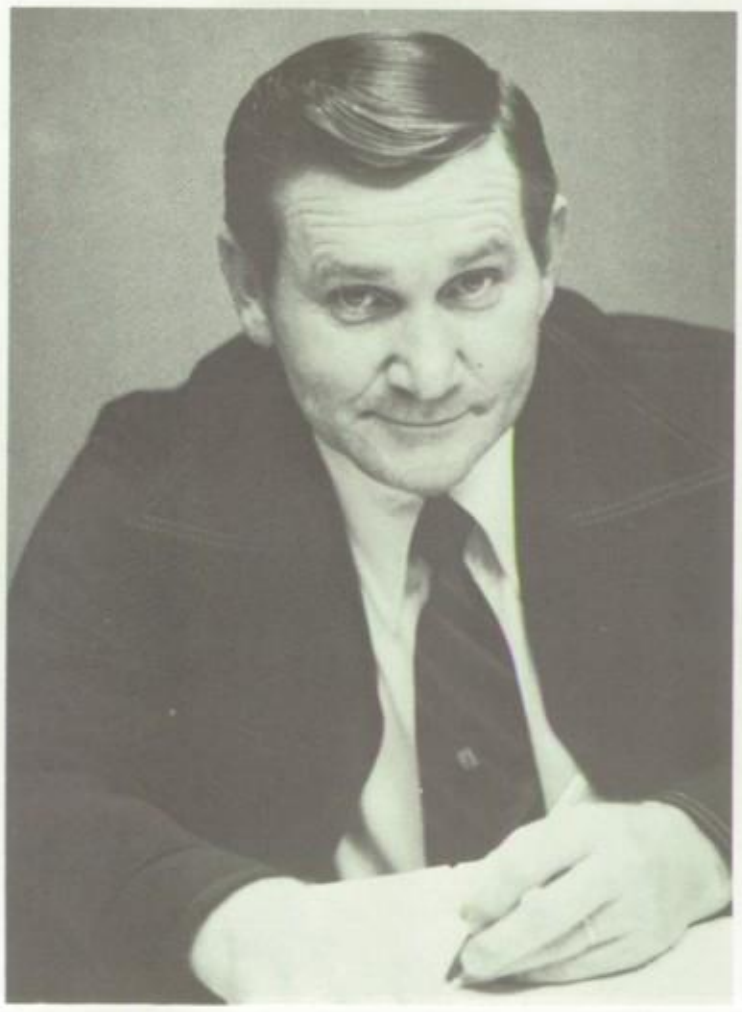


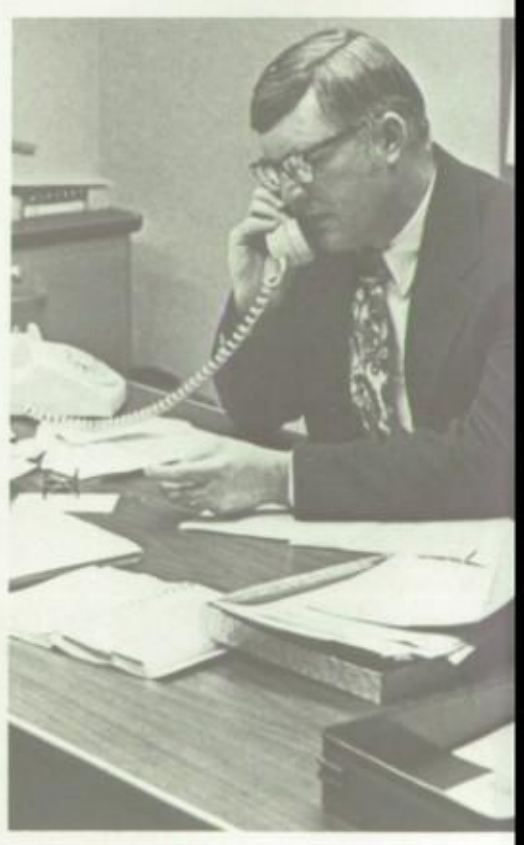
Preparations for Earth Science Class demands Mr. McDowell's attention. Mrs. Craft gets the last laugh! Miss O'Hare returns the ball after being knocked out of play. Spring brings P.E. classes outside.

Administrative

The administration provides a vital function to the continuance of the high standards that we have come to expect in the operation of our school. We have been fortunate to have been able to have such competent and reliable administrators and while we may not agree with all of their decisions, we may rest assured that they always act in what they believe to be the best interest of the school. Their job doesn't end at 4:00 because their attendance is expected, if not required, at all school functions which is a task in itself!

Principal, Mr. William Crosier. Some days the phone never seems to stop ringing!





Mr. Mutterspaugh ponders one of the many problems that arise each day. Assistant Principal, Mr. Emerson Mutterspaugh.

Staff

With all the problems, conflicts and hassles that arise in a complex such as North Montgomery, it only makes a great deal of sense that our General Office Staff is of an exceptional and proficient nature. Mrs. McBee who is the Receptionist, is kept constantly busy by answering the telephone and public address system and by greeting both students and the general public at the counter to hopefully solve whatever problem they may have. Mrs. Faust, the school bookkeeper is always busy processing forms and seeing that accurate financial records are kept.

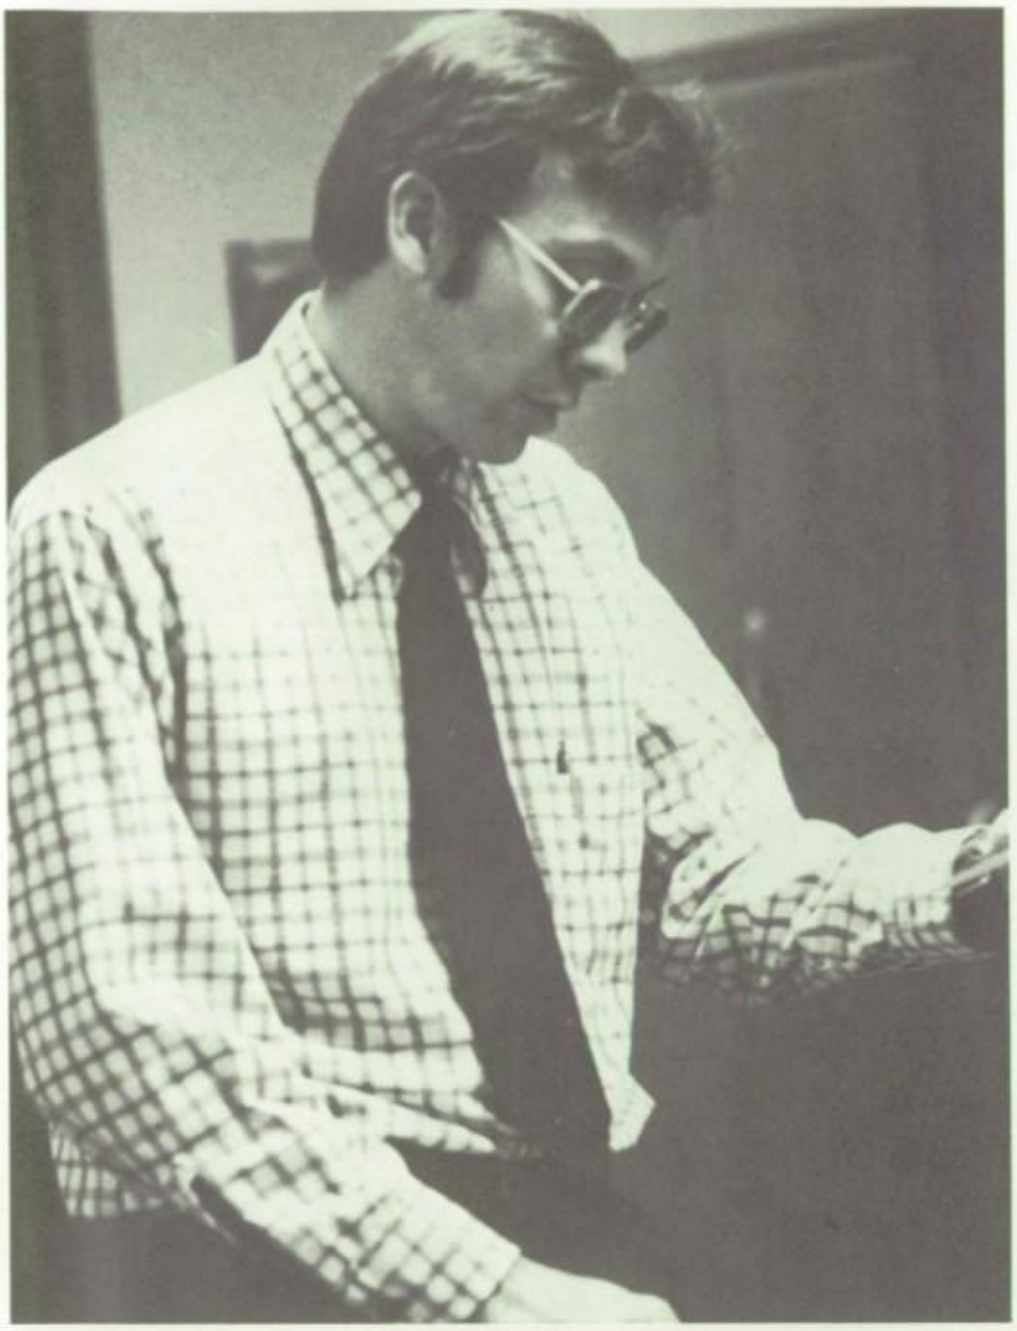
The tremendous task of keeping N.M.H.S.'s financial accounts and transactions in order falls on the shoulders of Mrs. Ellen Faust. Mr. Crosier keeps Mrs. McBee busy. Mrs. McBee cheerfully gives students assistance.

Special People

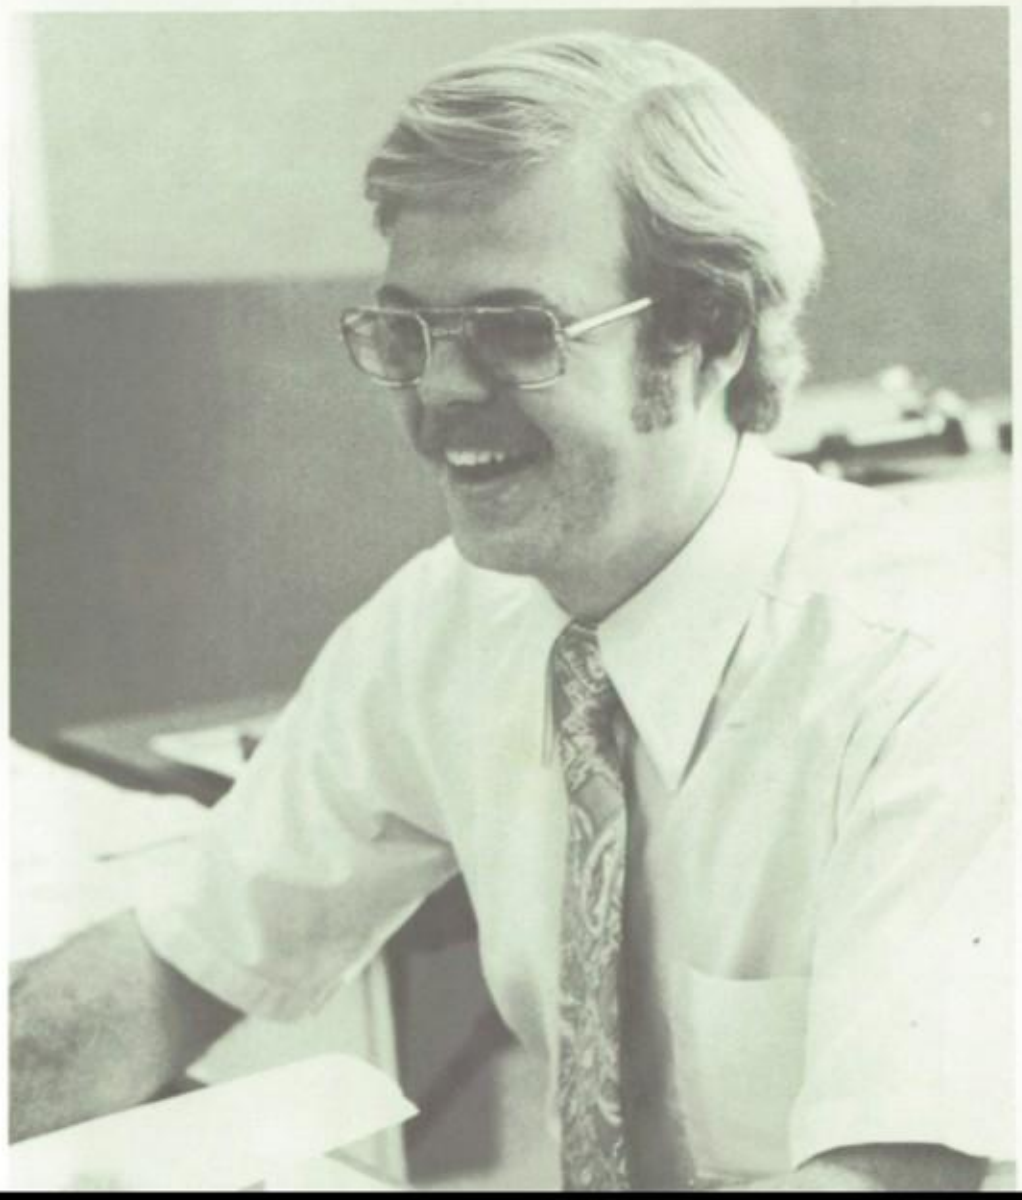
Providing an important service to students, the Guidance Department schedules and counsels all of the 800-plus students of North Montgomery. Guidance Director Pat Seale, with counselors Tom Speaker and Sonie Harlan, answer and deal with a diversity of problems arising from the classroom.

Freshman and Junior counselor, Mr. Speaker. Mrs. Harlan, Senior counselor. Guidance Director Mrs. Seale. Guidance Secretary, Mrs. Beck.

Special Services



Librarian, Mr. Long manages and supervises the I.M.C., providing students and teachers with valuable resource materials. Mrs. Biddle must manage the book rental and class fee program as well as keep our students supplied with various materials. Mrs. Mutterspaugh assists in the library and aides students in many ways. Special Education teacher, Mr. Shaw, is a tremendous help to many special students.



Central Administration

Making sure that all administrative decisions are properly handled, Mr. Eual McCauley, Superintendent of the North Montgomery Community School Ccrporation, discharges the duties of his office effectively. With Mr. Fike, Assistant Superintendent, who is responsible for all bus routes, and Mr. Lutz, Director of Curriculum, assisting Mr. McCauley, the behind-the-scenes administration of education is kept in order.

Helping Others

One of the most vital and yet seldom recognized functions of North Montgomery is the Student Health Services Center (''The Clinic''). Mrs. Carol Blue, with a competent staff of ten full-time Red Cross Volunteers and Student Clinic Aides, provide the utmost in health services for students in need. Over one thousand five hundred cases were processed through the Clinic without complaints concerning their services. Mrs. Blue is the nurse for the entire school corporation and is responsible for the practical training of several student nurses from Purdue University, who gain valuable on-the-job experience here at N.M.H.S.

Teachers' Aides Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Branstetter are probably the two most well-known employees of North Montgomery. Aside from their principle duties of supervising Study Hall, they also assist in the Book Store and assist teachers in various ways.

Mrs. Branstetter seems to enjoy her job as Study Hall Monitor. Keeping an eye out for ''trouble makers'', Mrs. Cox scans the commons.

Mrs. Myers performs one of her duties as a nurse's aide.

People Working

Feeding over 800 hungry mouths each day is no easy job and the cooks' duties go much further than what just meets the eye or mouth, as the case may be. In addition to preparing the food, meals must be planned, orders placed and most unpleasant but necessary, the commons must be cleaned after the onslaught of the masses!

Working behind the scenes as a supplement to education, the bus drivers and custodians provide the ever-essential services of transporting students to and from school and extracurricular activities and maintaining high standards of building maintenance.

Maintenance Supervisor, Mr. Dick Smith checks a thermostat control.

Gridmen Capture County Title

Though plagued by injuries and occasional setbacks in their first season of Sagamore Conference play, the Charging Chargers proved to their loyal fans their ability to win when victory was a necessity. In a crucial battle with archrival C'ville, the Northmen, under the coaching expertise of Pat McDowell, clinched the county title in a spectacular away game.

The "Agony and the Ecstasy" apatly describes the season's emotions for coaches Streetman, McDowell and Lefebvre.

Frosh Athletes Gain

Freshman athletes have long had the reputation of being full-of-pride in spite of what may occur in the win/loss category. Freshman Football and Basketball, coached by Mr. Dick Walke and Mr. Dick VanArsdel, respectively, had active seasons which produced a setting for learning from which experience gained and fundamentals developed will be quite useful in varsity competition in the near future.

Chargers Maintain Pride

The "Charging Chargers" faced strong competition in their first year of Sagamore Athletic conference play. Coach Kriston's crew got off to a slow start early in the season, but started to gain confidence as the Sectional approached. Pride played an ever-important role in maintaining the players' morale , despite the disappointing campaign. North fought hard in the Sectional only to lose by a mere two points to the eventual champion, Crawfordsville.

With a year's experience under their tights, the girls' gymnastics team was able to compete in both beginning and intermediate levels. The two teams' performances were outstanding, with the intermediates having an undefeated season and the beginners finishing with a 12-1 record. Both groups won their respective sectionals and in state competition, Karen Rogers captured first place in vaulting, and became North Montgomery's second state champion gymnast.

Individual Accomplishments

Coach John Welliever's wrestlers dedicated themselves through hard work at practices and in matches. Dedication also played an important role in the weight of the boys, many lost pounds to be at their wrestling weight at the right time. Five Chargers were crowned sectional champions: Steve Evans, Mark Evans, Dave Chastain, Jeff Chastain and Jeff Lough. From these sectional champions, Mark Evans was regional champion at 98 pounds. 1976 Charger Varsity wrestling team closed a successful season capturing the sectional championship.

Accomplishments Through Dedication

The 1975-76 Charger swimming team compiled a 13-1 record for the season and finished 3rd in the Jeff sectional.

The swimmers became the first N.M.H.S. team to win a Sagamore Conference title and also won the N.M.H.S. Swimming Relays for the third time.

The 200 medley relay team placed 21st in the state. Bryan Biddle placed 20th in the 100 breaststroke to cap the most successful swim season in the school's history.

Track Teams Run Away With County Crowns

The track team finished the season with a 14-1 won-loss record. The season was highlighted by an upset victory in the County Track Meet. The team finished 1st in the South Newton Relays and third in the Sagamore Conference Meet. The team's success was due primarily to the seniors' leadership and the hard work of the younger team members! The girls had a very successful season too, losing only to Harrison and clinching the Sectional Championship.

The golf team competed its fifth season with an excellent record. Playing under new coach Stan Covey, the Charger golfers represented the school well in the Sagamore Athletic Conference. Coach Covey managed the team well, as his knowledge of his team increased. Participating in the Sagamore Conference proved to be a challenging task for the young golf team as two other rival schools were ranked in the state's top twenty. Each player persevered rain, wind, and cold temperatures to practice for matches. Another "plus" for the team was that many underclassmen saw action and were very competitive against older opponents. The golf team set a record as a team for the lowest stroke total in a match. Showing improvement over past years, the golf team has established itself as an important sport in the conference.

The team had the capability of finishing high in the conference, but seemed to experience "first-year jitters" with all teams except Noblesville. The biggest victory was over Southmont. The height of the season was reached in defeating Attica for the first time in history.

Play Ball!!!

Performing under new head coach Steve Nelson, the baseball team got off to a fine start but was troubled by a slump the second half of the season. One of the assets of the CHARGER diamondmen was power, as demonstrated by many of the hard-hitting players. The pitching staff headed by Garry Cain was one of the tops in the area as their experience contributed to the success of the team. Fielding problems hampered the team as they lost many one run games. Seniors were a deciding factor in the outcome of many games—making Coach Nelson have to count heavily upon underclassmen to maintain CHARGER pride in baseball.

ORGANIZATIONS

Band Rebuilds Successfully

Symphonic Band can be broken down into two seasons; marching and concert. Throughout the fall marching season, the 1976 Edition of the Marching Chargers entertained all home-game football fans as well as appearing at a Wabash College game and performing in a mass band show with Crawfordsville High School. The band then made the transition into Concert season, performing a series of five concerts. The band competed in Indiana School Music Association Organizational Auditions.

Pat Funk and Mark Gable were the Marching Band's new drum majors. During the summer they spent two weeks of intensive training at Smith Walbridge Camp prior to assuming the responsibility of the leadership of the band. Primary responsibility for the drum majors is to align the band before rehearsals and performances into a block and issue all field commands.

DRUM MAJORS: Pat Funk and Mark Gable.

Brass Choir, which is composed of Symphonic Band members, competed in District Auditions and received a rare perfect seven-point first division rating at Depauw University. The group went on to State Contest and received a second place rating. The Brass Choir made several appearances in-concert with the Symphonic Band.

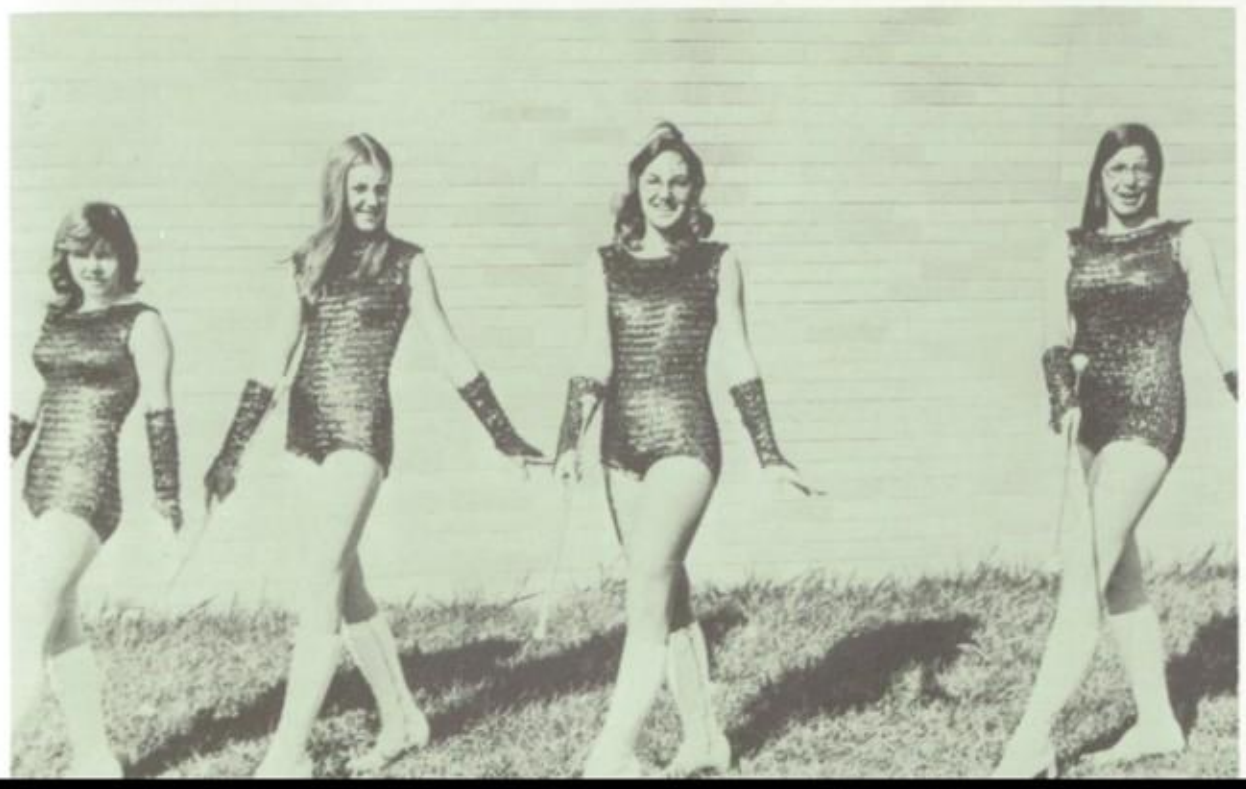
Chargerettes



The Chargerettes, under the direction of Miss Diana Burton, added much color through choreography to the football and basketball pre-game and half-time shows.

Also adding much to the musical performances are the Twirlers. The group appears in football and basketball shows coinciding their routines with the band music.

The vocal music program offers students three selections of curricular study. The Cadet Choir is designed to develop younger voices and serves as a training group for more advanced study in Concert Choir. The Concert Choir, open by audition only, refines vocal technique further, as does Girls' Chorale.

Students in these vocal classes participate in Solo and Ensemble contests and County and State Festivals as well as IMEA Organizational contests where all three groups received superior ratings in their respective groups.

Cadet Band class prepares students for admission into the Symphonic Band and also gives Symphonic Band students an opportunity to study additional instruments.

Music Groups Active In Community,

North Montgomery High School Stage Band and North Montgomery Singers once again provided exceptional dining and dancing entertainment during the Third Annual Night Club sponsored by the Music Department in Mid-December. North Montgomery Singers (more commonly called "Swing Choir") for the second consecutive year, received a First Division Rating in Group I competition in the Stage Band and Swing Choir Auditions held at Ben Davis High School in February by the Indiana School Music Association. The two groups also toured the Middle Schools of the North Montgomery Community School Corporation and participated in an extended tour to Aurora in southern Indiana in the spring. The extended tour was two days in duration and members visited nearby Kings Island while there.

Language Clubs Observe Foreign Customs

Bake sales, sponsoring a dance, and enthusiastic students got the German Club off to a soaring start and produced funds which enabled them to stage a year end finale.

Bake sales were pprofitable for fund raising which enabled the Latin Club to see the Classical Museum at the University of Illinois and for an outing to "Noble Roman's" Restaurant in Lafayette.

A February dance got the Spanish Club's activities into full-swing. Candy sales also helped finance their Spring trip to Kings Island. Members were treated to a slide presentation by Arturo Ayala, about his native country, El Salvador.

At the annual Christmas Party of the French Club, members were captivated by Mrs. Gren Lefebvre, who showed slides taken in France. The highlight of the year came at Sorrentos French Restaurant and was followed by May's Senior Breakfast.

Occupational Clubs

By observing classes of Kindergarten through Grade 8 at Linden School in October, F.T.A. members saw first-hand elementary teaching techniques. A Christmas party was held and a bake sale in January helped raise funds for the organization. Second semester found members at another high school and a university for observation of learning processes. A paper drive was held to boost the treasury for a year-end trip to Kings Island.

The nationally affiliated Office Education Association travelled to Benton Central for Regional competition. It was then on to Indianapolis for further competition with the organization's theatrical skit, musical presentation, and chapter display. By selling candy and citrus fruits, the group was able to raise funds for such activities as the distribution of fruit plates at Thanksgiving.

The FFA began their busy year in June when members attended the State Convention and Leadership Camp at Purdue. In the fall, members participated in soils judging at the state level and sold a record 1,200 cases of citrus fruit. The chapter was also represented in area and state crops, dairy, livestock and etemology judging.

At the State Convention in June, Rick Ward, David Williams and Dale Smith received the coveted Hoosier Farmer Degree, the highest award one may obtain in the state. Only 2% of all Indiana FFA members were awarded the honor.

Activities of the Future Homemakers included a visit to a nursing home, a Christmas party, a spring banquet and a bake sale to help raise funds. Members also attended the District Meeting at Fountain Central High School.

The National Honor Society is selected from students in their junior or senior year. To be considered for candidacy, the student must have a 3.0 grade average. Each candidate is then evaluated by all teachers on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

A major responsibility of the Student Council was the planning of homecoming and sectional week activities. Some council members visited nearby high schools to exchange ideas with their council members. The Student Council also guided incoming freshmen through the school on Orientation Day and brightened the Commons with a Christmas tree during the holiday season.

Key Club International, a community service organization of the International Kiwanis Club, serves the community and school in a variety of ways. Members sell Halloween Spook insurance, are involved in landscaping and conservation, and conclude the year with a trip to Kings Island. The club, sponsored by Mr. Stuffle participates in many events throughout the year such as the Kiwanis Auction, the Fall Fantasy Dance, and the K-Family Weekend. The N.M.H.S. Key Club sends delegates to the District and International conventions in the spring.

The nationally recognized F.C.A. sponsored by Mr. Van Arsdel and Mr. Hughes is an organization which promotes Christian ideals and sportsmanlike conduct among young athletes across the nation. The group sponsors a breakfast series which features speakers and entertainment relating to the club's goals.

Many Art Club members helped with the annual Art Exhibit at N.M.H.S.

By using money earned from a fall car wash and a dance, the Art Club was able to travel to Chicago for a full day's excursion. The group visited the famous Marshall Field's department store, viewed the city from atop the Sears Tower, and browsed through the Art Institute where a special Bicentennial Exhibit was on display.

Starting with only a few veterans from the previous year, the Speech Team grew in size to twenty members. A total of 45 ribbons were won during the course of the speech season which ran from October to April. President Robbie Boots and Coach Max Hoke did an outstanding job of organizing the team. Dawn Eden was top National Forensic League point winner with her original speech, "You've Got to be You." The team was represented at the state meet by Martha Flaningam who participated in radio broadcasting.

Membership of the Varsity Lettermen's Club is comprised of those boys who have earned a varsity letter in one of the school's nine interscholastic sports as an athlete, manager or trainer. The organization has a variety of fund raising activities which enables it to provide a scholarship for a deserving college bound senior. Mr. Chuck Kriston is the sponsor.

The Women's Varsity Club, sponsored by Mrs. Bryant and Miss O'Hare, is an organization which gives special recognition to those girls participating in varsity sports. Selling concessions at all girls' sporting events enabled the club to raise $250 for a scholarship awarded to a senior athlete from the organization. A spring banquet and an informal gathering is held at the end of the year to honor all the athletes in the club.

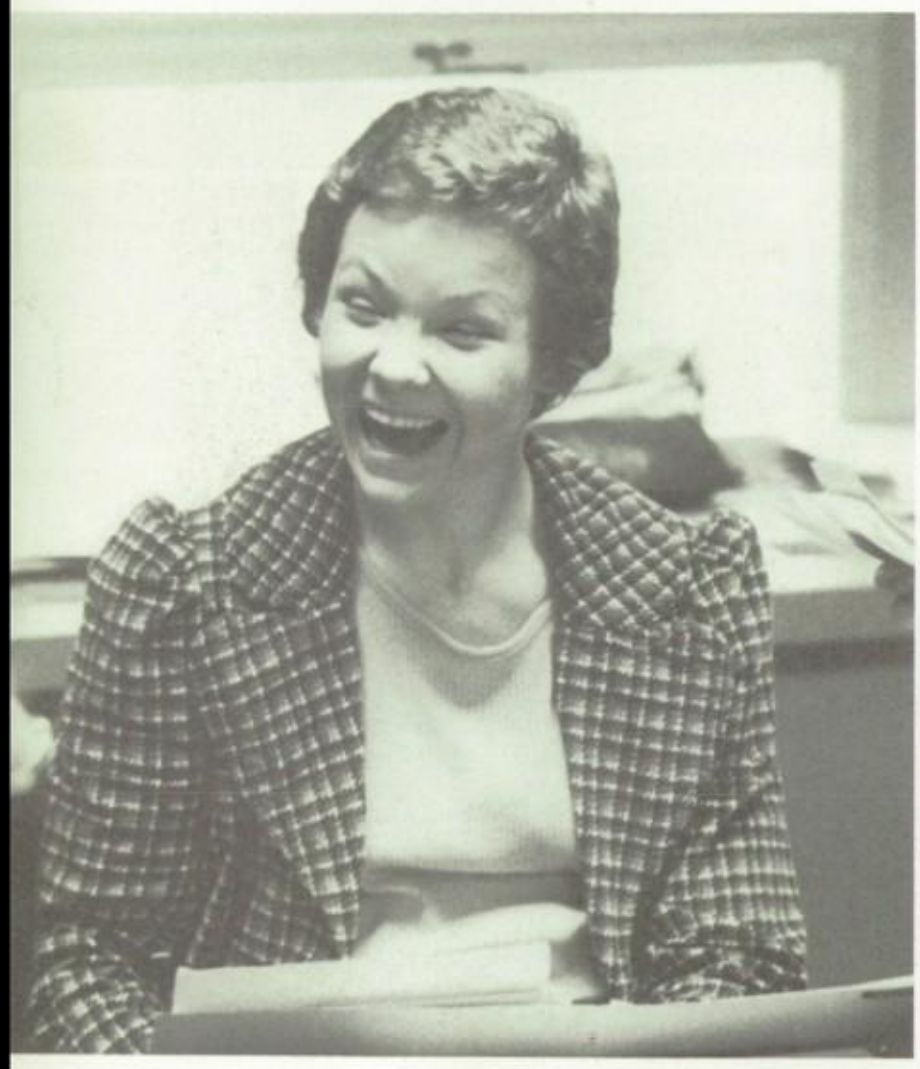
Publications-We Do It All For You

The nine members of the Changer Flashback staff found that producing a complete pictorial history of a year at N.M.H.S. is no easy task. Raising thousands of dollars, designing layouts and preparing copy are all in a day's work in room 106.



Cover materials, inks and designs are considered by Editor Dee Dee Tribbett. A good laugh now and then makes the work a little easier as shown on the face of Terri McCauley. Leesa Ferling learns some fine points of layout design. Mr. Ailes company Rep. helps the staff members in selecting a cover design.

CHARGER SPIRIT staffers Shane Swank and Betty Small discuss an angle for a story.

Both journalism class students and volunteers working in their spare time contributed to the school newspaper, The Charger Spirit. The bi-weekly paper was printed in the school's print shop by Mr. Dick VanArsdel and his graphic arts students. Serving as their long-suffering sponsor was Mr. John Stenger. Editor Martha Flaningam promoted free expression of student opinion and encouraged students to take more interest in journalism. Outstanding staff members were Marta Fyffe and Anita Olin who sold advertising and managed finances; Betty Small, writer of many pertinent editorials; Bette Carson, typist extraordinaire; Mark Eutsler who kept the music department in good report and Mary Gross who wrote several sport stories. Also, Shane Swank and Jerry Jensen made a good attempt at maintaining "Hot Wax."

Photography And Science Clubs

Photography Club's activities included showing movies to Study Hall patrons and the study and practical application of photographic technique under Mr. Seale's direction. After preliminary work with black and white photography, the club members advanced to color to provide them with a wide diversity of experience and knowledge in their special interest areas.

Activities of the Science Club included the sponsoring of a post-game dance after the Covington basketball game and a field trip in May. The club also hosted the Montgomery County Science Fair in March which featured entries from all the county's Junior and Senior High Schools.

Putting Ideals Into Action

These Sunshine Society officers and members were among those who helped plan and carry out an Easter egg hunt for youngsters in the area. They are (from left to right): Lorraine Miles, Rhonda Guard, Julia Kahle, Rhonda Beck, Debbie Janssen, Tammy Nitti and Denise Crum.

Throughout the school year, the Sunshine Society promoted the ideals it stands for by sponsoring various projects and activities both inside and outside of school. These included a formal dance sponsored jointly with the Key Club, an Easter egg hunt for Grades K-3 of this school district, an Ideal Ladies Tea which honored all Ideal Ladies and mothers of members with a dinner and program and special recognition of the girls' fathers with a dinner and volleyball game on "Daddy Date Night." During Peanut Pal Week, the girls picked a person whom they were close to and did nice things for them. Also on the activities agenda was the sponsorship of a dance after a basketball game and monthly visits to the Montgomery County Nursing Home.

Aides Provide

Office aides assist Mrs. McBee and Mrs. Faust in the general office by running errands, answering the phone and waiting on students and the general public at the counter.

Aides in the Guidance Office primarily assist the counselors and guidance secretary by running errands.

Helping Mrs. Blue, R. N., and the Red Cross Volunteers are the Clinic Aides. Their duties include keeping the clinic log, answering the phone, and even washing and drying sheets.

Library Aides are extended a great deal of responsibility by Librarian, Mr. Long. Checking books in and out, helping students use the cross-index and vertical file, and issuing and checking audio-visual materials are just a few of the many duties performed by these aides.

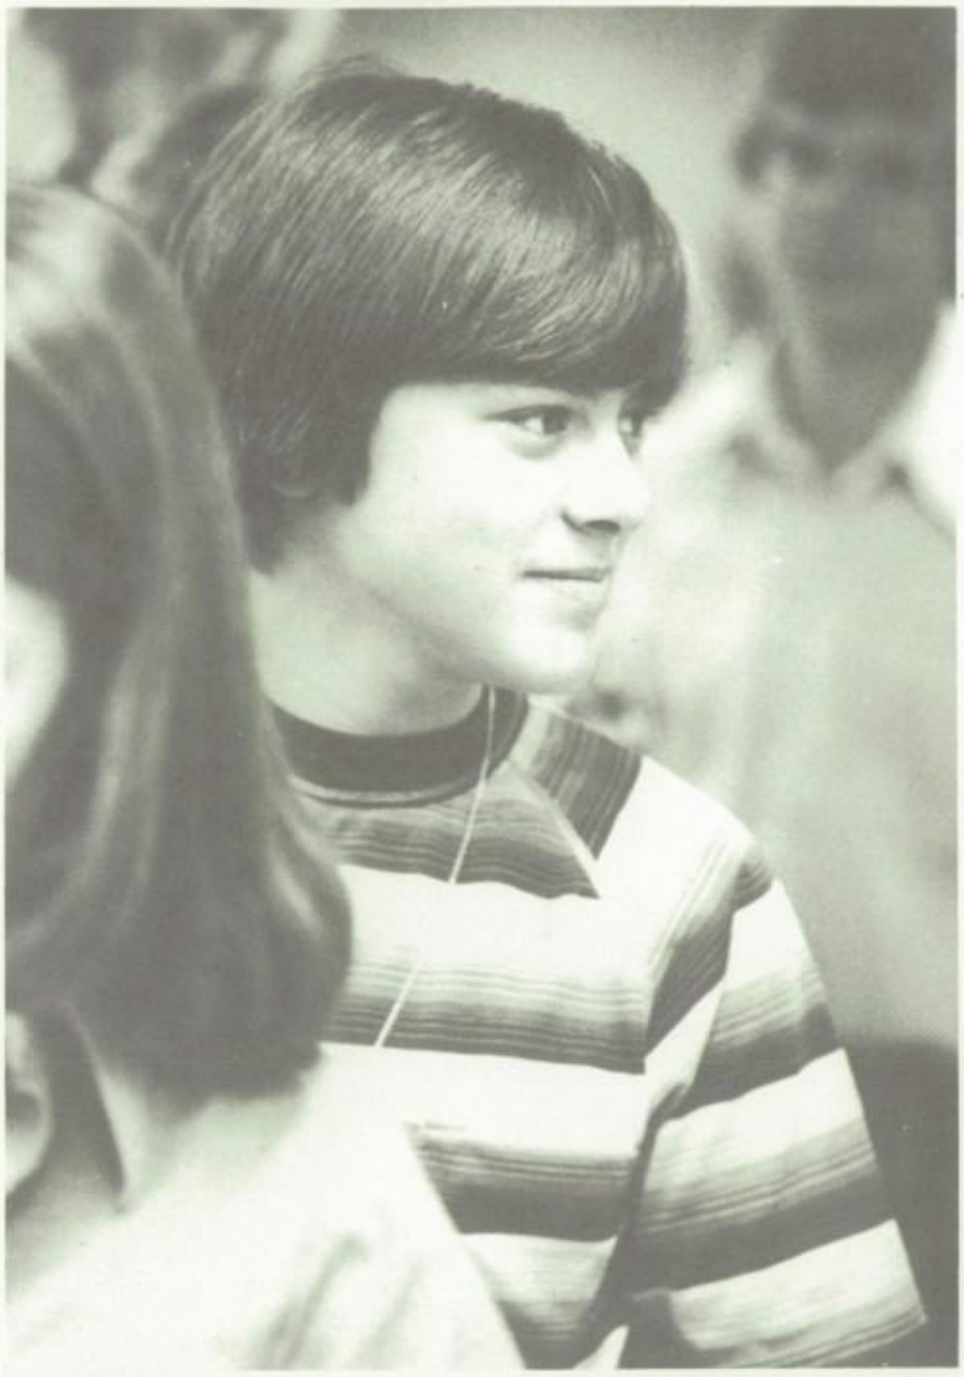
Jeff Klinker "How's your love life?"

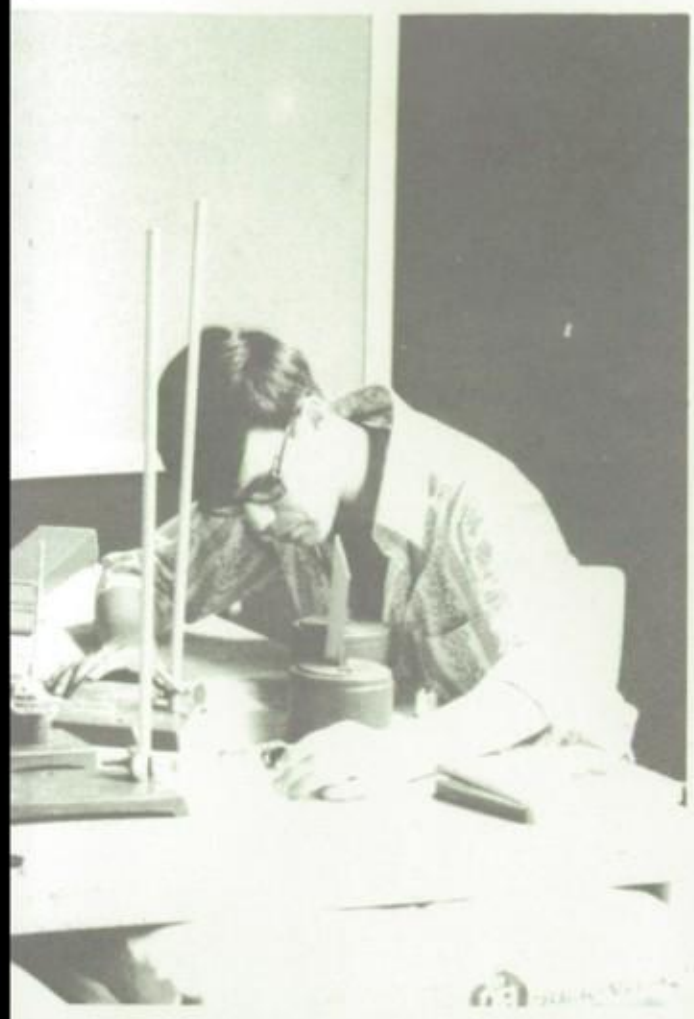
SENIOR ELEMENT



"Taking a giant step into the world of responsibility. Sometimes it may mean growing up all at once."

"Being a senior means that the easy life is about over."

"Being a senior is a sense of accomplishment, a sense of impending responsibility, and a doorway to newer and greater opportunities."

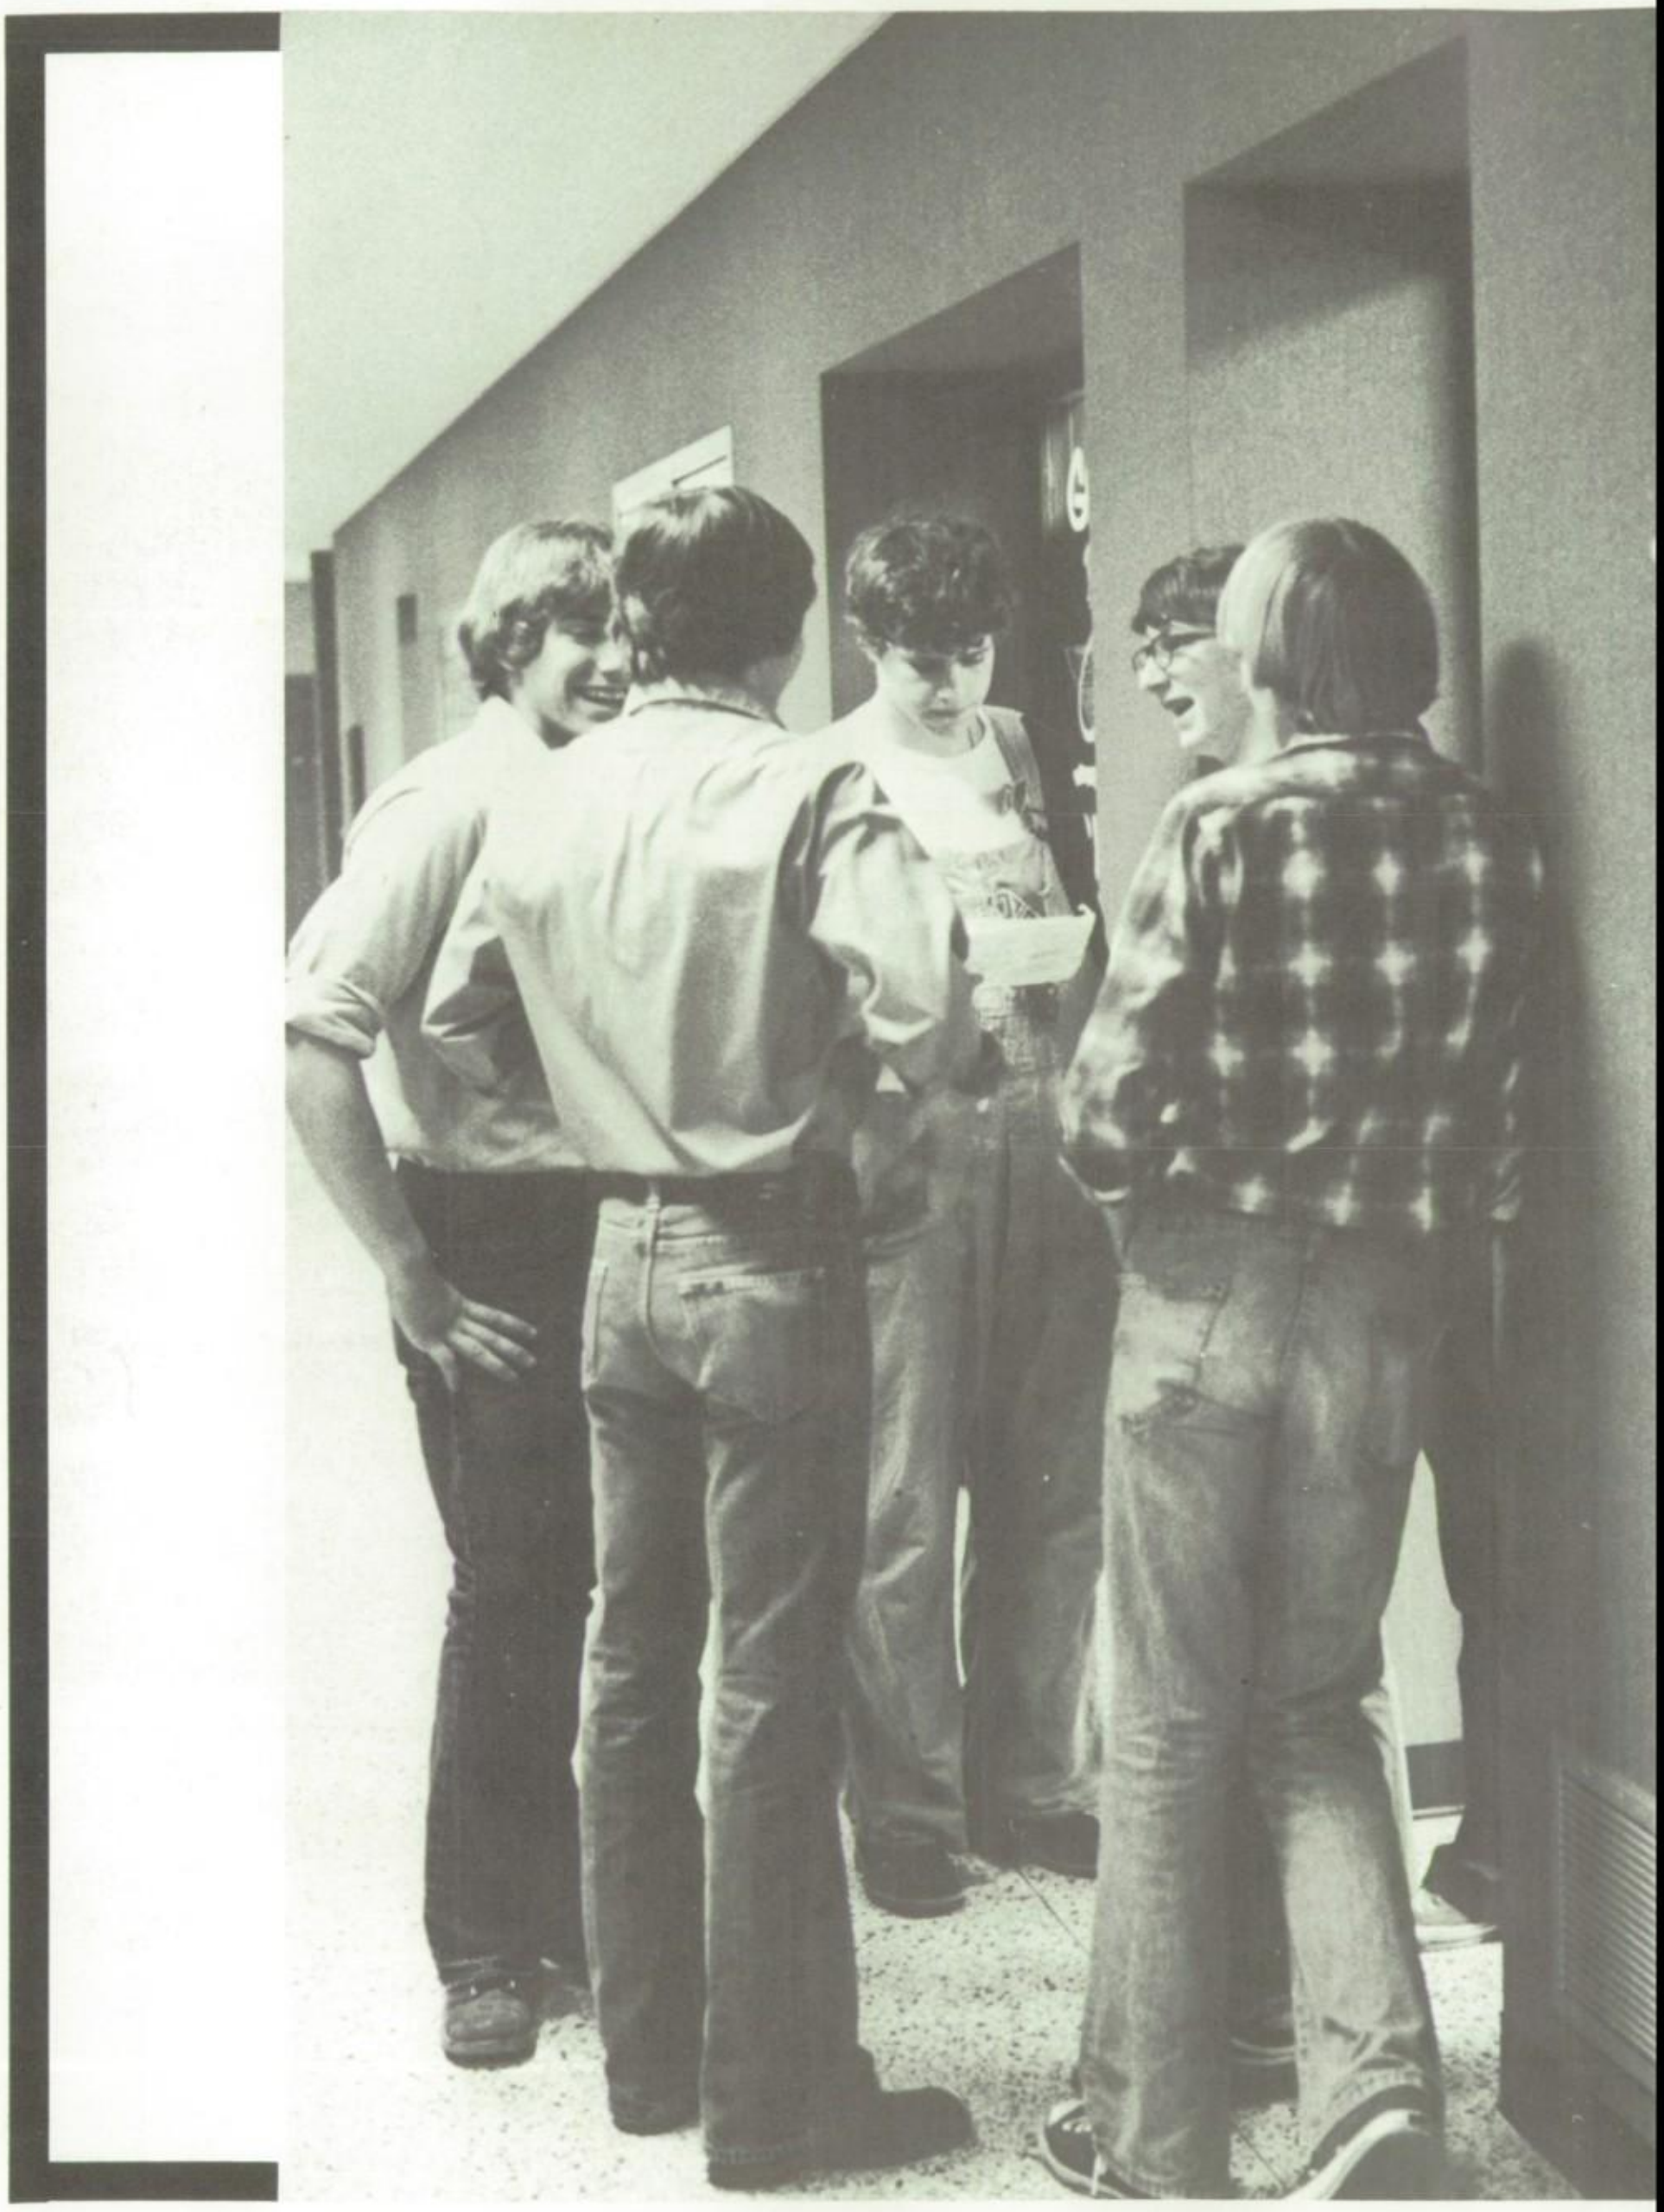


"Being a senior means being able to look back on all of the most embarrassing things you've done and hoping no one will remember."

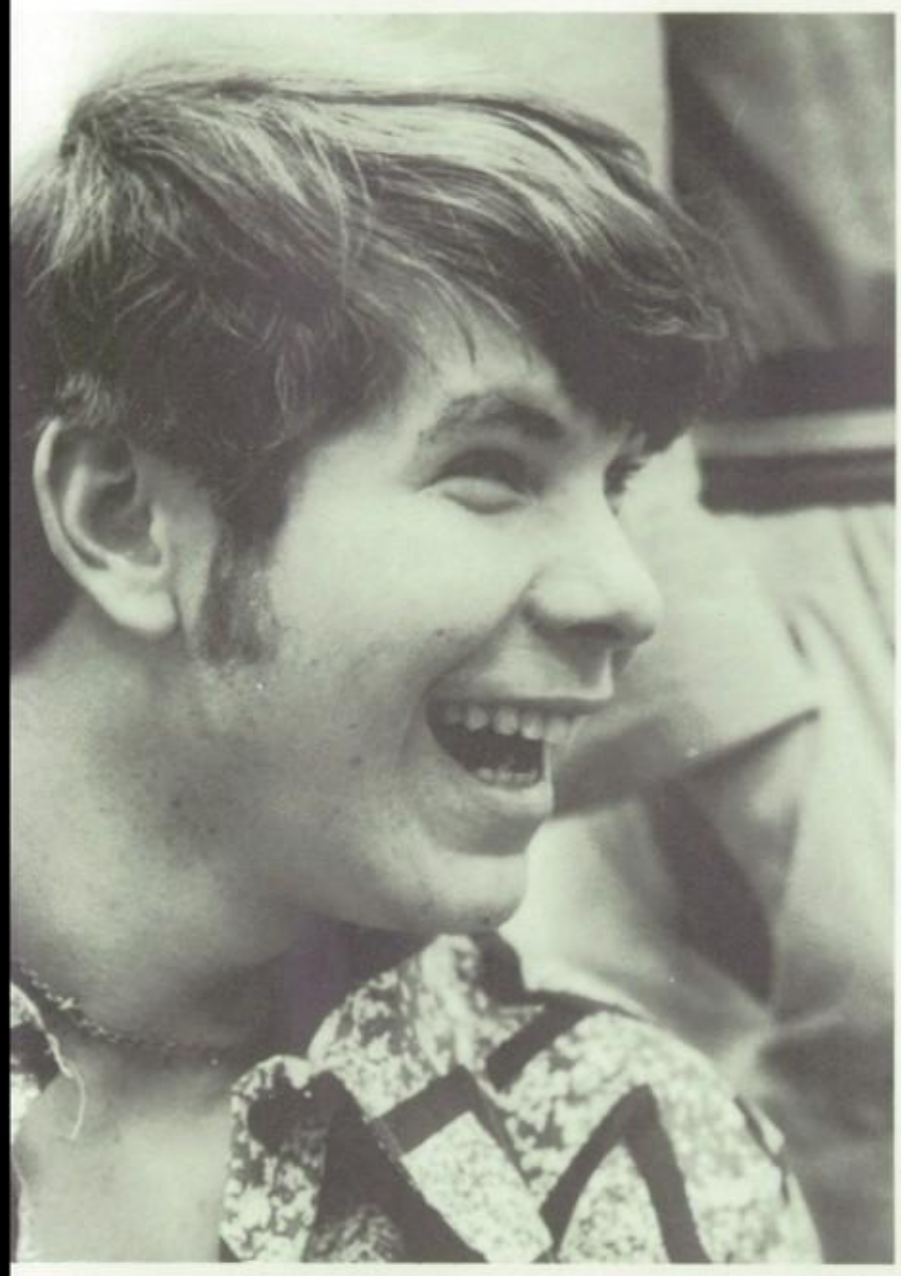
"Being a senior is recollecting all of your school memories and deciding which ones to cherish and which ones to throw out."

"Being a senior is nice but I'm glad it doesn't happen twice!"

"Everything you do your senior year is always the last. The saddest thing for me is leaving all the people I've become so close to, because you know that even though everyone says we'll keep in touch, I know we won't."



UNDERCLASSMEN



We Try Harder!

Two Down Two To Go!

Sophomore class members proved to be a very active part of the school's functions by being involved in a number of diverse activities throughout the year. As well as placing an extremely close second in the hall decorations of Spirit Week—with a very creative interpretation of our Bicentennial—the Sophomores sponsored a dance in February which helped accumulate funding for other class functions.

Look Out! Here We Come

Beginning their high school career, the Freshman Class has exemplified a prevalent sense of Charger Spirit. This was particularly noticeable during Homecoming Week when they turned Hall D into a Winnie-the-Pooh Fantasy. Many members of the class have taken an interest in school activities and should be watched for future advancements.

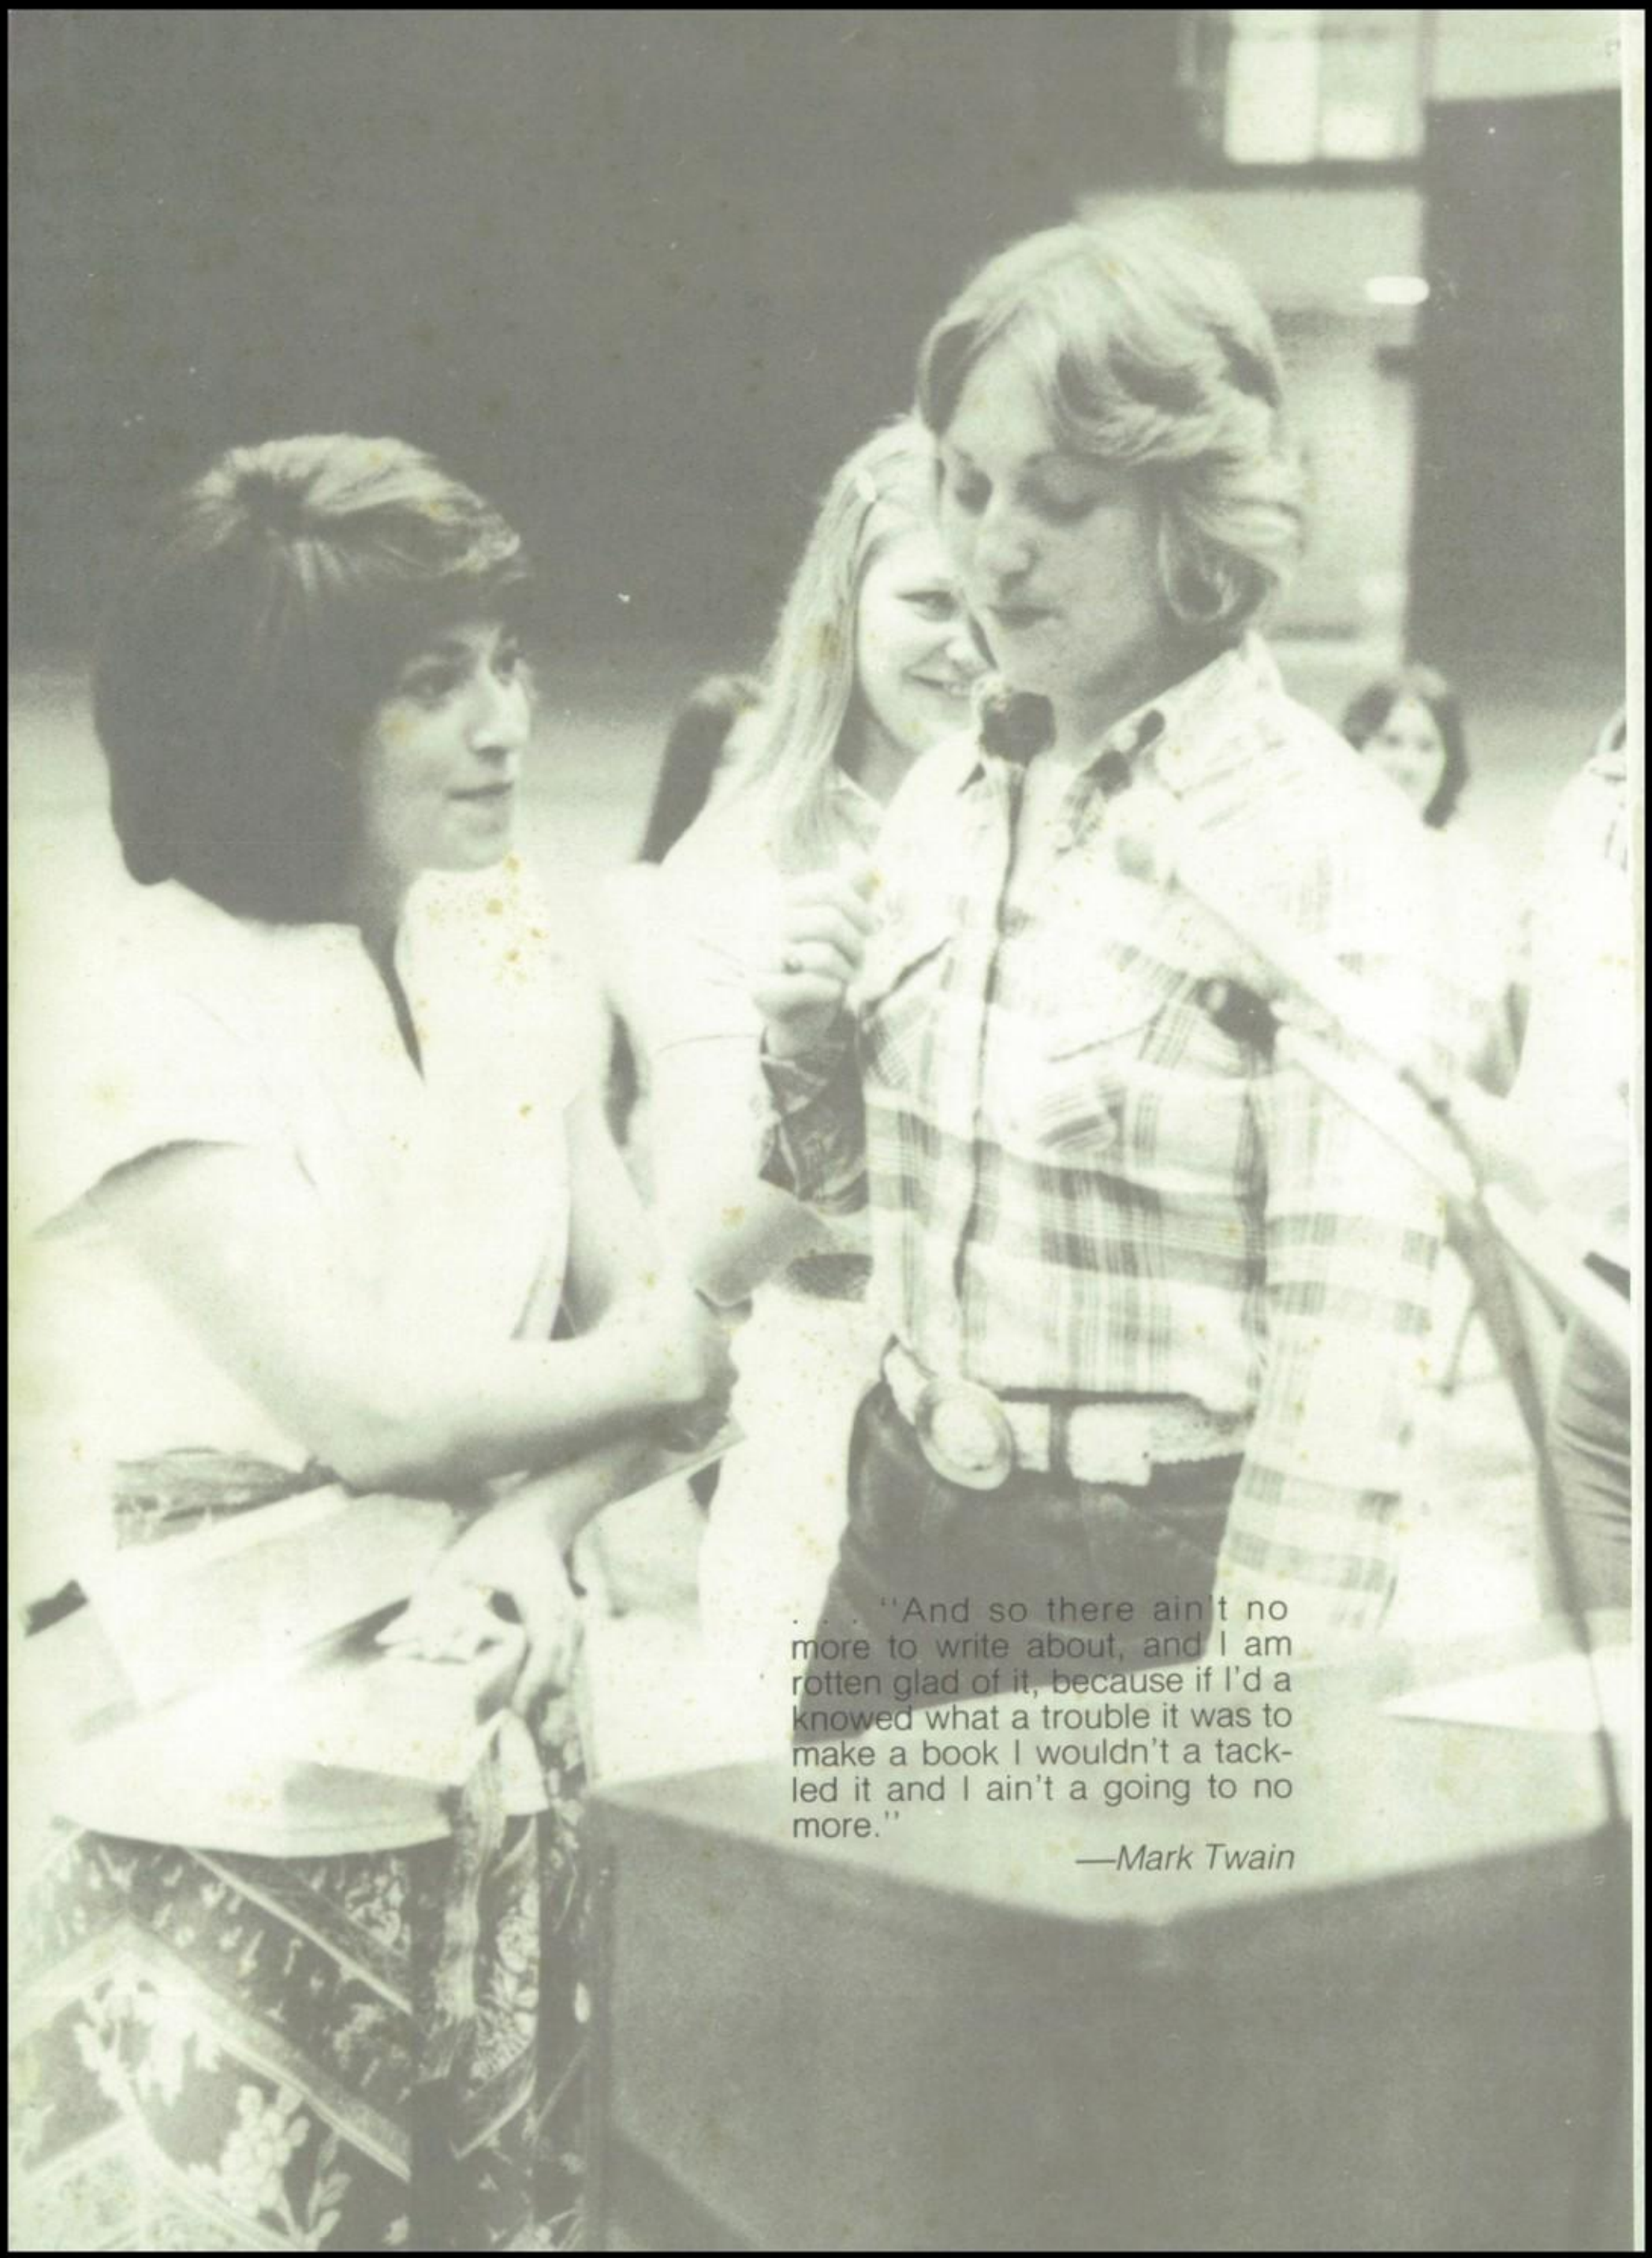
Dedication

The 1976 Yearbook Staff is proud to dedicate our yearbook and all the hard work it took to put it together to Mrs. Phyllis O. Earnshaw, our friend and sponsor.



. . . "And so there ain't no more to write about, and I am rotten glad of it, because if I'd a knowed what a trouble it was to make a book I wouldn't a tackled it and I ain't a going to no more."

—Mark Twain
